MARKS BUYS FIRST OUACHITA BALE

Clarence Marks of the Marks Cotton Company, Monroe, purchased the first bale of cotton produced in Ouachita parish this year at an auction Saturday morning in the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company. Slain Infant's Body Still Not Identified

Local authorities were still searching last night for information that might lead to the identity of a six-month-old child whose body was found adrift in the Ouachita river, apparently murdered.

The child was buried in the Negro City Cemetery on DeSiard St. Saturday. A marker will be placed above his grave reading, "name unknown" until identification has been made.

Local authorities requested anyone knowing of a missing infant of the approximate age of the child to immediately telephone the sheriff's department, 5123, or the police, 7171.

When the child was lifted from the river, he had a battered head, bruised buttocks and had been strangled, according to Ouachita Parish Coroner J. T. French who said the infant was dead before he bad been placed in the sack and thrown in the river. A window sash cord, believed to have been used to strangle the child was found in the sack.

Coroner French said yesterday that the infant had bluish grey eyes, short, black curly hair and did not have any teeth.

Chief Deputy E. L. "Pop" Walker said the child was wearing a cream-colored dress with four rows of hand embroidery and a narrow embroidered collar and a Birdseye diaper. A label in the neck of the garment read "hand embroidered, six-months."

Stenciled on the sack containing the baby were the letters "Okoma" in 1¼ inch block type. Deputy Walker said it looked like a seed sack with the company's name processed on the sack.

If the body was tossed in the river Sunday morning and floated until it was first spotted, it is possible it was tossed in the Ouachita about 30 miles above where it was found, local authorities said.

Marion Williams, 15, Shreveport, first spied the body Tuesday morning lodged in driftwood near the bank. He merely glanced at the white sack resting against a log. Thursday afternoon when Marion again climbed down the levee to the river bank, he could see the outline of a human's stomach and thigh. He investigated and found the body of the infant Negro.

RAYVILLE MAN IS KILLED IN KOREA

Cpl. John A. Livingston, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Livingston, route 6, Rayville, was killed in action in Korea Aug. 12, while serving with the famous Wolfhound regiment on the eastern front. A telegram announcing this fact was received Saturday by members of Cpl. Livingston's family.

Corporal Livingston was a rifleman in Co. A, 27th rifle combat team. He entered the army Sept. 13, 1951 and received his basic training at Schofield barracks in Hawaii. He was sent to Korea last March. He was a graduate of the Rayville High School in 1950.

Surviving are his parents; seven sisters, Mrs. D. H. Johnson, Atlanta, Ga., Miss Sybil Livingston, Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. N. J. McConnell, Springhill, and Ann, Arcola, Linda and Sue, all of Rayville; four brothers, Sgt. Max Livingston, who is being rotated from Korea, and Wallace, Bobby and Stanley, all of Rayville, and one grandparent, Mrs. Ollie E. Jagers of Rayville.

A strange incident in connection with the tragic death was the fact that Sgt. Max Livingston and Cpl. John A. Livingston had seen each other only four days before John was killed, for the first time since John entered the service. They were together Aug. 8.

Sgt. Max Livingston, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs Livingston, had served his alloted time in Korea and steps had already been taken to rotate him home. He is expected home the second week of September. John's death, it was said, had nothing to do with his being sent home.

Sergeant Livingston is in the 10th field artillery division, third infantry.

Mr. and Mrs. Livingston have received no information on when the body of their son, John, is expected to be returned home.

MARKS BUYS IST OUACHITA COTTON

J. W. Wilson Produced First Bale In ward Nine

The first bale of cotton raised in Ouachita parish this year was sold at auction Saturday morning for 65 cents per pound including premiums. The sale was held in the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company with West Monroe's auctioneer, Ike Hamilton, in charge.

Total price of the bale was $269.75.

Clarence Marks of the Marks Cotton Company, Monroe, was high bidder for the staple which was graded as middling one and 1-16 inch. The cotton was grown by J. W. Wilson, veteran of World War II who lives on Route 3, West Monroe. It was planted on April 10 and picked on August 7. Ginning of the bale was done by the Standard Gin Company of Monroe.

Auctioneer Hamilton opened the bidding at 30 cents per pound and the contingent of cotton buyers quickly upped the price to 65 cents

FREAK ACCIDENT FATAL TO CHILD

Tossed From Auto Near Arcadia While En-Route To W. Virginia

A freak accident Saturday caused the death of a ten-month-old child about two miles west of Arcadia.

The child, Wendy Ruth Jarvis, sustained a fractured skull when she was thrown from a car being driven by her father. Witnesses reported the car swirved to the left side of the road and when Jarvis tried to right the vehicle, the car swerved throwing the child onto the highway.

The Jarvis child was rushed to a Ruston hospital where she died on arrival. Jarvis said that he and his family were en route home to Charleston, West Virginia from California when the accident occurred.

The child is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jarvis; and two sisters, Jennifer Jean and Gayle Christine, all of Charleston.

The body was sent to Charleston under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home, Ruston.

Civil Defense For Area Will Be Given Discussion

With representatives of the local area's large industries, and other individuals vitally concerned, a civil defense planning meeting is announced here Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in Motel Frances, rooms A and B. The meeting is called by A. B. Clarkson, defense chairman for the Monroe area, and it will be one of similar state - wide sessions.

Mr. Clarkson states that the series of meetings are vital and it is sought to implement a realistic plan with which to proceed. Meetings have already been held in Lake Charles, Leesville, Lafayette, Morgan City, Hammond, Opelousas, and will be held the next few days in Alexandria, Shreveport, New Orleans as well as in Monroe.

At the Monroe meeting is is specially desired that there be representation from large industries such as Brown Paper Mill, Brown Paper Industries, Kegley Bag and Paper Co., Krafco Containers Corp., Bancroft Bag Co., Interstate Nat'l. Gas Co., Southern Carbon Co., Louisiana Power and Light Co., Commercial Solvents, Southwest Gas.

The program will be as follows, subject, however to any changes that may of necessity arise:

Introduction and Preliminary remarks

I. State Office Assistance and the Matching Funds Program by Col. Dave Haas, state director of civil defense.

(a) A model ordinance prepared by the attorney general's office.

(b) Loan procedures for films, obtaining equipment and other material

(c) FCDA regional coordinators and their services

(d) Discussion of regulations, procedure and availability of matching funds

Demo Committeeman From Ouachita Flouts Party Platform

Another Democratic state committeeman came out publicly in support of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Saturday and declared the Republican presidential nominee "would give the people of the South a fairer deal than the Stevenson - Sparkman ticket is obligated to do."

Charles E. McKenzie, one of the two Democratic state committeemen from Ouachita parish, a dissenter in the sweeping 77-9 vote which pledged Louisiana's 10 electors to support the Democrat ticket at a meeting of the committee in Baton Rouge last Wednesday, said he voted against the resolution because Stevenson and Sparkman are pledged to uphold the Democratic platform.

McKenzie said he is not in favor of the platform because it would force passage of the F. E. P. C. which would be unfavorable to the South.

Hitting out at "the trend toward socialism" McKenzie said the platform would give the tidelands to the Federal government instead of to the states where they rightfully belong. He said the platform is pledged to follow the New Deal practices begun by Roosevelt and continued by Truman "and this country isn't ready for socialism yet."

In explaining his action at the meeting of the state central committee, McKenzie said that there was no pre-arranged caucaus by those voting against the resolution.

He declared, "I voted against pledging the 10 Louisiana electors and the party symbol to the Stevenson - Sparkman forces because I thought as a representative of my parish I should follow the wishes of the people in my parish. The greatest number of people I talked to seemed to me to be against the Democratic platform."

The state committeeman pointed out "I have nothing against Governor Stevenson personally. As a man he is all right, but I do not care to support him or the Democratic platform.

McKenzie lashed out at the Democratic national convention in Chicago saying that some of the delegates who were trying to ram a loyalty pledge down the throat of the convention were not even Democrats. He listed Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., as a member of the American Labor party and said that Sen. Blair Moody (D—Mich.), has only been a Democrat for 15 months and yet he was trying to dictate to older Democrats.

McKenzie said that F. E. P. C. would be unfair to the South and that it could not be fairly carried out by any employer.

Following McKenzie's statement, C. C. Lindley of Monroe, a state Republican central committeeman said he was "happy to hear that Mr. McKenzie is for Eisenhower."

He called McKenzie's views "representative of a trend that has lately become evident."

Lindley, who was a strong Taft backer, is one of the oldest Republicans in Ouachita parish. Though he fought for Taft's nomination, Lindley declared last night he is now behind Eisenhower.

Lindley, considered a commanding voice among Louisiana Republicans, said that a strong two-party system was the strongest weapon the South could have in its quest for national recognition.

Big Steel Comes To Terms With Union

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp. biggest steel producer in the nation, reached complete agreement with the CIO United Steelworkers today on a new contract.

The giant firm was the last major producer to come to terms with the union. Earlier today, Crucible Steel Company of America also signed a formal pact with the union.

U. S. Steel employs about 170,000 USW members in its far-flung plants. The Crucible pact covers about 15,000 workers at plants in Pittsburgh and Midland, Pa., East Liverpool, O., Syracuse, N. Y., and Harrison, N. J.

Both firms had resumed production under interim agreements. The U. S. Steel contract embodies all terms of a settlement worked out at the White House July 24 which sent most of the 600,000 striking steel workers back to work after 55 days of idleness.

Quake Inflicts $20 Million Loss On Bakersfield, Calif.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—The quake-battered Bakersfield Community swept up the rubble today and counted dama ge estimated tentatively at 20 million dollars from yesterday's sharp shock. Two lives we re lost and 32 persons injured.

Meanwhile, the epicenter of a temblor which shook Los Angeles early today was placed at only 25 miles northeast of Pasadena. It caused no damage but woke thousands of persons in the middle of the night.

City Manager C. Leland Gunn said that the damage from yesterday's shock will be greater than that of the July 21 quake. He placed Bakersfield's loss in the earlier shock at 15 million dollars.

Other sources have placed it as high as 20 million dollars. Conservative estimates of earthquake loss in the month following July 21 place total damage at 40 million. Yesterday's quake would boost that to 60 million or more.

All stores and offices, scores of them in a six-block area of the downtown sector were closed. The drop in commercial activity added another intangible loss, impossible to estimate immediately.

Police Chief Horace V. Grayson said the six-block heart of the downtown section will remain closed until at least Monday.

"It might even take until Wednesday to get all shaky walls down and bricks and glass out of the street," Grayson said.

Gunn said that preliminary inspection shows at least 100 buildings badly damaged. Some, weakened on July 21, were made completely untenable by yesterday's quake.

Schools and churches were particularly hard hit. City School Superintendent John Compton said there is doubt whether all students could be accommodated at the opening of the fall semester, scheduled in two weeks.

Five churches cracked by the temblor planned emergency services elsewhere, the ministers announced. Churches made unsafe are Catholic, Presbyterian, Congregational, Seventh Day Adventist and Church of Christ.

Mayor Frank E. Sullivan called an emergency City Council meeting tomorrow to discuss what civil defense and other aid should be asked. The Kern County Supervisors held a curbstone meeting and asked the state of California for emergency aid.

Gov. Earl Warren, in Sacramento, promised that all help desired will be made available.

Still on the governor's desk are a batch of bills aimed at helping Kern County areas stricken by the first big quake. One of these calls for three million dollars in loans for reconstruction or repair of public buildings. Kern County officials have termed this "just a drop in the bucket compared with what we need."

Killed yesterday were George T. Cosby, 67, Bakersfield, and Mrs. Edna Ledbetter, 36, McFarland, Calif. Nine of the 32 injured remained in hospitals today. The July 21 quake took 14 lives, 11 of them at Tehachapi, 35 miles east of here.

Jes' Ramblin'

Once more it appears that there will be a renewal of that famed "hometown classic," the annual Ouachita - Neville gridiron battle. For years these two contenders refused to consider an engagement together, then in 1949 and in 1950, the teams met and each wrested the honor of a victory, Ouachita Lions by a score of 19 to 7 and the Neville Tigers by 25 to 13. But a new hostility, perhaps better, a renewal of the old hostility, caused suspension of further contests.

Now we are pleased to know that the two schools are in a friendly and even cooperative spirit. It chances that Supt. W. W. Ward and Supt. Van Odom, the two superintendents of the local schools, are friends of long standing, so it was no surprise when Paul J. Neal, Neville principal, and I. C. Strickland, parish school principal, issued a joint statement the other day that a conference is in progress which will consider renewal of the local football rivalry.

The public which appreciates good clean sport will be delighted to know that the outlook is favorable for a renewal of these local

LAFOON DEATH 'UNAVOIDABLE'

Following a coroner's inquest Saturday morning into the death of David Leon Lafoon, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident Monday, parish Coroner J. T. French said he believed the incident to have been unavoidable, but left the case open for investigation by the parish grand jury in its fall meeting.

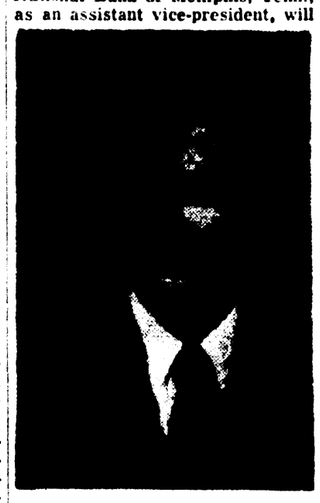

Four persons, including the Negro who was operating the vehicle which hit the Lafoon child, testified at the inquest, held at Dr. French's office on North Third street. All stated that they believed the accident unavoidable and said Louis Humphries, driver of the car, was not negligent.

Humphries and another Negro, James Minneweather, were returning from work at the Brown Container plant Monday afternoon, when young Lafoon dashed out into the street and struck the automobile.

David Richardson, 600 Jonesboro road, who was with Lafoon at the time of the accident, said the child had hit the automobile on the front right fender. Other witnesses gave similar testimony.

WAKEFIELD WILL JOIN BANK HERE

Benton M. Wakefield, Jr., who has been associated with the First National Bank of Memphis, Tenn., as an assistant vice-president, will join the Ouachita National Bank as vice-president on September 2, R. Lee Vanderpool, Jr., president, announced yesterday.

BENTON M. WAKEFIELD, JR.

Wakefield was born in Monroe in 1920, the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Wakefield, former residents of Monroe who are now residing in Jackson, Miss. He entered Washington and Lee University upon graduation from high school in Jackson and in 1941 received a B. S. degree in commerce. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, and Omicron Delta Kappa and was in "Who's Who in American Colleges."

In 1941 Wakefield entered the United States Navy, receiving his commission as an ensign the following year. During the war he served on several aircraft carriers and was discharged in 1946. He now holds the rank of lieutenant commander in the naval reserve.

Wakefield joined the First National Bank in Memphis in 1946 and has since progressed to his present position of assistant vice-president. He is a graduate of the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

He is married to the former Miss Cindy Walton of Jackson.

Vanderpool stated he was very pleased to announce the addition of Wakefield to the bank's staff. He comes to us highly recommended and his record at the First National in Memphis is outstanding. We feel that he will be a real asset to our institution in his duties as a general loan officer."

Soviets Outline Three-Point Agenda For Discussion

MOSCOW, Sunday, Aug. 24 (AP) — Russia proposed today a big four-power meeting on a German peace treaty to be held not later than October.

The Soviet government called for the meeting with Britain, France and the United States to consider a peace treaty, formation of an all-German government, all-German elections and a time limit for withdrawal of occupation forces by the Big Four powers.

The Soviets said they would discuss a German elections commission as proposed by the three Western powers but only following the discussion of the peace treaty and formation of an all-German government.

The Soviet proposals were contained in notes handed the three Western ambassadors in Moscow by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky late yesterday.

The Soviet note outlined at length serious objections to the Western Power proposals as contained in their notes o fJuly 10 and concluded by declaring:

"Nevertheless the Soviet government is prepared to discuss at a meeting of the four powers the question proposed by the governments of the three powers on a commission for investigation of conditions for carrying out free elections in all Germany."

The Soviet note added immediately: "But the Soviet government at the same time considers that the meeting cannot and must not limit itself to a discussion of this question alone.

"The Soviet government considers it necessary that the meeting in the first place should discuss such important questions as the peace treaty with Germany and the formation of an all-German government.

"Basing itself on what is set forth above, the Soviet government proposes to call in the nearest future, and in any case in October of this year, a meeting of the repre-

Showers Hit, But Temp. Stays High

A few scattered showers Saturday did little if anything to cool Twin Cities suffering from temperatures ranging from the high 90's to over the 100 mark last week.

And little prospect of rain or cooling temperatures is forecast for Sunday by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Saturday's high was recorded at the Selman Field weather station at 98 degrees. Lowest temp was a cool 75 registered at [illegible] a.m.

The greatest number of people I talked to seemed to me to be against the Democratic platform."

The state committeeman pointed out "I have nothing against Governor Stevenson personally. As a man he is all right, but I do not care to support him or the Democratic platform.

McKenzie lashed out at the Democratic national convention in Chicago saying that some of the delegates who were trying to ram a loyalty pledge down the throat of the convention were not even Democrats. He listed Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., as a member of the American Labor party and said that Sen. Blair Moody (D—Mich.), has only been a Democrat for 15 months and yet he was trying to dictate to older Democrats.

McKenzie said that F. E. P. C. would be unfair to the South and that it could not be fairly carried out by any employer.

Following McKenzie's statement, C. C. Lindley of Monroe, a state Republican central committeeman said he was "happy to hear that Mr. McKenzie is for Eisenhower."

He called McKenzie's views "representative of a trend that has lately become evident."

Lindley, who was a strong Taft backer, is one of the oldest Republicans in Ouachita parish. Though he fought for Taft's nomination, Lindley declared last night he is now behind Eisenhower.

Lindley, considered a commanding voice among Louisiana Republicans, said that a strong two-party system was the strongest weapon the South could have in its quest for national recognition.

Big Steel Comes To Terms With Union

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp. biggest steel producer in the nation, reached complete agreement with the CIO United Steelworkers today on a new contract.

The giant firm was the last major producer to come to terms with the union. Earlier today, Crucible Steel Company of America also signed a formal pact with the union.

U. S. Steel employs about 170,000 USW members in its far-flung plants. The Crucible pact covers about 15,000 workers at plants in Pittsburgh and Midland, Pa., East Liverpool, O., Syracuse, N. Y., and Harrison, N. J.

Both firms had resumed production under interim agreements. The U. S. Steel contract embodies all terms of a settlement worked out at the White House July 24 which sent most of the 600,000 striking steel workers back to work after 55 days of idleness.

Quake Inflicts $20 Million Loss On Bakersfield, Calif.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—The quake-battered Bakersfield Community swept up the rubble today and counted damage estimated tentatively at 20 million dollars from yesterday's sharp shock. Two lives were lost and 32 persons injured.

Meanwhile, the epicenter of a temblor which shook Los Angeles early today was placed at only 25 miles northeast of Pasadena. It caused no damage but woke thousands of persons in the middle of the night.

City Manager C. Leland Gunn said that the damage from yesterday's shock will be greater than that of the July 21 quake. He placed Bakersfield's loss in the earlier shock at 15 million dollars.

Other sources have placed it as high as 20 million dollars. Conservative estimates of earthquake loss in the month following July 21 place total damage at 40 million. Yesterday's quake would boost that to 60 million or more.

All stores and offices, scores of them in a six-block area of the downtown sector were closed. The drop in commercial activity added another intangible loss, impossible to estimate immediately.

Police Chief Horace V. Grayson said the six-block heart of the downtown section will remain closed until at least Monday.

"It might even take until Wednesday to get all shaky walls down and bricks and glass out of the street," Grayson said.

Gunn said that preliminary inspection shows at least 100 buildings badly damaged. Some, weakened on July 21, were made completely untenable by yesterday's quake.

Schools and churches were particularly hard hit. City School Superintendent John Compton said there is doubt whether all students could be accommodated at the opening of the fall semester, scheduled in two weeks.

Five churches cracked by the temblor planned emergency services elsewhere, the ministers announced. Churches made unsafe are Catholic, Presbyterian, Congregational, Seventh Day Adventist and Church of Christ.

Mayor Frank E. Sullivan called an emergency City Council meeting tomorrow to discuss what civil defense and other aid should be asked. The Kern County Supervisors held a curbstone meeting and asked the state of California for emergency aid.

Gov. Earl Warren, in Sacramento, promised that all help desired will be made available.

Still on the governor's desk are a batch of bills aimed at helping Kern County areas stricken by the first big quake. One of these calls for three million dollars in loans for reconstruction or repair of public buildings. Kern County officials have termed this "just a drop in the bucket compared with what we need."

Killed yesterday were George T. Cozby, 67, Bakersfield, and Mrs. Edna Ledbetter, 26, McFarland, Calif. Nine of the 32 injured remained in hospitals today. The July 21 quake took 14 lives, 11 of them at Tehachapi, 35 miles east of here.

Jes' Ramblin'

Once more it appears that there will be a renewal of that famed "hometown classic," the annual Ouachita - Neville gridiron battle. For years these two contenders refused to consider an engagement together, then in 1949 and in 1950, the teams met and each wrested the honor of a victory, Ouachita Lions by a score of 19 to 7 and the Neville Tigers by 25 to 13. But a new hostility, perhaps better, a renewal of the old hostility, caused suspension of further contests.

Now we are pleased to know that the two schools are in a friendly and even cooperative spirit. It chances that Supt. W. W. Ward and Supt. Van Odom, the two superintendents of the local schools, are friends of long standing, so it was no surprise when Paul J. Neal, Neville principal, and I. C. Strickland, parish school principal, issued a joint statement the other day that a conference is in progress which will consider renewal of the local football rivalry.

The public which appreciates good clean sport will be delighted to know that the outlook is favorable for a renewal of these local

LAFOON DEATH 'UNAVOIDABLE'

Following a coroner's inquest Saturday morning into the death of David Leon Lafoon, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident Monday, parish Coroner J. T. French said he believed the incident to have been unavoidable, but left the case open for investigation by the parish grand jury in its fall meeting.

Four persons, including the Negro who was operating the vehicle which hit the Lafoon child, testified at the inquest, held at Dr. French's office on North Third street. All stated that they believed the accident unavoidable and said Louis Humphries, driver of the car, was not negligent.

Humphries and another Negro, James Minneweather, were returning from work at the Brown Container plant Monday afternoon, when young Lafoon dashed out into the street and struck the automobile.

David Richardson, 600 Jonesboro road, who was with Lafoon at the time of the accident, said the child had hit the automobile on the front right fender. Other witnesses gave similar testimony.

WAKEFIELD WILL JOIN BANK HERE

Benton M. Wakefield, Jr., who has been associated with the First National Bank of Memphis, Tenn., as an assistant vice-president, will join the Ouachita National Bank as vice-president on September 2, R. Lee Vanderpool, Jr., president, announced yesterday.

BENTON M. WAKEFIELD, JR.

Wakefield was born in Monroe in 1920, the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Wakefield, former residents of Monroe who are now residing in Jackson, Miss. He entered Washington and Lee University upon graduation from high school in Jackson and in 1941 received a B. S. degree in commerce. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, and Omicron Delta Kappa and was in "Who's Who in American Colleges."

In 1941 Wakefield entered the United States Navy, receiving his commission as an ensign the following year. During the war he served on several aircraft carriers and was discharged in 1946. He now holds the rank of lieutenant commander in the naval reserve.

Wakefield joined the First National Bank in Memphis in 1946 and has since progressed to his present position of assistant vice-president. He is a graduate of the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

He is married to the former Miss Cindy Walton of Jackson.

Vanderpool stated he was very pleased to announce the addition of Wakefield to the bank's staff. He comes to us highly recommended and his record at the First National in Memphis is outstanding. We feel that he will be a real asset to our institution in his duties as a general loan officer."

Soviets Outline Three-Point Agenda For Discussion

MOSCOW, Sunday, Aug. 24 (AP) — Russia proposed today a big four-power meeting on a German peace treaty to be held not later than October.

The Soviet government called for the meeting with Britain, France and the United States to consider a peace treaty, formation of an all-German government, all-German elections and a time limit for withdrawal of occupation forces by the Big Four powers.

The Soviets said they would discuss a German elections commission as proposed by the three Western powers but only following the discussion of the peace treaty and formation of an all-German government.

The Soviet proposals were contained in notes handed the three Western ambassadors in Moscow by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky late yesterday.

The Soviet note outlined at length serious objections to the Western Power proposals as contained in their notes o fJuly 10 and concluded by declaring:

"Nevertheless the Soviet government is prepared to discuss at a meeting of the four powers the question proposed by the governments of the three powers on a commission for investigation of conditions for carrying out free elections in all Germany."

The Soviet note added immediately: "But the Soviet government at the same time considers that the meeting cannot and must not limit itself to a discussion of this question alone.

"The Soviet government considers it necessary that the meeting in the first place should discuss such important questions as the peace treaty with Germany and the formation of an all-German government.

"Basing itself on what is set forth above, the Soviet government proposes to call in the nearest future, and in any case in October of this year, a meeting of the repre-

Showers Hit, But Temp. Stays High

A few scattered showers Saturday did little if anything to cool Twin Citians suffering from temperatures ranging from the high 90's to over the 100 mark last week.

And little prospect of rain or cooling temperatures is expected for Sunday by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Saturday's high was recorded at the Selman Field weather station at 92 degrees. Lowest Saturday was a cool 75 registered at 4:30 a. m.

Old Time L. S. U. Bandsmen To Meet

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Louisiana State University bandsmen who played during 1925-30 will hold a reunion and take part in a stunt at the LSU-Tennessee football game Nov. 8.

LSU band director Bruce Jones said the reunion will wind up with an after-the-game banquet. He indicated he has high hopes of using the group as a nucleus for forming an LSU band alumni association.

Reunion chairman Ernest Gueymard, managing editor of the State-Times, invited all former bandsmen to be on hand "even if they can't squeeze into the old uniforms and aren't able to blow a note anymore."

The output per man-day of the American coal miner has risen 32 per cent since 1939.

We May Have To Dip For Cash

The French franc has taken another dip, and with it dip the hopes that the Pinay government is long for this world. He's not out yet, but the fiscal handwriting is on the wall.

The latest dido of the mercurial franc accompanied warnings by the French defense minister that France was in for more economic trouble if she didn't get more orders for military goods from the United States.

France has been Counting on more than $600 million worth of such orders, but it looks like she will get less than a third of that.

That may well mean that France will have to cut her armament program, which in turn will mean a lot of workers thrown out of jobs. The thought of that doesn't help any the Pinay government's chances of remaining in power.

But Pinay, himself, who has based his entire government program on a reasonable, middle-of-the-road approach, has middle-of-the-road answers to his latest difficulties.

If more money is not forthcoming from America, he says, then that is that and nothing can be done about it. So by more economies here and there — he named them — France might still be able to make it.

But America's stake in Europe is big, and France's part in that stake is an important one. For instance, if Europe should fall down badly on her NATO commitments, that military organization for the defense of Europe would be badly weakened.

So it seems possible that this country may still dredge up financing France so desperately needs. Not as much money as the French are asking for, but perhaps just enough to see them through this latest of what sometimes seems like a series of perpetual crises.

And as if the Pinay government wasn't having enough trouble, its opposition will be drumming up all the criticism it can think of between now and the next meeting of Parliament in October.

Pinay, whose government gamble was to somehow stabilize the franc and to extract a little more from this country than has thus far been forthcoming, could of course solve the whole thing by either raising taxes or making a reasonably thorough collection of those already in existence, but there is no chance of it. That would cause another government upheaval, sure enough.

Meantime, ordinary Frenchmen and American tourists alike, thronged the French beaches, watched or took part in the frantic money changing in the falling franc, and hoped, in an August holiday sort of way, for the best.

UMT Died Quietly, Buried On Capitol Hill

Remember Universal Military Training? The wise ones predicted it would be a dead duck in this election year, and it seems they were pretty right.

Judging from the tones rising from many a political platform these days, you must conclude that training a man for a possible job in the army is just about the worst thing that could happen to him.

How much better, these politicos seem to be saying, to let the fellow alone to enjoy his peacetime pursuits and then, if a real emergency arises and he has to be drafted, throw him in for a fast training stint and let him learn in the field, the hard way.

Some of the office seekers make it sound almost as if the army is on the way out, like parking space, roofs without television antennas, and truce talks that reach a decision. But give us one sharp signal from Russia and they'll all go dashing to the rostrum to declare they never said these things.

Mystery Melodrama

Put a Chinese lieutenant general and his blond American secretary in a romantic Mexican hideway. Have a former president of Mexico press the complaint of the Chinese Nationalist government that the general is holding out millions of its money. Would a short story writer need more?

The general is Pang Tsu-Mow, who was chief of a Chinese air force purchasing mission in Washington. He is accused of having failed to account for nearly $26,000,000 of procurement funds, including an unexpended cash balance of $7,000,000. In addition to suing him in the United States, the Chiang-Kai-shek government is trying to have him extradited from Mexico.

General Mow says he has done nothing wrong. He will not return the money, he says, until he can be sure that it will go to the Chinese people and not into the pockets of Chiang "and his clique."

Nothing that Confucius said seems to cover this remarkable case. Viewed against the background of the vast ferment in Asia, it is not without its ironical aspects. Amid all the confusion and the charges and countercharges one thing seems certain: The ingredients of this mystery melodrama will eventually engage the talents of Hollywood. The title of the film almost writes itself: "Mow's Missing Mission Millions."

Unsalable Remedy

Comes now Dr. Norman Jolliffe, an expert in New York City's department of health, who deposes and says that during a heat wave the average person will lose weight at the rate of one-fifth of a pound a week. Appetites lag, with the result that people eat less.

This seems plausible. The overweight should welcome it, although few do. The fat man, presumably a great [illegible] find little to guffaw about when he's steaming [illegible], even though he knows he will eat less at dinner [illegible].

[illegible] will hightail it to the mountain or water resort [illegible] skinny if given the opportunity. [illegible] doctor knows what he's talking about, but his [illegible] gastric palate receptacles.

George E. Sokolsky:
THESE DAYS

THE QUEEN'S OPPOSITION

Great Britain and those few countries that accept British political tradition are the only ones that not only tolerate opposition but have created it and protect it. In Great Britain, Senator Robert A. Taft would have been the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition and he would have been paid a salary for opposing the government. When Harry Truman's day came to retire because the people lost confidence in him—automatically, the Queen would have sent for Taft to form a government of his partisans. Then Truman would be in opposition and would be paid by the government for opposing.

This system of government produces continuity of experience; it is less expensive to change a government in England than to have a primary fight in America. But its greatest virtue is that inexperienced, unknown, untried men cannot emerge to the position of the head of the state. One moves gradually and learns on the way up.

In our country it seems to be almost a crime to oppose those in power, and candidates for public office find the smear more comfortable than the argument. President Truman is a specialist in the technique of the smear and the twisted argument, and he and his immediate entourage seem to be disappointed that Adlai Stevenson does not welcome that type of campaign It must have been tough on Stevenson to call off Truman's whistle-stop oratory while Harry is still in the White House, but anything less dignified than the President of the United States, even though a lame duck, chasing about the country, vulgarizing a campaign for his successor is difficult to imagine.

Because of a lack of party continuity in this country, General Eisenhower's position is also beset with problems. He is new to the opposition, having spent most of his career within the government. To oppose Truman, he may have to disclose official secrets to the possession of which however, the people are really entitled. This could lead to a real debate and might elevate the campaign to high stature. It might even result in an Eisenhower-Acheson decate on certain policies relating to the conquest of Europe, particularly Germany.

If Eisenhower avoids this discussion of high policy, what will his opposition amount to? He may say that Truman tolerated corruption,

Our Children

There are things that are not done and to do them is to mark oneself as ignorant of elementary manners, something few people would want associated with their names. These basic manners can be and should be taught to children, if not at home, then certainly in school.

There is a time and a place for almost everything and informed, disciplined people know that time and that place and make no mistakes in relation to them. There are times when laughter is the height of bad manners, as during church service. No matter how incongrous the mishap, nobody should laugh during the service.

There is a time for wearing sports clothes. They belong on the beach, the playgrounds but they do not belong at formal parties, in church, on the streets. Young people who are irked by the proprieties of dress and manners sometimes throw them to the winds, as when girls wore shirts with tails hanging over their slacks and boys wore their hair down to their collars and refused to comb it or to wear a hat. Teachers protested because they knew that clothes and manners have a direct influence on behavior attitudes. Sloppy clothes, sloppy manners, sloppy work and questionable behavior form an unpleasant and most unfortunate pattern for youth.

A good shout on the playground is quite in order. Children, and older boys and girls as well, need to shout. The playground is the place for it, never the halls of the school or the classrooms. Inside any building, the voice and tone should be lowered in consideration for others and for the reputation of the speaker regarding his upbringing.

Children, particularly the older ones, should think about that. When they behave impreperly, when they violate the rules of good manners and good form, they reflect on their parents and teachers as much as on themselves.

To know how to do the right thing at the right time in the right place is to be a cultured, highly intelligent, happily adjusted personality. That is something no boy or girl in his right mind will scorn. They ought to try to learn what is expected of them and do it so that no girl will be found combing her hair in class, no boy will wear his hat into the schoolroom, no child will giggle in church, eat too much at a party, wear the wrong dress anywhere. It is important, young people, to know what and how and why in this world of people, because not knowing shuts a door in your face and that is something you cannot afford.

HOLLYWOOD, August 23.—Movies have changed since I first started in pictures. I came in on the tail - end of an era. You might even say my entrance was the wind up of the era. Yes, the good old days are gone but in their place are better days and movies that are "Better Than Ever."

Back around 1902 and 1903, when the movie infant first reared its head, it was a novelty. People stepped up and paid their nickles and dimes to see the newborn flickers out of curiosity.

From around 1915 through World War I, the fast - growing, cinematic infant began to swagger a little as it began to realize its potentalities — just as youth begins to feel its "oats" as it reaches teenage. By this time, the novelty of movies had worn off. People no longer bought tickets merely because they were curious about the medium. It was necessary for the people in the industry to find other methods of attracting the public to the box-office. They did it the only way they knew — through the personalities in films. The star system was born in this era and it was the most colorful period in film history.

Tox Mix startled the public with his half - block - long custom built automobile and his fancy - dan dress. Cecil B. DeMille, the greatest showman of them all, produced his first great spectacles during this time, but it wasn't just the quality of his films that made the public buy. They wanted to see the work of a man who had six men follow him around with chairs to shove under him every time he wanted to sit down; a man who stalked around the picture sets in riding boots, carried a megaphone to shout directions through, and boasted other eccentric mannerisms. His "color" whetted the public's curiosity.

Nazimova, the screen's first vamp, startled Hollywood by having a swimming pool built in the shape of the Black Sea. Nita Naldi started a fad by strutting around town with a black panther on a leash. Mack Sennett started the newspaper men scurrying when he had a gold bath tub installed in his office suite.

Director Jimmy Cruze and his wife, Betty Compson, attracted attention when they copied an old Spanish custom and installed a money bowl in their luxurious home, inviting guests to help themselves if in need of a few sheckels. Gloria Swanson's wardrobe became a whetstone for public curiosity as she traveled around the country with a score or more of trunks filled with beautiful gowns. William Farnum kept a couple of ocean - going yachts for his friends to enjoy world cruises in. Lefty Flynn had a six piece Hawaiian orchestra follow him everywhere he went. Valentino, the greatest romantic star of all, introduced men's jewelry with his slave bracelet.

Negro comic Stepin - Fetchit bought two Cadillacs, having one chauffeur - driven car follow him every place he went in the event the one he was driving broke down or ran out of gas. Douglas Fairbanks chartered trains, an ocean-going liner and river boats to take scores of his friends on a trip up the River Nile. And word leaked out that Hollywood glamour girls took champagne baths before dates!

It was a fabulous era, the most colorful of all. Then, talking pictures made their entrance. Talent became a requisite. It took more

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Asso ciated Press News Analyst

Allied experts have gone to work on Russia's new five-year plan to see if they can learn anything from it about her future international intentions.

The theory is that the relationship between emphasis on development of heavy industry and that on food and consumer goods contains a clue to whether war of peace is uppermost in Kremlin thinking. Any great shift toward consumer production would be taken immediately as opening the approaches to an East-West settlement.

Well, the figures don't seem to offer much clue when compared with previous Russian accomplishments, and the theory itself is a very limited one.

While a great shift to peaceful production would be truly notable, continued emphasis on heavy industry is less so. Russia has always been an agricultural country. There was and is greater room and greater need for industrial expansion.

This just about cancels the plan figures as clues to policy.

What is known is that, if Russia accomplishes the new goals, she will be about twice as strong, either for war or peace, as she was in 1939. All through the years she has sacrificed consumer needs to preparedness. Even including the recent great spurt in Allied rearmament, Russia probably has spent more on her armed forces, and the establishment of production lines for war, than all the rest of the world put together. She has always devoted a major portion of the national income to it. The Allies cannot know for sure whether the motive is fear of attack or plan for attack, so they prepare for the worst.

One thing seems obvious. The Russian propaganda effort right now is directed not toward a Russian-made war, but toward interference with Allied rearmament.

Allied observers confidently expect them to come up again pretty soon with some high-sounding proposal, like a peace conference. The idea would be to further confuse people who are already worried and confused about the Allied ability to balance its preparedness program against maintenance of living standards which are considered essential unless the cold war is to be lost through infiltration.

Russia is sponsoring plans for at least two great peace demonstrations, one in Vienna and one in China this fall. One will be before and one just at the time of the next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly. A new move in the diplomatic "peace offensive" is expected at the same time. To plan war at the same time would be merely to unnecessarily antagonize all the world's neutrals.

If the Communists were to call off the Korean War, sign an Austrian peace treaty, make democratic changes at home, agree to elections looking toward a united Germany, slacken their military program or tone down in any way their efforts to create chaos, hatred and division in the world, their peace talk might be considered seriously. As it is, it will just be taken as more of the same.

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK (AP)— Some weeks ago A. P. Cooke, editor and publisher of the weekly Plant City (Fla.) Courier, learned some bad news about one of his readers.

The reader was himself. Should he print the news or keep silent?

Cooke hesitated, then sat down and typed out his regular column, "Just Roaming."

"The word cancer is an ugly word," he began. "It is, to most folks, a cruel word, a despairing word because the very thought of it brings despair to anyone close to one so afflicted.

"I have just been told that I have a cancer in the tissues of the mouth, but I am not despairing.

"You see, medical people say that early detection is half the battle, and medical science has advanced rapidly in the treatment of this affliction."

Editor Cooke recalled wryly how often he, like his readers, had dropped a dime into the little boxes that appear on store counters during the American Cancer Society's annual drive — boxes that say:

"Cancer strikes one of every five."

"I thought — if I ever gave it a thought — that I was one of the other four. But I was wrong.

"I have become a statistic. . . not altogether a pleasant thought . . ."

Cooke then told his readers how a dentist had first noticed the suspicious lump in his mouth, how his doctor had diagnosed it as cancer, and of his intention to fly to New York to see the specialist his own doctor recommended.

"If I can, I will keep you informed . . . meanwhile, good luck and God be with you until we meet again."

On his arrival here Cooke met further bad news. The specialist recommended immediate surgery. Cooke had to make up his mind in 20 minutes whether to be operated on two days later — or wait another week. As he hesitated, the specialist said:

"When your garage is on fire, put it out before it burns up your car."

"Operate," said Cooke. The next day he was in the hospital, and the day after that he was operated on. He spent more than four hours under the knife, required three blood transfusions, but 12 days later he left the hospital.

Today Editor Cooke has a happy ending story for his readers. The stitches are out of his jaw, he feels the surgeon is as optimistic over the results of the operation as he is, and he is on his way home.

Before he and his wife left, I visited with them on a park bench in Greenwich Village.

"I feel as if I had been through a tremendous nightmare," Cooke said. "The hospital code word for my type of operation is 'commando,' and I can truthfully say that after going through it you feel like you're been on a commando raid. But now I feel like I've got a life expectancy of 30."

He expressed gratitude that his own doctor had told him promptly the full truth of his ailment.

"It's a hell of a shock," he said. "But it was almost as hard for my doctor to tell me as it was for me to hear it.

"But I'm glad he did tell me. Pussy-footing . . . bumfoozling. . . . doesn't do any good. It's like the specialist said about your garage. If it's on fire, you want to know it — and do something about it quick."

Cooke is also grateful for many

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— There are two approaches to controlling inflation. One is by price and wage controls. This is the direct approach, which the average consumer and wage earner can understand.

The second approach is through fiscal policy, and here the going really gets rough. It involves such things as supply of money in circulation, regulation of consumer credit, interest rates, degree of government spending, the amount and kinds of taxation.

Regulation of all these things by the government provides indirect controls on inflation.

Some economic theorists believe that the direct controls on inflation are futile. The thing to do, they say, is take off all curbs, let prices and wages go where they will so as to encourage production. Then have a perfectly free market in which competitive over-supply of goods will bring down price levels by overtaking the demand.

This sounds all right in theory. But in practice, where there are acute shortages of basic raw materials, it is frequently impossible for the supply ever to catch up with the demand. Then price controls and rationing may become necessary.

The advocates of the free-market theory insist that all controls are bad, however, and the farthest they will go is to agree to some form of indirect control, seeking to curb inflation by fiscal measures alone.

U. S. experience has been that it is a combination of direct and indirect controls which works best. But it was only during the World War II years that it was possible to get direct and indirect controls coordinated with any degree of effectiveness.

Congress Weakens All Controls

The record of the Korean emergency period, covering the past two years, has been that indirect as well as direct controls over inflation have been steadily weakened by Congress. Also, with the various controls administered by what amounts to a three-headed monster, it has been impossible to make any of them work effectively.

Congress itself has retained control over taxation. Wage and price controls have been given to the Economic Stabilization Agency. Credit controls have been given to the Federal Reserve Board. Furthermore, Congress has resented and limited the power of the President, through his Secretary of the Treasury, to influence Federal Reserve Board actions.

In the new Defense Mobilization law passed in June, Congress even went so far as to end the Federal Reserve Board's authority to regulate consumer credit — in-

The Sinderella Set

Sin has been prevalent since Adam tasted the appleKKKKKK am tasted the apple. Its persistence stems from basic human imperfections. Passion frequently dominates conscience. Moral sentiments are not always as attractive as physical sensations. And temptation often represents a greater force than wisdom . . . There is no voice louder than that of outraged propriety. But the stern truth is many people will publicly condemn what they privately condone. Hence immorality has always been easier to deplore than destroy. Down through the ages prostitution has played a major role in the most ancient conflict: The battle between Good and Evil.

A blight as time-worn as civilization itself is still news—as the current front pages attest. Headlines inspired by vice raids periodically rocket before the public eye, flare briefly and then fade away. Until the next time . . It is safe to assume that the convictions of several individuals will have little effect upon a problem riddled by the deepest social, economic and phychological ramifications. Punitive measures have never been effective. During the 17th Century in Europe, punishment reached barbaric extremes: The noses of prostitutes were amputated.

Every indecency thrives on public complacency and the chicanery of public officials. Harlotry has the dubious distinction of ranking second to gambling as a source of revenue for grafters. The smashing of a Hollywood vice ring recently, disclosed that one-third of its income was utilized for bribery. generalities following vice investigations represent superficial aspects of the problem. It is hardly news to note diseases disseminated by inevitable camp-followers have caused more army casualties than enemy weapons. The peace-time perils in terms of public health alone are equally grim. Authorities estimate that 40 percent of prostitutes are VD carriers.

White slavers snatching girls in the night and carrying them away kicking and screaming is a popular belief that seldom has roots in reality. The brutal truth is most recruits in the army of ill-fame are not drafted—they enlist. Imaginative prospects of excitement and quick bucks are the chief lures. Sinful eyefools are usually disillusioned on both counts. Their careers are brief, hazardous and arduous. The overwhelming majority are left with little more than diseased bodies and ugly memories. Police files indicate there is a direct relationship between prostitution and narcotics. The addicts are lowdies who turn to opiates in a vain effort to make their seamy existence more endurable.

Flesh-peddling is a lucrative, filthy business for unspeakable procurers. A New York investigation in 1936 disclosed one syndicate's annual profits from brothels totaled

IN WASHINGTON

BY CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A presidential campaign in which neither candidate is in the White House is such a novelty — the last one matched Herbert Hoover against Alfred E. Smith in 1928 — that the Democrats, who have been in power during 20 of the intervening 24 years, are still not aware that they have lost the old familiar stage setting.

There is no sounding board in America like the White House, nor any prestige quite comparable to that of the presidency. This year the large percentage of Democrats who sincerely wanted new national leadership from their own ranks have been delighted at the choice of a candidate intent upon remaining as aloof as politically possible from President Truman. But Adlai E. Stevenson, as the campaign progresses will learn that Springfield, Ill., is not Washington and that he has a tremendous selling job to do.

His record as governor of Illinois, while generally regarded as excellent, will advance his chance of election only nominally. He must win for himself that great mass of undecided votes — or at least non - committal votes—which have to be wooed every four years. He must also carry along the New Deal - Fair Deal Democrats without getting too close in his viewpoint and his speeches to President Truman, who is not popular with a great many other Democrats.

So far the electorate has but his two speeches at the Democratic convention on which to judge him. The impression which he made seems to have been generally favorable. But those early generalities do not win elections.

His opponent is a world figure, a man who—as the many newspapers which have endorsed him have said — has almost unparalleled experience in making decisions affecting men and measures. Reports from over the country at this stage are largely limited to the observation that the people know Eisenhower but they don't know Stevenson, and after the fashion of voters sizing up the unknown candidate, they are inclined at this stage to be somewhat skeptical.

In the light of this circumstance, the Eisenhower high command is probably shrewd in seeking to make world peace the big issue of the campaign, because that is the issue on which the general is best grounded. On the other hand political analysts here wonder whether he can convince a majority of voters that a Republican administration can actually make more progress toward that goal than the Democrats.

His principal spokesman on foreign policy, John Foster Dulles, who is considered the most likely choice for secretary of state in the event of the general's election, has been Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's spokesmen in the bi-partisan foreign alignment, both during and since his brief service in the senate. That would indicate that Eisenhower will advocate no general change in foreign policy, besides which he faces a dilema in pledging Republican support for the ways and means he proposes, considering how divided his party has been on the issue in the past.

In that phase of the campaign, Eisenhower will be asking the voters to have faith in his judgment and his experience in foreign affairs at this critical juncture, rather than in the ability of the Republican party to change the world picture. There he should have an advantage over Stevenson, though the latter is expected to promise housecleaning in the state department and — by inference at least — an end to the regime of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

It is probably fortunate for Governor Stevenson that his brief experience in the state department was under Secretary James F. Brynes rather than Acheson and that he was connected more closely with the United Nations than with the departmental organization.

The country's feeling on foreign policy is closely geared to the Korean war, which the next president will be expected to bring to a speedy close, if it has not ended by the time he takes office. The tedious course of the Korean peace negotiations indicates, however, that the Communists are prepared to continue their present course indefinitely, both to tie down U. S. forces in Asia and to train their own combat officers particularly in the air.

Stevenson, his friends believe, is well qualified to discuss foreign policy in general. How importantly the Korean war figures in the thinking of Democratic campaign planners was disclosed on the first day of the Chicago convention when the scholarly Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois delivered a log justification of the Truman record on war. He pointed out that the administration's bill for Korean economic aid was defeated in the house in 1950 by a single Republican vote, that General Eisenhower as chief of staff of the joint chiefs of staff, in 1947 approved the withdrawal of our troops from Korea and that John Foster Dulles proposed and obtained consent to that withdrawal in the United Nations General Assembly.

But the governor is a candidate on his own, without the massive prestige of White House occupancy as his backdrop. He has his campaign to make, and a few blunders would an incumbent of the executive mansion. And Eisenhower is in a position to take advantages of errors by a younger and less experienced opponent.

Chinchilla fur's extreme softness is due to the fact that as many as 80 hairs sprout from a single hair follicle.

We May Have To Dip For Cash

The French franc has taken another dip, and with it dip the hopes that the Pinay government is long for this world. He's not out yet, but the fiscal handwriting is on the wall.

The latest dido of the mercurial franc accompanied warnings by the French defense minister that France was in for more economic trouble if she didn't get more orders for military goods from the United States.

France has been Counting on more than $600 million worth of such orders, but it looks like she will get less than a third of that.

That may well mean that France will have to cut her armament program, which in turn will mean a lot of workers thrown out of jobs. The thought of that doesn't help any the Pinay government's chances of remaining in power.

But Pinay, himself, who has based his entire government program on a reasonable, middle-of-the-road approach, has middle-of-the-road answers to his latest difficulties.

If more money is not forthcoming from America, he says, then that is that and nothing can be done about it. So by more economies here and there — he named them — France might still be able to make it.

But America's stake in Europe is big, and France's part in that stake is an important one. For instance, if Europe should fall down badly on her NATO commitments, that military organization for the defense of Europe would be badly weakened.

So it seems possible that this country may still dredge up financing France so desperately needs. Not as much money as the French are asking for, but perhaps just enough to see them through this latest of what sometimes seems like a series of perpetual crises.

And as if the Pinay government wasn't having enough trouble, its opposition will be drumming up all the criticism it can think of between now and the next meeting of Parliament in October.

Pinay, whose government gamble was to somehow stabilize the franc and to extract a little more from this country than has thus far been forthcoming, could of course solve the whole thing by either raising taxes or making a reasonably thorough collection of those already in existence, but there is no chance of it. That would cause another government upheaval, sure enough.

Meantime, ordinary Frenchmen and American tourists alike, thronged the French beaches, watched or took part in the frantic money changing in the falling franc, and hoped, in an August holiday sort of way, for the best.

UMT Died Quietly, Buried On Capitol Hill

Remember Universal Military Training? The wise ones predicted it would be a dead duck in this election year, and it seems they were pretty right.

Judging from the tones rising from many a political platform these days, you must conclude that training a man for a possible job in the army is just about the worst thing that could happen to him.

How much better, these politicos seem to be saying, to let the fellow alone to enjoy his peacetime pursuits and then, if a real emergency arises and he has to be drafted, throw him in for a fast training stint and let him learn in the field, the hard way.

Some of the office seekers make it sound almost as if the army is on the way out, like parking space, roofs without television antennas, and truce talks that reach a decision. But give us one sharp signal from Russia and they'll all go dashing to the rostrum to declare they never said these things.

Mystery Melodrama

Put a Chinese lieutenant general and his blond American secretary in a romantic Mexican hideway. Have a former president of Mexico press the complaint of the Chinese Nationalist government that the general is holding out millions of its money. Would a short story writer need more?

The general is Pang Tsu-Mow, who was chief of a Chinese air force purchasing mission in Washington. He is accused of having failed to account for nearly $26,000,000 of procurement funds, including an unexpended cash balance of $7,000,000. In addition to suing him in the United States, the Chiang-Kai-shek government is trying to have him extradited from Mexico.

General Mow says he has done nothing wrong. He will not return the money, he says, until he can be sure that it will go to the Chinese people and not into the pockets of Chiang "and his clique."

Nothing that Confucius said seems to cover this remarkable case. Viewed against the background of the vast ferment in Asia, it is not without its ironical aspects. Amid all the confusion and the charges and countercharges one thing seems certain: The ingredients of this mystery melodrama will eventually engage the talents of Hollywood. The title of the film almost writes itself: "Mow's Missing Mission Millions."

Unsalable Remedy

Comes now Dr. Norman Jolliffe, an expert in New York City's department of health, who deposes and says that during a heat wave the average person will lose weight at the rate of one-fifth of a pound a week. Appetites lag, with the result that people set less.

This seems plausible. The overweight should welcome summer, though few do. The fat man, presumably a great laugher, can find little to guffaw about when he's steaming in his clothes, even though he knows he will eat less at dinner that night.

The obese will hightail it to the mountain or water resort with more alacrity than the skinny if given the opportunity. The New York doctor knows what he's talking about, but his anti-fat panacea encounters stiff sales resistance.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

THE QUEEN'S OPPOSITION

Great Britain and those few countries that accept British political tradition are the only ones that not only tolerate opposition but have created it and protect it. In Great Britain, Senator Robert A. Taft would have been the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition and he would have been paid a salary for opposing the government. When Harry Truman's day came to retire because the people lost confidence in him —automatically, the Queen would have sent for Taft to form a government of his partisans. Then Truman would be in opposition and would be paid by the government for opposing.

This system of government produces continuity of experience; it is less expensive to change a government in England than to have a primary fight in America. But its greatest virtue is that inexperienced, unknown, untried men cannot emerge to the position of the head of the state. One moves gradually and learns on the way up.

In our country it seems to be almost a crime to oppose those in power, and candidates for public office find the smear more comfortable than the argument. President Truman is a specialist in the technique of the smear and the twisted argument, and he and his immediate entourage seem to be disappointed that Adlai Stevenson does not welcome that type of campaign It must have been tough on Stevenson to call off Truman's whistle-stop oratory while Harry is still in the White House, but anything less dignified than the President of the United States, even though a lame duck, chasing about the country, vulgarizing a campaign for his successor is difficult to imagine.

Because of a lack of party continuity in this country, General Eisenhower's position is also beset with problems. He is new to the opposition, having spent most of his career within the government. To oppose Truman, he may have to disclose official secrets to the possession of which however, the people are really entitled. This could lead to a real debate and might elevate the campaign to high stature. It might even result in an Eisenhower-Acheson decate on certain policies relating to the conquest of Europe, particularly Germany.

If Eisenhower avoids this discussion of high policy, what will his opposition amount to? He may say that Truman tolerated corruption,

HOLLYWOOD, August 23.—Movies have changed since I first started in pictures. I came in on the tail - end of an era. You might even say my entrance was the wind up of the era. Yes, the good old days are gone but in their place are better days and movies that are "Better Than Ever."

Back around 1902 and 1903, when the movie infant first reared its head, it was a novelty. People stepped up and paid their nickles and dimes to see the newborn flickers out of curiosity.

From around 1915 through World War I, the fast - growing, cinematic infant began to swagger a little as it began to realize its potentalities — just as youth begins to feel its "oats" as it reaches teenage. By this time, the novelty of movies had worn off. People no longer bought tickets merely because they were curious about the medium. It was necessary for the people in the industry to find other methods of attracting the public to the box-office. They did it the only way they knew — through the personalities in films. The star system was born in this era and it was the most colorful period in film history.

Tox Mix startled the public with his half - block - long custom built automobile and his fancy - dan dress. Cecil B. DeMille, the greatest showman of them all, produced his first great spectacles during this time, but it wasn't just the quality of his films that made the public buy. They wanted to see the work of a man who had six men follow him around with chairs to shove under him every time he wanted to sit down; a man who stalked around the picture sets in riding boots, carried a megaphone to shout directions through, and boasted other eccentric mannerisms. His "color" whetted the public's curiosity.

Nazimova, the screen's first vamp, startled Hollywood by having a swimming pool built in the shape of the Black Sea. Nita Naldi started a fad by strutting around town with a black panther on a leash. Mack Sennett started the newspaper men scurrying when he had a gold bath tub installed in his office suite.

Director Jimmy Cruze and his wife, Betty Compson, attracted attention when they copied an old Spanish custom and installed a money bowl in their luxurious home, inviting guests to help themselves if in need of a few sheckels. Gloria Swanson's wardrobe became a whetstone for public curiosity as she traveled around the country with a score or more of trunks filled with beautiful gowns. William Farnum kept a couple of ocean - going yachts for his friends to enjoy world cruises in. Lefty Flynn had a six piece Hawaiian orchestra follow him everywhere he went. Valentino, the greatest romantic star of all, introduced men's jewelry with his slave bracelet.

Negro comic Stepin - Fetchit bought two Cadillacs, having one chauffeur - driven car follow him every place he went in the event the one he was driving broke down or ran out of gas. Douglas Fairbanks chartered trains, an ocean-going liner and river boats to take scores of his friends on a trip up the River Nile. And word leaked out that Hollywood glamour girls took champagne baths before dates!

It was a fabulous era, the most colorful of all. Then, talking pictures made their entrance. Talent became a requisite. It took more

Asso ciated Press News Analyst

Allied experts have gone to work on Russia's new five-year plan to see if they can learn anything from it about her future international intentions.

The theory is that the relationship between emphasis on development of heavy industry and that on food and consumer goods contains a clue to whether war of peace is uppermost in Kremlin thinking. Any great shift toward consumer production would be taken immediately as opening the approaches to an East-West settlement.

Well, the figures don't seem to offer much clue when compared with previous Russian accomplishments, and the theory itself is a very limited one.

While a great shift to peaceful production would be truly notable, continued emphasis on heavy industry is less so. Russia has always been an agricultural country. There was and is greater room and greater need for industrial expansion.

This just about cancels the plan figures as clues to policy.

What is known is that, if Russia accomplishes the new goals, she will be about twice as strong, either for war or peace, as she was in 1939. All through the years she has sacrificed consumer needs to preparedness. Even including the recent great spurt in Allied rearmament, Russia probably has spent more on her armed forces, and the establishment of production lines for war, than all the rest of the world put together. She has always devoted a major portion of the national income to it. The Allies cannot know for sure whether the motive is fear of attack or plan for attack, so they prepare for the worst.

One thing seems obvious. The Russian propaganda effort right now is directed not toward a Russian-made war, but toward interference with Allied rearmament.

Allied observers confidently expect them to come up again pretty soon with some high-sounding proposal, like a peace conference. The idea would be to further confuse people who are already worried and confused about the Allied ability to balance its preparedness program against maintenance of living standards which are considered essential unless the cold war is to be lost through infiltration.

Russia is sponsoring plans for at least two great peace demonstrations, one in Vienna and one in China this fall. One will be before and one just at the time of the next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly. A new move in the diplomatic "peace offensive" is expected at the same time. To plan war at the same time would be merely to unnecessarily antagonize all the world's neutrals.

If the Communists were to call off the Korean War, sign an Austrian peace treaty, make democratic changes at home, agree to elections looking toward a unified Germany, slacken their military program or tone down in any way their efforts to create chaos, hatred and division in the world, their peace talk might be considered seriously. As it is, it will just be taken as more of the same.

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK (AP)— Some weeks ago A. P. Cooke, editor and publisher of the weekly Plant City (Fla.) Courier, learned some bad news about one of his readers.

The reader was himself. Should he print the news or keep silent?

Cooke hesitated, then sat down and typed out his regular column, "Just Roaming."

"The word cancer is an ugly word," he began. "It is, to most folks, a cruel word, a despairing word because the very thought of it brings despair to anyone close to one so afflicted.

"I have just been told that I have a cancer in the tissues of the mouth, but I am not despairing.

"You see, medical people say that early detection is half the battle, and medical science has advanced rapidly in the treatment of this affliction."

Editor Cooke recalled wryly how often he, like his readers, had dropped a dime into the little boxes that appear on store counters during the American Cancer Society's annual drive — boxes that say:

"Cancer strikes one of every five."

"I thought — if I ever gave it a thought — that I was one of the other four. But I was wrong.

"I have become a statistic. . . not altogether a pleasant thought . . ."

Cooke then told his readers how a dentist had first noticed the suspicious lump in his mouth, how his doctor had diagnosed it as cancer, and of his intention to fly to New York to see the specialist his own doctor recommended.

"If I can, I will keep you informed . . . meanwhile, good luck and God be with you until we meet again."

On his arrival here Cooke met further bad news. The specialist recommended immediate surgery. Cooke had to make up his mind in 20 minutes whether to be operated on two days later — or wait another week. As he hesitated, the specialist said:

"When your garage is on fire, put it out before it burns up your car."

"Operate," said Cooke. The next day he was in the hospital, and the day after that he was operated on. He spent more than four hours under the knife, required three blood transfusions, but 12 days later he left the hospital.

Today Editor Cooke has a happy ending story for his readers. The stitches are out of his jaw, he feels the surgeon is as optimistic over the results of the operation as he is, and he is on his way home.

Before he and his wife left, I visited with them on a park bench in Greenwich Village.

"I feel as if I had been through a tremendous nightmare," Cooke said. "The hospital code word for my type of operation is 'commando,' and I can truthfully say that after going through it you feel like you're been on a commando raid. But now I feel like I've got a life expectancy of 80."

He expressed gratitude that his own doctor had told him promptly the full truth of his ailment.

"It's a hell of a shock," he said. "But it was almost as hard for my doctor to tell me as it was for me to hear it.

"But I'm glad he did tell me. Pussy-footing . . . bumfoozling. . . . doesn't do any good. It's like the specialist said about your garage. If it's on fire, you want to know it — and do something about it quick."

Cooke is also grateful for many

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— There are two approaches to controlling inflation. One is by price and wage controls. This is the direct approach, which the average consumer and wage earner can understand.

The second approach is through fiscal policy, and here the going really gets rough. It involves such things as supply of money in circulation, regulation of consumer credit, interest rates, degree of government spending, the amount and kinds of taxation.

Regulation of all these things by the government provides indirect controls on inflation.

Some economic theorists believe that the direct controls on inflation are futile. The thing to do, they say, is take off all curbs, let prices and wages go where they will so as to encourage production. Then have a perfectly free market in which competitive over-supply of goods will bring down price levels by overtaking the demand.

This sounds all right in theory. But in practice, where there are acute shortages of basic raw materials, it is frequently impossible for the supply ever to catch up with the demand. Then price controls and rationing may become necessary.

The advocates of the free-market theory insist that all controls are bad, however, and the farthest they will go is to agree to some form of indirect control, seeking to curb inflation by fiscal measures alone.

U. S. experience has been that it is a combination of direct and indirect controls which works best. But it was only during the World War II years that it was possible to get direct and indirect controls coordinated with any degree of effectiveness.

Congress Weakens All Controls

The record of the Korean emergency period, covering the past two years, has been that indirect as well as direct controls over inflation have been steadily weakened by Congress. Also, with the various controls administered by what amounts to a three-headed monster, it has been impossible to make any of them work effectively.

Congress itself has retained control over taxation. Wage and price controls have been given to the Economic Stabilization Agency. Credit controls have been given to the Federal Reserve Board. Furthermore, Congress has resented and limited the power of the President, through his Secretary of the Treasury, to influence Federal Reserve Board actions.

In the new Defense Mobilization law passed in June, Congress even went so far as to end the Federal Reserve Board's authority to regulate consumer credit — in-

The Sinderella Set

Sin has been prevalent since Adam tasted the appleKKKKKK am tasted the apple. Its persistence stems from basic human imperfections. Passion frequently dominates conscience. Moral sentiments are not always as attractive as physical sensations. And temptation often represents a greater force than wisdom . . . There is no voice louder than that of outraged propriety. But the stern truth is many people will publicly condemn what they privately condone. Hence immorality has always been easier to deplore than destroy. Down through the ages prostitution has played a major role in the most ancient conflict: The battle between Good and Evil.

A blight as time-worn as civilization itself is still news—as the current front pages attest. Headlines inspired by vice raids periodically rocket before the public eye, flare briefly and then fade away. Until the next time . . It is safe to assume that the convictions of several individuals will have little effect upon a problem riddled by the deepest social, economic and phychological ramifications. Punitive measures have never been effective. During the 17th Century in Europe, punishment reached barbaric extremes: The noses of prostitutes were amputated.

Every indecency thrives on public complacency and the chicanery of public officials. Harlotry has the dubious distinction of ranking second to gambling as a source of revenue for grafters. The smashing of a Hollywood vice ring recently, disclosed that one-third of its income was utilized for bribery. generalities following vice investigations represent superficial aspects of the problem. It is hardly news to note diseases disseminated by inevitable camp-followers have caused more army casualties than enemy weapons. The peace-time perils in terms of public health alone are equally grim. Authorities estimate that 40 percent of prostitutes are VD carriers.

White slavers snatching girls in the night and carrying them away kicking and screaming is a popular belief that seldom has roots in reality. The brutal truth is most recruits in the army of ill-fame are not drafted—they enlist. Imaginative prospects of excitement and quick bucks are the chief lures. Sinful eyefools are usually disillusioned on both counts. Their careers are brief, hazardous and arduous. The overwhelming majority are left with little more than diseased bodies and ugly memories. Police files indicate there is a direct relationship between prostitution and narcotics. The addicts are lewdies who turn to opiates in a vain effort to make their seamy existence more endurable.

Flesh-peddling is a lucrative, filthy business for unspeakable procurers. A New York investigation in 1936 disclosed one syndicate's annual profits from brothels totaled

IN WASHINGTON

BY CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A presidential campaign in which neither candidate is in the White House is such a novelty — the last one matched Herbert Hoover against Alfred E. Smith in 1928 — that the Democrats, who have been in power during 20 of the intervening 24 years, are still not aware that they have lost the old familiar stage setting.

There is no sounding board in America like the White House, nor any prestige quite comparable to that of the presidency. This year the large percentage of Democrats who sincerely wanted new national leadership from their own ranks have been delighted at the choice of a candidate intent upon remaining as aloof as politically possible from President Truman. But Adlai E. Stevenson, as the campaign progresses will learn that Springfield, Ill., is not Washington and that he has a tremendous selling job to do.

His record as governor of Illinois, while generally regarded as excellent, will advance his chance of election only nominally. He must win for himself that great mass of undecided votes — or at least non - committal votes—which have to be wooed every four years. He must also carry along the New Deal - Fair Deal Democrats without getting too close in his viewpoint and his speeches to President Truman, who is not popular with a great many other Democrats.

So far the electorate has but his two speeches at the Democratic convention on which to judge him. The impression which he made seems to have been generally favorable. But those early generalities do not win elections.

His opponent is a world figure, a man who—as the many newspapers which have endorsed him have said — has almost unparalleled experience in making decisions effecting men and measures. Reports from over the country at this stage are largely limited to the observation that the people know Eisenhower but they don't know Stevenson, and after the fashion of voters sizing up the unknown candidate, they are inclined at this stage to be somewhat skeptical.

In the light of this circumstance, the Eisenhower high command is probably shrewd in seeking to make world peace the big issue of the campaign, because that is the issue on which the general is best grounded. On the other hand political analysts here wonder whether he can convince a majority of voters that a Republican administration can actually make more progress toward that goal than the Democrats.

His principal spokesman on foreign policy, John Foster Dulles, who is considered the most likely choice for secretary of state in the event of the general's election, has been Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's spokesmen in the bi-partisan foreign alignment, both during and since his brief service in the senate. That would indicate that Eisenhower will advocate no general change in foreign policy, besides which he faces a dillema in pledging Republican support for the ways and means he proposes, considering how divided his party has been on the issue in the past.

In that phase of the campaign, Eisenhower will be asking the voters to have faith in his judgment and his experience in foreign affairs at this critical juncture, rather than in the ability of the Republican party to change the world picture. There he should have an advantage over Stevenson, though the latter is expected to promise housecleaning in the state department and — by inference at least — an end to the regime of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

It is probably fortunate for Governor Stevenson that his brief experience in the state department was under Secretary James F. Brynes rather than Acheson and that he was connected more closely with the United Nations than with the departmental organization.

The country's feeling on foreign policy is closely geared to the Korean war, which the next president will be expected to bring to a speedy close, if it has not ended by the time he takes office. The tedious course of the Korean peace negotiations indicates, however, that the Communists are prepared to continue their present course indefinitely, both to tie down U. S. forces in Asia and to train their own combat officers particularly in the air.

Stevenson, his friends believe, is well qualified to discuss foreign policy in general. How importantly the Korean war figures in the thinking of Democratic campaign planners was disclosed on the first day of the Chicago convention when the scholarly Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois delivered a log justification of the Truman record on war. He pointed out that the administration's bill for Korean economic aid was defeated in the house in 1950 by a single Republican vote, that General Eisenhower as chief of staff of the joint chiefs of staff, in 1947 approved the withdrawal of our troops from Korea and that John Foster Dulles proposed and obtained consent to that withdrawal in the United Nations General Assembly.

But the governor is a candidate on his own, without the massive prestige of White House occupancy as his backdrop. He has his campaign to make, and a few blunds would an incumbent of the executive mansion. And Eisenhower is in a position to take advantages of errors by a younger and less experienced opponent.

UNITED STATES POLL

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 23. — A new United States Poll, just completed by Princeton Research Service, shows Adlai Stevenson leading Dwight Eisenhower in the nation's 106 biggest cities from which came the decisive strength of the Democrats in the 1948 "upset" election of Harry Truman.

A cross - section of voters in these 106 cities — all of them over 100,000 in population—were asked: "Right now, which of the two candidates — Stevenson, the Democrat, or Eisenhower, the Republican, do you personally favor for president?" The result:

BIG CITY VOTE, NATIONWIDE

Stevenson, 51.3 per cent
Eisenhower, 44.0 per cent
No Opinion, 4.7 per cent

All those who voted "No opinion" on the question were then asked: "Well, if you had to decide right now, which of the two would be rather see win — the Republican candidate Eisenhower or the Democratic candidate Stevenson?"

Answers to the second question gave Stevenson an additional 2 per cent and Eisenhower 1.1 per cent, with 1.6 per cent still "No opinion" – making up the 4.7 per cent answering "No opinion" on the first question. Combining these results with the vote on the first question, the figures become:

BIG CITY VOTE, NATIONWIDE

Stevenson, 53.3 per cent
Eisenhower, 45.1 per cent
No opinion, 1.6 per cent

Eliminating the undecided group, the vote would be: Stevenson 54.2 per cent and Eisenhower 45.8 per cent of those expressing an opinion.

A comparison of the above figures with big city returns in the 1948 presidential election indicates General Eisenhower now is running 5.8 per cent better in the nation s 106 biggest cities than did Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, when there were four candidates who received more than 1 per cent of the total vote. The 1948 presidential big city returns broke down as follows. Truman 54.2 per cent; Dewey 40.0 per cent; Wallace 4.4 per cent; Thurmond 1.4 per cent.

A comparison of Eisenhower's standing, as indicated by today's United States Poll, with results of five previous elections, shows Eisenhower is running better than any Republican candidate since 1932 with no important splinter parties in the field.

BIG CITY VOTE—PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS 1932-1948

1932	Hoover	38.1%
1936	Landon	30.5%
1940	Willkie	39.3%
1944	Dewey	39.3%
1948	Dewey	40.0%
Today	Eisenhower	45.8%

However, Stevenson's 54.2 per cent of the voters expressing an opinion in today's poll is the same percentage the Democratic candidate and winner — President Truman – had in 1948's result.

The significance of the big city vote this year is underscored by the fact that Dewey and Truman ran neck and neck outside the big cities in 1948. Only four - tenths of one per cent separated them, with Dewey, the leader, having 141,998 more votes.

Here are the Truman - Dewey election returns in 1948 with the big city vote excluded:

COMMUNITIES UNDER 100,000 NATIONWIDE (1948 Election returns

Dewey	15,426,827	47.6%
Truman	13,284,829	47.2%
Others	1,671,196	5.2
Total vote outside big cities	32,382,856

Truman s lead in the big cities was 2,330,331, and so he led Dewey by 2,188,333 in the nation as a whole.

From the above, it can be seen why Eisenhower and Stevenson may be expected to spend considerable time in the nation's big cities between now and November 4.

A new United States Poll report will appear in the Monroe Morning World on Wednesday.

but he cannot say that of Stevenson. Nor is it possible to demand a change unless one specifies a change from what to what.

Sir Ernest Barker, a leading British historian, explains the British attitude toward the opposition, which is well-worth reading here in this country during the 1952 campaign:

". . .General authority, alike for the initiation of legislative measures and for the conduct of executive affairs, is vested in the Prime Minister and his Cabinet. But while we vest in one set of hands the general exercise of active authority, we also provide for balance. Here the King serves our purpose. His existence provides a cover and a dignity, for an opposition to the government, as well as for the government. We speak of His Majesty's Opposition, by which we mean an organized Parliamentary party which is opposed to the government and its policy. His Majesty's Opposition is a regular part of our system: and we have even gone to the length of assigning a regular salary, from the funds of the State, for the Leader of the Opposition who challenges the policy of the government of the State. This may seem paradoxical; but it works . . . "

It is not being suggested here that we ape the British with whom the opposition is as constitutional as the government; yet the fact is that our political concepts are derived from those of England. Experience has established the truism that where only on party exists, a dictatorship evolves; where multi-parties exist, government lacks stability. The most valued virtue of the two party system is that it stimulates debate and criticism and thus serves as a check on government.

The greatest mistake that the Republicans have made since 1944 has been the so-called bipartisan foreign policy. The theory was good, namely that during a war involving foreign policies, many of them secret, the opposition party would cooperate with the party in power. The practice, however, was deceitful. The Republican Party, as a party, was never consulted in advance.

All that the bipartisan foreign policy produced was a stoppage of debate. The opposition party lost one of its principal functions.

tragic-comic sidelights. After nabbing a white slave ring, FBI-chief J. Edgar Hoover received a letter berating him "for displaying a lack of sportsmanship as to interfere with the progress of the honorable profession of harlotry!"

The missive added: "My own group harbors only college and high school graduates. I was in no way coerced into this form of earning a living. Other empioyment did not pay enough to live and dress on decently . . . Naturally, after two years of this, I turned to the only paying profession open to women —prostitution."

Hoover conceded the letter might be a hoax. But he stressed "that the viewpoint represents the outlook of thousands upon thousands of silly girls, and that is what worries me."

Dailies occasionally carry shocking stories about youths involved in sex orgies. It is appalling to realize education does not always have a restraining influence upon the ultimate in stupidity. . .The populace of a mid-western city was stunned some years ago to discover that its bawdy houses were staffed by co-eds "working their way through college!"

Campaigns against commercialized sex are usually hampered and generally defeated by public indifference. What virtuous citizens neglect to realize is that prostitution flourishes when it is firmly entrenched politically. The vice itself, while open to condemnation, becomes insignificant when compared to the widespread crime it breeds. The money that purchases protection for organized prostitution —also protects drug-peddlers and even murderers.

Washington had a unique experience during World War II. The War Dep't decided to establish patrols along streets where women solicited most frequently. Many of the streets were in exclusive residential neighborhoods. Citizens protested against the "embarrassment" of having such patrols near their homes and the plan was junked. The prostitutes were apparently less embarrassing than the forces of Law and Order designed to eliminate them.

Call girls, according to the papers, earned from $200 to $500 a night. They are a rarity in that profession. . . .The testimony of most convicted harlots reveals they average $300 weekly. And after paying off higher-ups—they are left with about $65.

Obviously, the wages of sin are generally a bad bargin financially as well as morally.

Prostitution was largely an individualistic enterprise until the death-knell of Prohibition. The plunderworld then moved in and organized bordellos with ruthless efficiency. Territorial rights were assigned and respected—and obliging corrupt officials barred competitors. Their business-like method is illustrated by the fact that the girls were ordered to punch cards —in order to keep an accurate total of their earnings. . . .Syndicated sex established the crime and corruption pattern on a national scale.

During the early 1930s a prostitute on trial was charged with running "a one-dollar house." She promptly interrupted to announce the accusation was an insult. With as much dignity as she could muster the harlot admitted her rates had dropped from $3 to $1.50.

"That," she explained, "was because of the depression!"

Fanatic reformers constantly demand the eradication of prostitution. Law enforcers, being more realistic, know it is impossible. The best they can hope for is to wage a constant campaign of harassment. . . .Vices are more formidable foes than crimes. They are primarily moral problems motivated by biological urgencies.

City Of Monroe To Open Schools, Teachers Listed

Monroe City Schools will open on September 2, with a teachers' workshop to be held on September 2, 3, 4, from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 a.m. Children will register on September 5, at 8:30 a.m. All children entering kindergarten and first grade must present birth certificates. Those children entering kindergarten this year must have reached their fifth birthday on or before January 2, 1953. Children entering first grade must have reached their sixth birthday on or before January 2, 1953, with the exception of those children who successfully completed kindergarten work in the Monroe City School System in 1951-52.

Listed below are the names of teachers in Monroe City Schools for the session 1952-53:

stallment buying of things like automobiles and household appliances. Federal Reserve Board's previous authority to have banks limit credit by voluntary agreements was also taken away by Congress.

Restrictions on real estate credit for the purchase of new houses were also ended, with the single safeguard that regulations on down payments and time payments might be reimposed if new housing "starts" rise above a rate of 1,200,000 units a year in any three-month period. This is a rate that has seldom been exceeded. So for all practical purposes this control is dead.

At the beginning of the Korean war and the new national defense period, there was considerable public approval for the idea of pay-as-we-go armament. The purpose was to increase taxes to pay for defense. This would make government borrowing unnecessary.

Deficits Bring Calls For Controls

It was also intended to siphon off excess spending power through the imposition of higher taxes. Thus it would be a further indirect curb against inflation.

This idea held for about a year. Then the pressure of the higher taxes themselves, plus the resistance to the high cost of the defense effort, resulted in killing the whole program. The showdown came last January when President Truman asked Congress for an additional $4 billion in federal taxes. Congress approved none.

The result is that the federal government ended its fiscal year on June 30 with a $4 billion deficit, though on a cash basis receipts were only $600 million less than expenditures.

This deficit, less than a billion dollars in the red, is not considered alarming in view of the country's practically full employment and a gross national product of $341 billion for the past fiscal year.

Also, consumer savings are high—$17 billion, or above 7 per cent of income last year and running at the same rate this year. Peop'e are not spending all their money in inflationary buying. Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. Greenwich (Conn.) police distributed leaflets with the following: Don't take candy or rides from strangers; Don't play in lonesome alleys, buildings, etc. If picked up, mark down the license of the car. If you don't have a pencil and are old enough, scratch the number somehow on the roadside. Don't let any stranger touch you. Don't wait or play around public toilets. Don't go with strangers who offer you pay. These simple don'ts have eliminated sex crimes involving children in Greenwich

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. As one father wrote to his son, "The purpose of education is to learn to tell the difference between the important and unimportant." Neurotics have lost or never had this power. Psychologists say neurotics think things important that others think unimportant and vice-versa. William James said education should increase "power of judging." The more you achieve these aims, the more you become an educated person.

Answer to Question No. 3

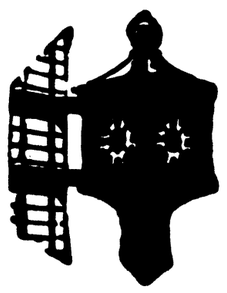

3. Not precisely. Dr. Rudolf Flesch in his brilliant book, "The Art of Clear Thinking," says the most important thing about science is this: "it isn't a search for truth, but a search for error. The scientist lives in a world where truth is unattainable, but where it is always possible to find errors in the long-settled or the obvious. So-called scientific books that are supposed to contain final answers are never scientific. Science is forever self-correcting and changing. What is put forth as gospel truth cannot be science." So—don't take all this column says as "gospel truth."

UNITED STATES POLL

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 23. — A new United States Poll, just completed by Princeton Research Service, shows Adlai Stevenson leading Dwight Eisenhower in the nation's 106 biggest cities from which came the decisive strength of the Democrats in the 1948 "upset" election of Harry Truman.

A cross - section of voters in these 106 cities — all of them over 100,000 in population—were asked: "Right now, which of the two candidates — Stevenson, the Democrat, or Eisenhower, the Republican, do you personally favor for president?" The result:

BIG CITY VOTE, NATIONWIDE

Stevenson, 51.3 per cent
Eisenhower, 44.0 per cent
No Opinion, 4.7 per cent

All those who voted "No opinion" on the question were then asked: "Well, if you had to decide right now, which of the two would be rather see win — the Republican candidate Eisenhower or the Democratic candidate Stevenson?"

Answers to the second question gave Stevenson an additional 2 per cent and Eisenhower 1.1 per cent, with 1.6 per cent still "No opinion" – making up the 4.7 per cent answering "No opinion" on the first question. Combining these results with the vote on the first question, the figures become:

BIG CITY VOTE, NATIONWIDE

Stevenson, 53.3 per cent
Eisenhower, 45.1 per cent
No opinion, 1.6 per cent

Eliminating the undecided group, the vote would be: Stevenson 54.2 per cent and Eisenhower 45.8 per cent of those expressing an opinion.

A comparison of the above figures with big city returns in the 1948 presidential election indicates General Eisenhower now is running 5.8 per cent better in the nation's 106 biggest cities than did Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, when there were four candidates who received more than 1 per cent of the total vote. The 1948 presidential big city returns broke down as follows. Truman 54.2 per cent; Dewey 40.0 per cent; Wallace 4.4 per cent; Thurmond 1.4 per cent.

A comparison of Eisenhower's standing, as indicated by today's United States Poll, with results of five previous elections, shows Eisenhower is running better than any Republican candidate since 1932 with no important splinter parties in the field.

BIG CITY VOTE—PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS 1932-1948

1932	Hoover	38.1%
1936	Landon	30.5%
1940	Willkie	39.3%
1944	Dewey	39.3%
1948	Dewey	40.0%
Today	Eisenhower	45.8%

However, Stevenson's 54.2 per cent of the voters expressing an opinion in today's poll, is the same percentage the Democratic candidate and winner — President Truman – had in 1948's result.

The significance of the big city vote this year is underscored by the fact that Dewey and Truman ran neck and neck outside the big cities in 1948. Only four - tenths of one per cent separated them, with Dewey, the leader, having 141,938 more votes.

Here are the Truman - Dewey election returns in 1948 with the big city vote excluded:

COMMUNITIES UNDER 100,000 NATIONWIDE (1948 Election returns

Dewey	15,426,827	47.6%
Truman	15,284,829	47.2%
Others	1,671,196	5.2
Total vote outside big cities	32,382,856

Truman's lead in the big cities was 2,330,331, and so he led Dewey by 2,188,333 in the nation as a whole.

From the above, it can be seen why Eisenhower and Stevenson may be expected to spend considerable time in the nation's big cities between now and November 4.

A new United States Poll report will appear in the Monroe Morning World on Wednesday.

THESE DAYS

but he cannot say that of Stevenson. Nor is it possible to demand a change unless one specifies a change from what to what.

Sir Ernest Barker, a leading British historian, explains the British attitude toward the opposition, which is well-worth reading here in this country during the 1952 campaign:

". . General authority, alike for the initiation of legislative measures and for the conduct of executive affairs, is vested in the Prime Minister and his Cabinet. But while we vest in one set of hands the general exercise of active authority, we also provide for balance. Here the King serves our purpose. His existence provides a cover and a dignity, for an opposition to the government, as well as for the government. We speak of His Majesty's Opposition, by which we mean an organized Parliamentary party which is opposed to the government and its policy. His Majesty's Opposition is a regular part of our system: and we have even gone to the length of assigning a regular salary, from the funds of the State, for the Leader of the Opposition who challenges the policy of the government of the State. This may seem paradoxical; but it works . . ."

It is not being suggested here that we ape the British with whom the opposition is as constitutional as the government; yet the fact is that our political concepts are derived from those of England. Experience has established the truism that where only on party exists, a dictatorship evolves; where multi-parties exist, government lacks stability. The most valued virtue of the two party system is that it stimulates debate and criticism and thus serves as a check on government.

The greatest mistake that the Republicans have made since 1944 has been the so-called bipartisan foreign policy. The theory was good, namely that during a war involving foreign policies, many of them secret, the opposition party would cooperate with the party in power. The practice, however, was deceitful. The Republican Party, as a party, was never consulted in advance.

All that the bipartisan foreign policy produced was a stoppage of debate. The opposition party lost one of its principal functions.

tragic-comic sidelights. After nabbing a white slave ring, FBI-chief J. Edgar Hoover received a letter berating him "for displaying a lack of sportsmanship as to interfere with the progress of the honorable profession of harlotry!"

The missive added: "My own group harbors only college and high school graduates. I was in no way coerced into this form of earning a living. Other employment did not pay enough to live and dress on decently . . . Naturally, after two years of this, I turned to the only paying profession open to women —prostitution."

Hoover conceded the letter might be a hoax. But he stressed "that the viewpoint represents the outlook of thousands upon thousands of silly girls, and that is what worries me."

Dailies occasionally carry shocking stories about youths involved in sex orgies. It is appalling to realize education does not always have a restraining influence upon the ultimate in stupidity. . .The populace of a mid-western city was stunned some years ago to discover that its bawdy houses were staffed by co-eds "working their way through college!"

Campaigns against commercialized sex are usually hampered and generally defeated by public indifference. What virtuous citizens neglect to realize is that prostitution flourishes when it is firmly entrenched politically. The vice itself, while open to condemnation, becomes insignificant when compared to the widespread crime it breeds. The money that purchases protection for organized prostitution —also protects drug-peddlers and even murderers.

Washington had a unique experience during World War II. The War Dep't decided to establish patrols along streets where women solicited most frequently. Many of the streets were in exclusive residential neighborhoods. Citizens protested against the "embarrassment" of having such patrols near their homes and the plan was junked. The prostitutes were apparently less embarrassing than the forces of Law and Order designed to eliminate them.

Call girls, according to the papers, earned from $200 to $500 a night. They are a rarity in that profession. . .The testimony of most convicted harlots reveals they average $300 weekly. And after paying off higher-ups—they are left with about $65.

Obviously, the wages of sin are generally a bad bargin financially as well as morally.

Prostitution was largely an individualistic enterprise until the death-knell of Prohibition. The plunderworld then moved in and organized bordellos with ruthless efficiency. Territorial rights were assigned and respected—and obliging corrupt officials barred competitors. Their business-like method is illustrated by the fact that the girls were ordered to punch cards —in order to keep an accurate total of their earnings. . ..Syndicated sex established the crime and corruption pattern on a national scale.

During the early 1930s a prostitute on trial was charged with running "a one-dollar house." She promptly interrupted to announce the accusation was an insult. With as much dignity as she could muster the harlot admitted her rates had dropped from $3 to $1.50.

"That," she explained, "was because of the depression!"

Fanatic reformers constantly demand the eradication of prostitution. Law enforcers, being more realistic, know it is impossible. The best they can hope for is to wage a constant campaign of harassment. . ..Vices are more formidable foes than crimes. They are primarily moral problems motivated by biological urgencies.

stallment buying of things like automobiles and household appliances Federal Reserve Board's previous authority to have banks limit credit by voluntary agreements was also taken away by Congress.

Restrictions on real estate credit for the purchase of new houses were also ended, with the single safeguard that regulations on down payments and time payments might be reimposed if new housing "starts" rise above a rate of 1,200,000 units a year in any three-month period. This is a rate that has seldom been exceeded. So for all practical purposes this control is dead.

At the beginning of the Korean war and the new national defense period, there was considerable public approval for the idea of pay-as-we-go armament. The purpose was to increase taxes to pay for defense. This would make government borrowing unnecessary.

Deficits Bring Calls For Controls

It was also intended to siphon off excess spending power through the imposition of higher taxes. Thus it would be a further indirect curb against inflation.

This idea held for about a year. Then the pressure of the higher taxes themselves, plus the resistance to the high cost of the defense effort, resulted in killing the whole program. The showdown came last January when President Truman asked Congress for an additional $4 billion in federal taxes. Congress approved none.

The result is that the federal government ended its fiscal year on June 30 with a $4 billion deficit, though on a cash basis receipts were only $600 million less than expenditures.

This deficit, less than a billion dollars in the red, is not considered alarming in view of the country's practically full employment and a gross national product of $341 billion for the past fiscal year.

Also, consumer savings are high—$17 billion, or above 7 per cent of income last year and running at the same rate this year. People are not spending all their money in inflationary buying. "as time goes on"

Feeling "down in the dumps" the other day, so stepped out on the street for a cup of Cheerio coffee.

Saw a man just in front of me, fairly bouncing along with joy—happy—arms swinging—whistling.

Walked past him and—behold—he had no hands! Two stumps at the wrist—but no hands—no artificals—no nothing. And yet—he was whistling!

And I—two hands — two feet — two eyes — all physical faculties—a home—a savings account — and yet, he—not I—was whistling!

Sparkman Says GOP Would Wreck Social Security

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Aug. 23 (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, the Democratic vice-president nominee, declared tonight Republicans would wreck the social security system, weaken farm price supports and ban low rent public housing.

The Alabama senator, in a speech prepared for delivery at the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association campaign kickoff, said the record of the GOP controlled 80th Congress substantiated those accusations.

Republicans in Congress "would change our social security system by taking protection away from the people—that is what they actually did in the 80th Congress," he asserted.

"They would change our farm price support system by weakening it drastically," Sparkman went on, adding that the 1952 Republican platform indorses a plan "that would actually give the farmer least support when he needs it most."

"They would change our housing program by cutting out low rent housing—they voted against public housing in the 80th Congress and they did it again this spring," Sparkman said.

The vice president nominee called these "typical examples of what the Republicans mean when they say they promise a change."

EIGHTEEN DIE IN TEX. HEAT WAVE

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 23 (AP)—An August heat wave had cost Texas 18 human lives today.

In the slow-burning of crops, it had cost farmers and ranchers at least 68 million dollars.

What it had cost in wasted livestock and seared grass was beyond estimate.

These figures are for August only. Texas has been in a state of drouth for two years, the Soil Conservation Service said, and some parts of West Texas have been suffering for seven years.

It's the worst since the 1917-1918 drouth, said Louis P. Merill, regional director of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service at Fort Worth.

Yesterday Gov. Allan Shivers asked President Truman to declare Texas a drouth disaster area in order that farmers may secure cheaper hay for starving cattle. He did it after getting requests from farmers and ranchers all over the state.

The current heat wave began in earnest the first week in August and has been undaunted by only tantalizing showers that fell in widely scattered points of the state.

Atlantis Is Believed To Be Found

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 23 (AP)—A German clergyman-scientist said today he has found what he believes to be a king's castle and a temple of legendary Atlantis on the bottom of the North Sea off Helgoland.

The Rev. Juergen Spanuth of Bordelum said a diver of his expedition, closely following directions contained in the writings of the ancient Greek philosopher, Plato, descended 30 feet and stood on a man-made wall. Spanuth said this wall apparently encircled the fabled kingdom.

He plans to publish a book about his findings.

Plato, who drew largely on Egyptian legends, said Atlantis was larger than Asia Minor and Libya put together. Spanuth doesn't agree. He thinks Atlantis was only a small island.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says Atlantis was a legendary island in the Atlantic Ocean. It adds Plato describes in his writings how Egyptian priests represented the island as being situated just beyond the pillars of Hercules. These are two promontories at the eastern end of the Strait of Gibraltar.

Spanuth set off last month in a little boat to an area south of Helgoland, off the northwest coast closely fits a description by Plato.

Spanuth said the undersea wall, six to eight feet high, was traced by the diver over a distance of about 900 yards in the area, known to German sailors as the "stone ground."

The diver reported that the wall was built of rectangular stones, seven feet long and three feet high.

BANK ROBBING QUARTET CAUGHT

BROOKHAVEN, Miss., Aug. 23 (AP)—A tight cordon of peace officers encircled and captured four Negroes today accused of robbing the Silver Creek, Miss., State Bank of $5,400.

Two bandits were caught in the act of hiding money. said highway patrol identification chief Andy Hopkins. A third was cornered at a Negro church and the fourth was cut down by police gunfire, critically wounded.

The bank was robbed during a lunch-hour lull yesterday and a swarm of highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies threw up a posse ring and began a systematic squeezing of the area.

Before dawn today officers surprised two men attempting to hide money the officers said was part of the loot.

A third had taken refuge in a country Negro church where he surrendered peacefully to a posse.

The fourth fought a running gun battle with a highway patrolman and a sheriff on U. S. Highway 51, two miles north of Brookhaven.

Hopkins identified the men as Nora Goodwin, 26, Milwaukee, Wis., and Sylvester Goodwin, 30, Chicago, brothers; R. T. Motley, 27, Milwaukee and L. C. Robinson, 27, Chicago.

Hopkins said Motley and the Goodwin brothers had been charged with armed robbery and that Robinson was charged with conspiracy to rob.

About noon yesterday two Negro men walked into the Silver Creek State Bank on the pretense of seeking information. Robert Tolar, assistant cashier and the only person in the bank at the time, said a third Negro entered with a rifle and ordered him to hand over the money.

On signal of the third Negro, one of the two talking with Tolar pulled a revolver and the trio swiftly robbed the bank of $5,400 and escaped. Witnesses said a fourth man was waiting in an automobile outside the bank and drove the getaway car.

Sylvester Goodwin and a younger brother, 17-year-old Amiel Goodwin, who lives near Brookhaven, were wounded in the gunfight with officers. Hopkins said Amiel Goodwin was shot in the right arm and Sylvester "has a number of bullet wounds."

Amiel Goodwin was charged with aiding the escape of fugitives. Hopkins said the youth was not present when the bank was robbed.

Writer Dies At 51

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 23 (AP)—Dr. Douglas L. Hunt, 51, editorial writer for the Birmingham News and former English professor, died today of complications which followed an operation.

Dr. Hunt underwent a stomach operation Aug. 11. He had been critically ill for a week.

He came to Birmingham in 1928 as professor of English at Birmingham - Southern College, later joining the News as an editorial writer.

Two Killed In Auto Crackup

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Aug. 23 (AP)—A freak automobile accident killed two Marion County men today and injured a third when their car turned over two or more times and landed upright.

Two women in the car were not injured.

Highway patrolman H. A. Murphy said the accident happened five miles west of here. He identified the dead as Earl J. Padgett, 29, Columbia, and Buster D. Price, 23, of near Foxworth. He said the injured man was Virgil Poole, 27, of Foxworth. Poole received brush burns.

Murphy said Eva Lois Gale and Dorothy Breaden, both of Columbus, the other occupants of the car, were not injured.

Murphy said one of the women told him the car turned over two or more times, throwing Padgett and Price into the road.

Trainmen Endorse Democratic Ticket

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen endorsed the Democratic ticket of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman today.

W. P. Kennedy, president of the union, released a telegram sent to the Democratic nominees for president and vice-president which said the action carries out the unanimous recommendation of the union's legislative representatives.

Those officials from every state met in Washington this week.

"As president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and as grand counsellor of its ladies auxiliary, representing more than a quarter million voters, I have the honor to advise that you . . . have been endorsed for president and vice-president of the United States," the telegram said.

Says Frozen Turkeys 'Stuffed' With Water

WASHINGTON Aug. 23 (AP)—A Food and Drug Administration official told today about the breakup of a scheme by which he said frozen turkeys were "pumped up" with water and retail dealers lost money when the bird thawed and the water ran out.

Consumer didn't lose much money, he said, because they generally bought the turkeys after the thaw and run-off. But flavor and other qualities of the meat drained out with the water, he said.

The official, asking not to be quoted by name, said about 50,000 pounds of the turkeys, each bird injected with an average of a quart of water, were shipped by two Chicago firms to Cincinnati and Cleveland.

A Cincinnati poultry dealer complained when he thawed the birds for the convenience of his hotel and restaurant customers, saying he lost about 2½ pounds on each turkey.

BREARD TO JOIN N. L. S. C. STAFF

Native Monroyan To Join College Faculty Here

Sylvester Breard has been appointed to the speech faculty at Northeast State, with duties to begin this fall, President Lewis C. Slater announced Saturday.

It will be homecoming for Breard, a native of Monroe, who attended the local institution when it was a junior college. During this time he gained recognition in Little Theatre circles, both in acting and back stage work. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Breard of this city.

During the last school year, Breard was employed at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg, as instructor of speech and assistant director of the speech and hearing clinic.

His study at Northeast Junior College was followed by two years of service in the U. S. Air Force. Then he enrolled at State University where he received both the B. A. and M. A. degrees.

At the University he held a theatre assistantship from 1949-50 and a graduate school assistantship the following year. These positions gave opportunity for considerable practical experience in general and technical aspects of the speech and drama fields. Breard also participated in numerous workshop plays and major productions, including two operas.

The subject of his master's thesis was "The Early Motion Pictures in New Orleans."

Honorary speech organizations in which he holds membership include; Speech Association of America, Alpha Epsilon Rho, and Tau Delta Tau.

King George IV of England, while Prince of Wales, rode in and won 185 horse races, one of which was the English Derby.

SPORTS WHIP INDIANS; MILLERS HERE TODAY

MONROE THUMPS NATCHEZ, 3 TO 1, TO MAINTAIN TIE

Jacobs Scores 19th Win On 6-Hitter; Weber Homers

Hanging on in the down-to-the wire drive for a place in the Cotton States League playoffs, the Monroe Sports last night made a sweep of their two-game series with Natchez by tripping the Indians, 3 to 1, to maintain a fourth place tie with the El Dorado Oilers and only three more games to go.

The Oilers kept pace by taking a second straight from the Meridian Millers who move into Monroe today for a two-game stand. The Sports face the Millers this afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tomorrow night. El Dorado, opening a two-game set with Natchez today, closes out the season in a single game with the Sports here Tuesday night.

Otis Jacobs kept the Indians under control with a six-hitter last night, but three of those blows were collected by Don Allen, Redskin first baseman, to keep him ahead of Monroe's John Paul Jones in the race for the league batting championship. Jones collected two of Monroe's eight hits off loser Dick Thompson.

It was the nineteenth victory for Jacobs who has lost 12. Thompson, a 13-game winner, lost his ninth.

A double by Manager Charley Harrington, singles by Ray Rogers and Bobby Weber, coupled with a couple of El Dorado boots, brought the Sports all the runs they needed in the third inning, but Weber gave the fans plenty to howl about in the eighth with a blast into right field that went for an inside-the-park homer. Hal Walther, the former Monroe outfielder now in right field for the Tribe, wheeled to go for the ball and fell down. Walther was hardly on his feet good when he stumbled again. Weber easily made it all the way while red-faced Walther was drawing hoots from most of the 1,422 customers in attendance.

One of the game's most remarkable plays was turned in by Pat Saviano for the Sports in the eighth inning. Saviano had broke into the lineup only an inning before in a shifting of Monroe assignments when Catcher Rogers became overheated. Thompson was on first base with one out as the Indians showed possibilities of a rally with the head of the batting order in action. Gene Harvey sent a low liner sinking for what looked like a sure hit into right field, but Saviano came charging fast to scoop up the ball on the withered grass tops for the out. Thompson had headed for second, and Saviano quickly threw for first for the double play and the end of the threat. Natchez went down in order in the ninth.

Singles by Don Allen and Howell Walters, a sacrifice by Glen Adkins and a passed ball that scored Allen gave the Indians the first run of the game in the second inning.

Monroe went ahead with two in the third. Charley Harrington rifled a double along the left field foul line and went on to third when George Escopio let the ball get away. A single by Ray Rogers scored Harrington. Bobby Weber beat out a bunt to Adkins at third. Adkins threw in the dirt past first and Rogers came all the way home on the error.

40 Year Wait For Golf Title

SEATTLE, Aug. 23 (AP)—A moment he has been dreaming of for nigh onto 40 years arrived this afternoon for quiet Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., on the sun-washed first tee of the Seattle Golf Club.

From the hands of Totten P. Heffelfinger, president of the United States Golf Association, he accepted the tall gold trophy which is the coveted emblem of the nation's amateur championship.

"You'll never know," Heffelfinger told the 47-year-old insurance man, "what an inspiration you have been to us old coots."

For a man who is running for Congres in his home district, Westland was very reserved in the talk he made to his friends in the crowded gallery of nearly 10,000 golf fans.

"I was lucky," he said, "to beat a fellow like Al Mengert, a great competitor. This is a day I've dreamed about since I was 8 years old."

Many a par has clicked from the clubs of this man with the satiny swing between the day he was 8 and the moment he beat the youthful Mengert, 3 and 2, for the top prize in amateur golf.

He came close long ago. It was so long ago when he lost to Francis Ouimet in the 1931 finals that Mengert was only 2 years old. After that Jack slipped from the National spotlight, but always was a factor in Northwest golf, winning the regional amateur title four times.

During the war he was a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy aboard the Carrier Independence and put his golfing ability to good use.

Attaching a piece of string to a golf ball, he would drive the pellet across to a tanker so the refueling line could be hauled in. Targeting an immovable golf green became a small problem for a man who had poked a ball aboard a moving ship through a sharp cross wind.

A's Elmer Valo Crashes Wall

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP)—Outfielder Elmer Valo of Philadelphia was removed to the Graduate Hospital for an x-ray examination of his left wrist, injured today while chasing Don Lenhardt's fly ball in the sixth inning of the game with St. Louis.

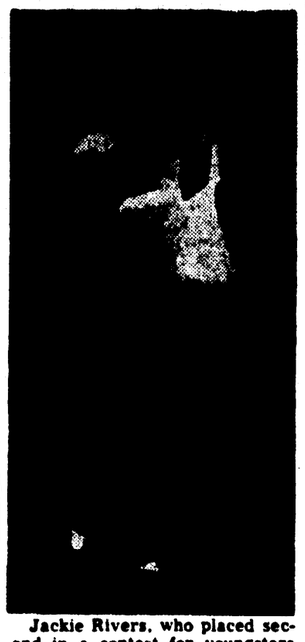

Valo crashed into the retaining wall alongside the field boxes near the right field foul line. As Valo laid prone on the ground, Lenhardt circled the bases for an inside-the-park home run.

Second baseman Cass Michaels finally retrieved the ball in the right field bullpen, but Lenhardt beat the relay threw to the plate.

Valo was able to leave the field under his own power. He suffered bruises to his left arm and the side of his head in addition to the wrist injury.

All the major crops grown in the United States are of foreign origin. Corn and tobacco were brought here by the Indians from South America, while pioneer settlers from Europe brought in our hay and cereal crops.

Moreau Decisions Jones In Semi-Final At Bastrop

BASTROP, Aug. 23 — (Special) —In a scheduled ten-round main event at Bastrop Saturday night, Norris Ray of Bastrop knocked out Joe Sultan of Monroe in one minute, ten seconds of the first round. In the abbreviated battle, Ray scored a nine-count knockdown of Sultan in the first round prior to the finishing blow.

The six-round semi-final saw "Cookie" Moreau of Oak Grove decisioning James "Bones" Jones who hails from Monroe.

The two four-round prelims found Charles Whitaker of Bastrop decisioning "Killer" Dearing of Houston, Tex.; and Earl Pardon of Oak Grove scored a TKO in one minute, 40 seconds of the third round over Harold Sanders of Bastrop. The first prelim though going to a decision, was a crowd-pleaser, three knockdowns being scored.

Dallas Eagles' Owner Objects

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 23 (AP) — Owner Dick Burnett of the Texas League Dallas Eagles today charged the Major Leagues with violating contracts and rules in maintaining a monopoly over minor league baseball.

Burnett's charges were contained in a 17-page statement which he planned to mail early next week to presidents of every minor league club, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, and George Trautman, President of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (The Minors).

Burnett also declared that if corrective measures are not taken, independent owners of Minor League clubs "will be left with no alternative except to file an appropriate proceedings in the courts."

His statement also will be sent to "eight or nine Major League owners," Burnett said.

The Dallas owner charged that the Major Leagues, through their elaborate farm system, have been in steady violation of Rule Two of their own rules of operation, which states in part:

"Since the supply of skilled players is not equal to the demand, no club shall have title to or under its control at any one time more than 40 players on whose services a club reserves an option to recall shall count in the 40 limit."

Burnett also declared they violated an agreement between the Major and Minor Leagues. Rule two of the agreement, in part, provides:

"Since the supply of skilled players is not equal to the demand, the Major Leagues shall strictly observe their own rule imposing a limitation upon the number of players in their clubs."

Greenwood's John Forizs 'Rookie Of Year' In C. S. L.; Nelson Daehn 2nd

Five Others Get Consideration In Poll Of Writers

MERIDIAN, Miss. Aug. 23 — (Special) — John Forizs, 20-year-old righthanded fireballer with the Brooklyn Dodgers farm club at Greenwood, has been named the Cotton States "Rookie of the Year."

The announcement came Saturday from Billy Ray, sports editor of the Meridian Star and president of the Cotton States Sports Writers Association, who compiled votes cast by the loops sports writers.

Running a close second was Nelson Bernard (Nellie) Daehn, 22-year-old hustling center fielder with the Monroe Sports.

Forizs hails from Stratford, Connecticut and while with the third place Dodgers this year has won 19 games and lost eight, has pitched in 207 1-3 innings, giving up 133 hits for 65 runs, only 49 being earned, issued just 120 bases on balls, leads the league in strikeouts with 240, and has three shutouts to his credit.

Other "rookies" receiving mention were Marty Devlin, Greenwood, third baseman; George Garcia, Greenville pitcher; George Bielik, El Dorado pitcher; Jim Snyder, Pine Bluff second baseman; and George Foster, Meridian second baseman.

Cotton States sports writers participating in the poll besides Ray were Herman Moore, Natchez Times; Maurice Moore, Hot Springs New Era - Sentinel Record; Norman Matthews, Natchez Democrat; Bob Hays, El Dorado New-Times; Adren Cooper, Pine Bluff Commercial; Virgil Adams, Greenwood Morning Star; Paul Martin, Monroe News-Star-World; Delta Democrat-Times.

OILERS TRIP MILLERS

El Dorado, Ark., Aug. 23 (AP)— The El Dorado Oilers took their second straight victory from the Meridian Millers, 7-5, tonight, but the victory was a costly one.

The Oilers saw their chances for gaining a play-off spot in the Cotton States League grow dim as their winningest pitcher, rookie George Bielik suffered a broken wrist. Bielik collided with El Dorado first baseman Ed Whitney during pre-game practice. The rookie had won 16 and lost seven this year.

Another rookie, Bob Ford, pitched and batted the Oilers to victory.

NATIONAL TENNIS OPENING FRIDAY

Star-Studded Field Out To Stop Sedgman, Connolly

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)— Frank Sedgman, Australia's curly-haired killer of the courts, and 17-year-old Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., open defense of their National Tennis Championship Friday against a star-studded field from eight nations.

Both are heavily favored to repeat singles triumphs in the ten-day elimination grind on the Kelly green grass courts of the West Side Tennis Club.

Sedgman, who won at Wimbledon and who has added to his silverware collection in the eastern preparatory tournaments, will draw the No. 1 foreign seeding among ranking racquet men from the United States, Australia, Great Britain, Denmark, Japan, Canada, Chile and Mexico.

America's hopes of recapturing the title carried out of the country last year for the first time since 1936 rest with Vic Seixas, 28-year-old Philadelphia volleying wizard, and Richard Savitt, the unpredictable giant from Orange, N. J.

As the No. 1 and No. 2 ranking players in the United States, Seixas and Savitt are sure to draw that rating in the domestic seeding next week.

The draw will be made Wednesday at a mid town hotel. Ed Baker of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association said it was still impossible to determine the size of the select field. Applications, he said have been the heaviest in history.

The blonde, powerful-stroking Miss Connolly, one of the youngest ever to win the women's crown, will top the pairings on the distaff side with the strongest opposition expected from Doris Hart, slender stylist from Jacksonville, Fla., and Louise Brough, 1947 champion from Beverly Hills, Calif.

Miss Brough defeated the youthful champion this spring in the Southern California championships and Miss Hart upset "Little Mo" in the semi-finals of the Eastern Grass Court Tournament recently at Orange, N. J.

However, Miss Connolly won the "big one" when she polished off Miss Brough in straight sets in the women's final at Wimbledon.

Sedgman and his tall Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, have been so dominant in major tennis tests this summer that an all-Australian final appears not unlikely.

It was Seixas who went to the finals against Sedgman in last year's tournament and the Philadelphian was polished off quickly, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

Young Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, who carried the Australian ace to five sets in the quarter-finals, is not expected to compete. He is on duty with the navy.

Other main American threats will be Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills; Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.; Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Billy Trabert of New York.

Australia will be represented with its entire Davis Cup squad. Left-handed Mervyn Rose is a third leading Aussie contender.

Army Dismisses Civilian Baseball Recruiter

FORT MEADE, Md., Aug. 23 (AP) —Second Army Headquarters said today it had abolished the job of A. B. Vanderweghe, a civilian employee at Ft. Eustis, Va., because of his campaign to recruit baseball players into the army with promises of a good assignment.

Second Army said its ordered Vanderweghe's job abolished after conducting an investigation.

A spokesman said he understood Vanderweghe sent out about 16 letters from the Ft. Eustis special Services Office on May 13 to colleges and major league ball clubs.

The gist of the letter was that when a man is drafted he has to take his chances on the kind of duty he will get in the army but if he enlists there is a good chance it can be arranged to get him on an Army baseball team with a good military assignment.

The Second Army spokesman said this is in violation of the Army's policy against arranging special treatment for a soldier because he is a ball player.

Michigan Rider Takes Motorcycle Championship

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Paul Goldsmith, St. Claire Shores, Mich. today won the 15-mile American Motorcycle Association championship at State Fair Park.

Never better than fourth until the final lap, Goldsmith finished in 14 minutes, 6.00 second. The race actually was a 19 mile one as four laps were run under the caution flag after Billy Huber of Reading, Pa., fell on the 11th lap. Huber was not injured.

Ernie Beckman, Battle Creek, Mich. took second with Don Hawley, Inglewood Calif., third. Bill Tuman of Rockford, Ill., was fourth.

Bob Hill, Columbus, O., the defending champion and heavy favorite, was fifth.

ADD TWO RACES TO AUTO EVENT

Stock Cars Will Run Again Today On Shreveport Oval

SHREVEPORT, La., AUG. 23 (Special) — Two additional races have been added to the Sunday modified stock car races here, according to Promoter Claud Crenshaw, the hot-shot driver from Monroe, who will be offering his third production for automobile racing fans of this area at the Fair Grounds oval.

Crenshaw, in handling the races here the last two Sundays, gave the customers plenty of excitement, and two races resulted in spills galore and lots of excitement.

The additional events tomorrow include a race strictly for Shreveport cars, and the other will be exclusively for the out-of-town talent. Cars from Monroe, Lake Charles, Beaumont, Houston, and Dallas will race in the scramble of out-of-towners.

Crenshaw holds the fastest time trial mark here, set two weeks ago with a speed of 30.9 seconds for the five eighths of a mile oval. The excellent condition of the track has fans and contestants looking for new marks.

Time trials start tomorrow at 1 o'clock with the races due to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Winners last Sunday included Bruce Raines, driving No. 20, first in heat and semi-final races; Crenshaw, in his No. 13, won the second race; Woody Ramsey, No. 3, consolation winner; "Red" Dowdy No. 5, won the fifth race, a five-lap event for the four fastest cars of the day; and L. C. Ross, No. 101, hauled down the feature.

Hunt and Whitaker at Eureka. (Double headers to be played if necessary to determine finalists.)

The second game of the Delta League title playoff between West Monroe and Eros is to be played at Chatham, at 2:30 p.m. In the event Eros wins, a third game will be necessary and will be played immediately following the first fray. West Monroe batteries will be Robert Bennett or Albert Donald pitching, and Larry Barnes catching.

De Fazio-Flanagan Bout In Cleveland Sept. 3rd.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23 (AP)—De Flanagan, clever Minneapolis welterweight, and Ted De Fazio of Bayonne, N. J. will fight here Sept. 3 in a nationally televised bout, it was announced today.

The meeting in Cleveland Arena will be the third for the two fighters, the first ending in a draw and Flanagan taking the second on a split decision.

Unless the Cleveland Indians-Detroit Tigers baseball game that night is rained out or ends early the fight will not be televised locally. Station WXEL, the local CBS outlet for Wednesday night bouts, gives precedence to baseball.

Promoter Larry Atkins said he plans to have two other ten-rounders and three preliminary fights on the card.

Flanagan scored a technical knockout over Danny Stepanovic of Pittsburgh here 10 days ago. The bout was halted when the Pittsburgh battler suffered a deep cut over one of his eyes.

SNEAD LEADS IN BRAZIL

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 23 (AP) —Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., equalled the Anterior Club record today as he shot 15 holes in 64 strokes to take the half-way lead in the Brazilian Open Golf Tournament with a 36 hole total of 135.

The sub-par performance gave Snead a one-stroke lead over Ricardo Rossi. Antonio Cerda was third with 137.

The tournament ends tomorrow with 36 holes of play.

SPORTS WHIP INDIANS; MILLERS HERE TODAY

MONROE THUMPS NATCHEZ, 3 TO 1, TO MAINTAIN TIE

Jacobs Scores 19th Win On 6-Hitter; Weber Homers

Hanging on in the down-to-the wire drive for a place in the Cotton States League playoffs, the Monroe Sports last night made a sweep of their two-game series with Natchez by tripping the Indians, 3 to 1, to maintain a fourth place tie with the El Dorado Oilers and only three more games to go.

The Oilers kept pace by taking a second straight from the Meridian Millers who move into Monroe today for a two-game stand. The Sports face the Millers this afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tomorrow night. El Dorado, opening a two-game set with Natchez today, closes out the season in a single game with the Sports here Tuesday night.

Otis Jacobs kept the Indians under control with a six-hitter last night, but three of those blows were collected by Don Allen, Redskin first baseman, to keep him ahead of Monroe's John Paul Jones in the race for the league batting championship. Jones collected two of Monroe's eight hits off loser Dick Thompson.

It was the nineteenth victory for Jacobs who has lost 12. Thompson, a 13-game winner, lost his ninth.

A double by Manager Charley Harrington, singles by Ray Rogers and Bobby Weber, coupled with a couple of El Dorado boots, brought the Sports all the runs they needed in the third inning, but Weber gave the fans plenty to howl about in the eighth with a blast into right field that went for an inside-the-park homer. Hal Walther, the former Monroe outfielder now in right field for the Tribe, wheeled to go for the ball and fell down. Walther was hardly on his feet good when he stumbled again. Weber easily made it all the way while red-faced Walther was drawing hoots from most of the 1,422 customers in attendance.

One of the game's most remarkable plays was turned in by Pat Saviano for the Sports in the eighth inning. Saviano had broke into the lineup only an inning before in a shifting of Monroe assignments when Catcher Rogers became overheated. Thompson was on first base with one out as the Indians showed possibilities of a rally with the head of the batting order in action. Gene Harvey sent a low liner sinking for what looked like a sure hit into right field, but Saviano came charging fast to scoop up the ball on the withered grass tops for the out. Thompson had headed for second, and Saviano quickly threw for first for the double play and the end of the threat. Natchez went down in order in the ninth.

Singles by Don Allen and Howell Walters, a sacrafice by Glen Adkins and a passed ball that scored Allen gave the Indians the first run of the game in the second inning.

Monroe went ahead with two in the third. Charley Harrington rifled a double along the left field foul line and went on to third when George Escopio let the ball get away. A single by Ray Rogers scored Harrington. Bobby Weber beat out a bunt to Adkins at third. Adkins threw in the dirt past first and Rogers came all the way home on the error.

40 Year Wait For Golf Title

SEATTLE, Aug. 23 (AP)—A moment he has been dreaming of for nigh onto 40 years arrived this afternoon for quiet Jack Westland of Everett, Wash., on the sun-washed first tee of the Seattle Golf Club.

From the hands of Totten P. Heffelfinger, president of the United States Golf Association, he accepted the tall gold trophy which is the coveted emblem of the nation's amateur championship.

"You'll never know," Heffelfinger told the 47-year-old insurance man, "what an inspiration you have been to us old coots."

For a man who is running for Congres in his home district, Westland was very reserved in the talk he made to his friends in the crowded gallery of nearly 10,000 golf fans.

"I was lucky," he said, "to beat a fellow like Al Mengert, a great competitor. This is a day I've dreamed about since I was 8 years old."

Many a par has clicked from the clubs of this man with the satiny swing between the day he was 8 and the moment he beat the youthful Mengert, 3 and 2, for the top prize in amateur golf.

He came close long ago. It was so long ago when he lost to Francis Ouimet in the 1931 finals that Mengert was only 2 years old. After that Jack slipped from the National spotlight, but always was a factor in Northwest golf, winning the regional amateur title four times.

During the war he was a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy aboard the Carrier Independence and put his golfing ability to good use.

Attaching a piece of string to a golf ball, he would drive the pellet across to a tanker so the refueling line could be hauled in. Targeting an immovable golf green became a small problem for a man who had poked a ball aboard a moving ship through a sharp cross wind.

A's Elmer Valo Crashes Wall

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP)—Outfielder Elmer Valo of Philadelphia was removed to the Graduate Hospital for an x-ray examination of his left wrist, injured today while chasing Don Lenhardt's fly ball in the sixth inning of the game with St. Louis.

Valo crashed into the retaining wall alongside the field boxes near the right field foul line. As Valo laid prone on the ground, Lenhardt circled the bases for an inside-the-park home run.

Second baseman Cass Michaels finally retrieved the ball in the right field bullpen, but Lenhardt beat the relay throw to the plate.

Valo was able to leave the field under his own power. He suffered bruises to his left arm and the side of his head in addition to the wrist injury.

Dallas Eagles' Owner Objects

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 23 (AP) — Owner Dick Burnett of the Texas League Dallas Eagles today charged the Major Leagues with violating contracts and rules in maintaining a monopoly over minor league baseball.

Burnett's charges were contained in a 17 - page statement which he planned to mail early next week to presidents of every minor league club, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, and George Trautman, President of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (The Minors).

Burnett also declared that if corrective measures are not taken, independent owners of Minor League clubs "will be left with no alternative except to file an appropriate proceedings in the courts."

His statement also will be sent to "eight or nine Major League owners," Burnett said.

The Dallas owner charged that the Major Leagues, through their elaborate farm system, have been in steady violation of Rule Two of their own rules of operation, which states in part:

"Since the supply of skilled players is not equal to the demand, no club shall have title to or under its control at any one time more than 40 players on whose services a club reserves an option to recall shall count in the 40 limit."

Burnett also declared they violated an agreement between the Major and Minor Leagues. Rule two of the agreement, in part, provides:

"Since the supply of skilled players is not equal to the demand, the Major Leagues shall strictly observe their own rule imposing a limitation upon the number of players in their clubs."

Greenwood's John Forizs 'Rookie Of Year' In C. S. L; Nelson Daehn 2nd

Five Others Get Consideration In Poll Of Writers

MERIDIAN, Miss. Aug. 23 — (Special) — John Forizs, 20-year-old righthanded fireballer with the Brooklyn Dodgers farm club at Greenwood, has been named the Cotton States "Rookie of the Year."

Running a close second was Nelson Bernard (Nellie) Daehn, 22-year-old hustling center fielder with the Monroe Sports.

Forizs hails from Stratford, Connecticut and while with the third place Dodgers this year has won 19 games and lost eight, has pitched in 207 1-3 innings, giving up 133 hits for 65 runs, only 49 being earned, issued just 120 bases on balls, leads the league in strikeouts with 240, and has three shutouts to his credit.

Other "rookies" receiving mention were Marty Devlin, Greenwood, third baseman; George Garcia, Greenville pitcher; George Bielik, El Dorado pitcher; Jim Snyder, Pine Bluff second baseman; and George Foster, Meridian second baseman.

Cotton States sports writers participating in the poll besides Ray were Herman Moore, Natchez Times; Maurice Moore, Hot Springs New Era - Sentinel Record; Norman Matthews, Natchez Democrat; Bob Hays, El Dorado New-Times; Adren Cooper, Pine Bluff Commercial; Virgil Adams, Greenwood Morning Star; Paul Martin, Monroe News-Star-World; Delta Democrat-Times.

El Dorado, Ark., Aug. 23 (AP)— The El Dorado Oilers took their second straight victory from the Meridian Millers, 7-5, tonight, but the victory was a costly one.

The Oilers saw their chances for gaining a play-off spot in the Cotton States League grow dim as their winningest pitcher, rookie George Bielik suffered a broken wrist. Bielik collided with El Dorado first baseman Ed Whitney during pre-game practice. The rookie had won 16 and lost seven this year.

Another rookie, Bob Ford, pitched and batted the Oilers to victory.

NATIONAL TENNIS OPENING FRIDAY

Star-Studded Field Out To Stop Sedgman, Connolly

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)— Frank Sedgman, Australia's curly - haired killer of the courts, and 17 - year - old Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., open defense of their National Tennis Championship Friday against a star - studded field from eight nations.

Both are heavily favored to repeat singles triumphs in the ten-day elimination grind on the Kelly green grass courts of the West Side Tennis Club.

Sedgman, who won at Wimbledon and who has added to his silverware collection in the eastern preparatory tournaments, will draw the No. 1 foreign seeding among ranking racquet men from the United States, Australia, Great Britain, Denmark, Japan, Canada, Chile and Mexico.

America's hopes of recapturing the title carried out of the country last year for the first time since 1936 rest with Vic Seixas, 28 - year - old Philadelphia volleying wizard, and Richard Savitt, the unpredictable giant from Orange, N. J.

As the No. 1 and No. 2 ranking players in the United States, Seixas and Savitt are sure to draw that rating in the domestic seeding next week.

The draw will be made Wednesday at a mid town hotel. Ed Baker of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association said it was still impossible to determine the size of the select field. Applications, he said have been the heaviest in history.

The blonde, powerful - stroking Miss Connolly, one of the youngest ever to win the women's crown, will top the pairings on the distaff side with the strongest opposition expected from Doris Hart, slender stylist from Jacksonville, Fla., and Louise Brough, 1947 champion from Beverly Hills, Calif.

Miss Brough defeated the youthful champion this spring in the Southern California championships and Miss Hart upset "Little Mo" in the semi - finals of the Eastern Grass Court Tournament recently at Orange, N. J.

However, Miss Connolly won the "big one" when she polished off Miss Brough in straight sets in the women's final at Wimbledon.

Sedgman and his tall Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, have been so dominant in major tennis tests this summer that an all-Australian final appears not unlikely.

It was Seixas who went to the finals against Sedgman in last year's tournament and the Philadelphian was polished off quickly, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

Young Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, who carried the Australian ace to five sets in the quarter-finals, is not expected to compete. He is on duty with the navy.

Other main American threats will be Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills; Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.; Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Billy Trabert of New York.

Australia will be represented with its entire Davis Cup squad. Left - handed Mervyn Rose is a third leading Aussie contender.

Army Dismisses Civilian Baseball Recruiter

FORT MEADE, Md., Aug. 23 (AP) —Second Army Headquarters said today it had abolished the job of A. B. Vanderweghe, a civilian employee at Ft. Eustis, Va., because of his campaign to recruit baseball players into the army with promises of a good assignment.

Second Army said its ordered Vanderweghe's job abolished after conducting an investigation.

A spokesman said he understood Vanderweghe sent out about 16 letters from the Ft. Eustis special Services Office on May 13 to colleges and major league ball clubs.

The gist of the letter was that when a man is drafted he has to take his chances on the kind of duty he will get in the army but if he enlists there is a good chance it can be arranged to get him on an Army baseball team with a good military assignment.

The Second Army spokesman said this is in violation of the Army's policy against arranging special treatment for a soldier because he is a ball player.

Michigan Rider Takes Motorcycle Championship

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Paul Goldsmith, St. Claire Shores, Mich. today won the 15 - mile American Motorcycle Association championship at State Fair Park.

Never better than fourth until the final lap, Goldsmith finished in 14 minutes, 6.09 second. The race actually was a 19 mile one as four laps were run under the caution flag after Billy Huber of Reading, Pa., fell on the 11th lap. Huber was not injured.

Ernie Beckman, Battle Creek, Mich. took second with Don Hawley, Inglewood Calif., third. Bill Tuman of Rockford, Ill., was fourth

Bob Hill, Columbus, O., the defending champion and heavy favorite, was fifth.

ADD TWO RACES TO AUTO EVENT

Stock Cars Will Run Again Today On Shreveport Oval

SHREVEPORT, La., AUG. 24 (Special) — Two additional races have been added to the Sunday modified stock car races here, according to Promoter Claud Crenshaw, the hot-shot driver from Monroe, who will be offering his third production for automobile racing fans of this area at the Fair Grounds oval.

Crenshaw, in handling the races here the last two Sundays, gave the customers plenty of excitement, and two races resulted in spills galore and lots of excitement.

The additional events tomorrow include a race strictly for Shreveport cars, and the other will be exclusively for the out-of-town talent. Cars from Monroe, Lake Charles, Beaumont, Houston, and Dallas will race in the scramble of out-of-towners.

Crenshaw holds the fastest time trial mark here, set two weeks ago with a speed of 30.9 seconds for the five eighths of a mile oval. The excellent condition of the track has fans and contestants looking for new marks.

Time trials start tomorrow at 1 o'clock with the races due to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

De Fazio-Flanagan Bout In Cleveland Sept. 3rd.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23 (AP)—Del Flanagan, clever Minneapolis welterweight, and Ted De Fazio of Bayonne, N. J. will fight here Sept. 3 in a nationally televised bout, it was announced today.

The meeting in Cleveland Arena will be the third for the two fighters, the first ending in a draw and Flanagan taking the second on a split decision.

Unless the Cleveland Indians—Detroit Tigers baseball game that night is rained out or ends early, the fight will not be televised locally. Station WXEL, the local CBS outlet for Wednesday night bouts, gives precedence to baseball.

Promoter Larry Atkins said he plans to have two other ten-rounders and three preliminary fights on the card.

Flanagan scored a technical knockout over Danny Stepanovich of Pittsburgh here 10 days ago. The bout was halted when the Pittsburgh battler suffered a deep cut over one of his eyes.

SNEAD LEADS IN BRAZIL

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 23 (AP) —Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., equalled the Anterior Club record today as he shot 18 holes in 64 strokes to take the half-way lead in the Brazilian Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole total of 135.

The sub-par performance gave Snead a one-stroke lead over Ricardo Rossi. Antonio Cerda was third with 137.

The tournament ends tomorrow with 36 holes of play.

ANNUAL COTTON STATES GOLF TOURNEY OPENS

Qualifying Starts In C. C. Labor Day Meet

Four-Day Affair Over Swanky 18-Hole Layout Expected To Draw Fastest Field Ever; Flights To Consist Of 16 Players; Championship 32

Qualifying opened Saturday, August 23, at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club for the Fourth Annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tourney.

This year's tournament at the swanky Bayou DeSiard Country Club is expected to be the fastest field of golf stars ever assembled for a tournament in northeast Louisiana.

The tournament committee chairman, E. N. Hemphill, announces that 300 invitations have been mailed to golfers all over the Cotton States area and quite a few letters of acceptance have been received.

Heading the list of sure entrants is Don January of Dallas, Tex. 1951 Cotton States winner and present defending champion. Also on hand to participate in this fast-growing tournament will be such stars are Monte Sanders and Buster Reed, teammates of January on the North Texas State College golf team who were winners of the National College Championship in 1951 and 1952; Jim McGonagill, of Shreveport, present Louisiana state champion; Gene Vinson, of Meridian, Miss., and Jake Epting, of Jackson, Miss., 1951 Mississippi Open champion.

Other players have expressed their desire to enter, one player in particular being Jim Jackson, of St. Louis, who won the low amateur prize at the 1952 National Open meet in Dallas, Tex., last June. Jackson has been in contact with the tournament chairman from Seattle, Wash., where he is now participating in the National Amateur meet. Jackson, one of the leading amateurs of the United States will be here provided he can make connections from Seattle to Monroe and to St. Louis.

Local entrants who are always a threat and who will probably be heavy favorites are Jackie Doss, Bill Jones, 1949 Cotton States winner, and holder of many local and invitational titles; Dickie Touchstone, Corbin Turpin, Clyde Nash, Bo Moses, Kenneth Holt, all from Monroe; Allan Andrews, runner-up to Don January last year, Johnny Myers, former Louisiana Professional Champion, now a reinstated amateur; Harold McClendon, Max Deller and Albert Austin, a newcomer to golfers in this section, all from Bastrop and Morehouse Golf and Country Club.

The Cotton States Invitational tournament this year will be a four-day affair, instead of the usual three, and the championship flight will consist of 32 players. The official program provides that players may start qualifying beginning Saturday, August 23, and continuing through Friday, August 29, however, to qualify for championship flight and medalist honors, players must qualify on Friday, August 29, only, under the direction of the official starter.

The beautiful new 18-hole golf course, which stretches 6,900 yards around the winding Bayou DeSiard, is in the peak of condition due largely to the supervision of Professional Winnie Cole and Greenskeeper Audrey Poulson, and the greens committee composed of C. T. Munholland, H. C. Menuet and Bobby Wesley Shafto. The course is a real test of golf shotmaking and the present course record is 67, three under standard figures.

CHAIRMAN

held jointly by Jackie Doss, 1951 Cotton States Invitation medalist, Shep Girault and Johnny Myers, local sharpshooters who are expected to furnish some stiff competition during the tournament.

The Bayou DeSiard Country Club is completely air - conditioned and under the capable management of Clark W. Upp. Other club facilities include a championship dimension swimming pool and tennis courts, which will also be available to golfers and their families.

The tournament committee composed of E. N. Hemphill, chairman; Shep Girault, Ed Shaver and Dickie Touchstone announces that there will be a buffet supper on Friday night, a dance on Saturday night, the regular club buffet supper on Sunday night and awarding of the prizes on Monday evening at 6 p.m., the last day of the tournament.

Berardino Decides To Stick With Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 (AP)—Infielder Johnny Berardino, who first balked at joining the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates after being with the pennant-contending Cleveland Indians, signed a contract today and told Manager Billy Meyer he is ready for action.

Berardino, who played for the Bucs once before, came here in a trade with the Indians early this week in return for Pitcher Ted Wilks, Infielder George Strickland and what the Pirates said was a sizable amount of cash.

WESTLAND NEW AMATEUR KING

47-Year-Old Insurance Man Beats Out Al Mengert

SEATTLE, Aug. 23 (AP)— Jack Westland, a beaten finalist 21 years ago, became United States Amateur golf champion today.

The 47-year-old Everett, Wash., insurance man, who took time out from a hot political campaign to play in the title tournament, turned back the repeated challenges of young Al Mengert of Spokane, Wash., to win, 3 and 2, in the 36 - hole all - northwest final.

Westland, the oldest man ever to win the U. S. Amateur title, shot superb, rock - steady golf through the entire 34 holes of he final match.

He had a couple of unsteady moments on the first nine of the afternoon round, when he let the 23-year-old Mengert catch him for the second time, but on the crucial closing holes it was Westland who remained cool as an ice cube, shooting a steady string of pars to win.

In 1914, Westland went to the final of the amateur championship and took a 6 and 5 beating from Francis Quimet. Since then he hasn't been able to get past the third round until this year.

And he almost didn't enter this championship. Westland is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from his district and decided to play only because the tournament is being held in his home state. He even mixed campaigning with golfing, making speeches at night after playing during the day.

Today, he played superb golf, finish 34 holes just one stroke over par.

Mengert, a recently discharged air force sergeant who was a hot-shot junior player only five years ago, also played a sound game, catching Westland twice after the veteran had taken an early lead and even going ahead at the 27th.

But in the long run it was Westland who overcame tiring muscles and the hilly, tree - infected 6,632-yard Seattle golf club course. Par is 35 - 36 — 71 and Westland matched that total with 34 - 37 — 71 on the morning round. He slipped one stroke over par on the front nine this afternoon. Mengert had a morning 72 and a 35 going out in the afternoon, but on the payoff holes he went over par four times.

Westland was the obvious favorite of the orderly gallery of nearly 10,000. In 51 previous championships, the oldest winner had been 42-year-old Harold Hilton in 1911, and the fans figured this probably would be Jack's last chance.

BLOCK'S BEARS OPEN GRID WORK

'Hank' Stovall Takes Over As Mentor Of Bruins

JONESVILLE, Aug. 23 —(Special) — The Block Bears football practice started off slowly this week and the new coach, H. H. "Hank" Stovall, kept it that way on purpose because of the heat.

But now, Stovall expects to speed up practice so that the Bears will be in shape for the proposed Ferriday Jamboree on September 5, if it comes off as planned. Four teams — Ferriday, Waterproof, Natchez and Block— will probably play.

Stovall, one of L. S. U.'s outstanding players of the late '20's, began his duties as Block coach a week or so ago. He form-High School, and for the past 10 or 15 years, except for service in the armed forces, he has been coaching in high schools of Louisville, Ky.

He is originally from Dodson, and is married to a Catahoula woman, the former Opal Taylor of Foules.

Net Service Bowl To Miss Connolly

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP) — Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly of San Diego, Calif., National and Wimbledon singles champion, today became the 13th recipient of the women's tennis Service Bowl, awarded for "the most notable contribution to sportsmanship, fellowship and service of tennis."

The trophy was turned over to the international champion by last year's winner, Mrs. Gladys Heldman of Houston, Tex.

Other former winners present were Mrs. Hazel H. Wightman of Brookline, Mrs. J. Lewis Brumer of Brookline, Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del. Mrs. John B. Priser of Philadelphia, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Nancy Norton of Naugatuck, Conn.

Miss Connolly and Miss Brough play defending champions Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., in the women's national doubles final match tomorrow at Longwood.

The output per man-day of the American coal miner has risen 32 per cent since 1939.

2-Run Rally In 8th Brings Dodgers 3-2 Win Over Bucs; Cardinals Climb

Red-Hot Red Birds Whip Giants To Take 2nd Place

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 — (AP)— Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers put together a walk and three singles in the eighth innint today for two-run rally and a 3-2 decision over the last - place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The victory gave Brooklyn a 2-1 edge in the three-game series with the Bucs and marked the 18th time in 20 starts this season the Dodgers have whipped the Pirates.

Clem Labine started for the Dodgers and received credit for the win, his eighth against three losses. Joe Black relieved Labine in the eighth after he was lifted for a pinchhitter.

Rookie Jim Waugh, fresh up from the minors, had the Dodgers eating out of his hand until the two - run eighth. Up until then, the 19-year-old righthander gave up only three hits and a single tally in the fourth inning. He was charged with his second loss against one victory.

CHANDLER COPS CADDIE CROWN

Beats Out Jim Lucius In Finals To Tune Of 8 and 6

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23 (AP)—A 16-year-old Californian today captured the PGA - National Caddie golf championship and a $1,500 college scholarship with a putter that acted like it already had been to college.

Al Chandler of Hawthorne, Calif. just outside Los Angeles, smothered Jim Lucius of Northfield, Minn. 8 and 6, in the 36-hole finale over the Scarlet course of Ohio State University.

Chandler, son of aircraft plant foreman and a caddy so capable that prominent amateurs transport him up and down the west coast to tournaments, never was headed from the 10th hole.

He clipped Lucius' chances with a putter that gave him eight of the last nine holes of the morning 18—going from even at the end of the first nine to eight holes up at lunch-time.

Lucius, whose golf form delighted the experts, couldn't seem to get his game going. He hadn't been off the fairway throughout the tournament until today but he made up for it with sprayed tee shots by the bunch. And, his putting was nine strokes worse on the first 18 than Chandler's.

The Southern Californian, who never had a golf lesson from a professional in his life, needed only 27 putts for the morning round. Lucius used 36.

Lucius may have gives the match away on No. 10 this morning. When he hit over the green with his second and Chandler dropped his second within three feet of the pin, Lucius conceded the hole. That was when Chandler's great drive began.

Lucius came back after lunch utterly relaxed and full of chipper remarks to the gallery but he could do no better than pick up two of the deficit by the 27-hole mark.

The youths halved the 405-yard 29th in par and Chandler took the hilly 29th with a one-putt par after chipping close from the fringe.

Lucius, dormie with seven holes to go and a deficit of seven holes, looked up on his second shot of the 580-yard 30th and that was the match. He conceded when Chandler stood ready to try for a birdie from eight feet away.

Both boys flew to New York tonight for a television appearance.

As runner-up, Lucius collects a $1,000 four - year college scholarship.

Chandler said he plans to go to the University of California at Berkeley after he completes his senior year in high school. Lucius, originally scheduled to go to North Texas State where golf is a major sport, seems to have decided now to go to Ohio State University.

TURNESA AHEAD AT FORT WAYNE

Julius Boros Pulls Into 2nd Place; Last Round Today

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 23 (AP) — Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., the P. G. A. champion, hole 34 today and added a 33 to tae over the lead in the FortWayne Golf Tournament.

His 203 total was 13 under par for the 54 holes. The final round is Sunday.

The steady Turnesa was the last man off the Fort Wayne Elks course and his eight - foot birdie putt on No. 17 too the three-quarter lead away from Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., the National Open champ, and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., the halfway leader.

The muscular Boros, in a six-way tie for fifth place Friday, matched Turnesa's 67 today and Kroll took a 69. That gave them 204 totals.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, showing the strain of a long winning streak, dropped from his second - place tie Friday to a fourth - place tie today with Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif Middlecoff took a 69 for 205 total.

Clark splashed a 6-under-par 30 on the back nine, lowest score ever fired on that half of the course, to go with par 36 on the outward trip his back nine included four birdies and an eagle and his 66 compared with 69 and 70 on his first two rounds.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., tied Friday with Turnesa and Middlecoff for second place, took a 71 today and skidded to a three-way tie for eighth.

The leaders:

Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y. 68-68-67—203.

FAST FIELD SEEN FOR BOAT RACES

Lake Concordia's Labor Day Event Promises Best

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 23 (Special) — James McGehee, racing chairman for the regional outboard motorboat championships to be run on Lake Concordia, near here, on Labor Day, announces that a number of prominent state racers have indicated they will be here for the events.

McGehee said that David Livingston, Lake Village, Ark., who is one of the outstanding racers in the nation this year, tops the list of contenders from the various regional titles.

Johnnie Beauchamp, Hattiesburg, Miss. and A. L. LeBlanc, Jackson, Miss., will be among the entries from Mississippi.

Other out-of-state entries include Gale Young, Pensacola, Fla. and P. G. Sweet, Memphis, Tenn.

Several outstanding racers from New Orleans also expected to attend and participate.

The course at Lake Concordia is now being laid out. It will be the same as that over which the regatta was held last year. It has been acclaimed as one of the most ideal racing locations in this part of the south.

The Labor Day championships will consist of six events of twelve heats. They are scheduled to get under way at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until near dark.

There will be Class A, B, and C hydroplanes, C service runabouts and C racing runabouts. A total of $140 is being offered in each of the heats. There will be $80 for the first; $40 for second; $25 for third; and $15 for fourth places. The races are sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association and will attract the cream of the racers from Georgia, to New Mexico and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Walter Johnson holds the distinction of pitching the most games in the American League, 802.

Woodling, Collins Doubles Give New York 1-0 Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)— Vic Raschi, aided by a dramatic, game-saving relay from the outfield to the plate, bested Early Wynn in a brilliant hurling duel today as the New York Yankees nipped the Cleveland Indians 1-0, to regain first place in the American League from the losers.

Back to back doubles by Gene Woodling and Joe Collins with one out in the fourth inning produced Raschi protected handsomely although he underwent several anxious moments in the eighth. The triumph put the Yankees one game up on Cleveland and gave them an 11-10 edge over the Indians with only one more clash remaining between the contenders. They meet for the final time in Cleveland on Sept. 14.

Raschi, pitching one of his strongest games of the season, allowed six hits and struck out seven as he registered his 15th triumph against only three defeats.

The 33 - year - old righthander pitched himself out of a couple of holes in the second and third innings and appeared to be breezing along as he retired 14 consecutive batters. But with one out in the eighth, Billy Glynn, batting for Catcher Jim Hegan, cracked a line single to center. The tense crowd of 53,747, largest of the year at Yankee Stadium, heaved a sigh of relief when Raschi made another pinch hitter, Hank Majeski, his seventh strikeout victim.

But up came Dale Mitchell, who has been the toughest batter in the league for Yankee pitchers to get out this season. The southpaw swinging left fielder, who already had collected 32 hits in 75 times at bat against the Yanks, lashed a drive up against the bleacher wall in right center field. Glynn, off with the crack of the bat, dashed madly around the bases as Right Fielder Hank Bauer made a fine recovery of the ball and heaved it straight and true to Billy Martin who had raced out on the grass to take the relay. Glynn was rounding third as the second baseman took the throw and fired the ball home to Catcher Yogi Berra. Berra caught the ball in plenty of time to put the tag on the sliding runner.

ANNUAL COTTON STATES GOLF TOURNEY OPENS

Qualifying Starts In C. C. Labor Day Meet

Four-Day Affair Over Swanky 18-Hole Layout Expected To Draw Fastest Field Ever; Flights To Consist Of 16 Players; Championship 32

Qualifying opened Saturday, August 23, at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club for the Fourth Annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tourney.

This year's tournament at the swanky Bayou DeSiard Country Club is expected to be the fastest field of golf stars ever assembled for a tournament in northeast Louisiana.

The tournament committee chairman, E. N. Hemphill, announces that 300 invitations have been mailed to golfers all over the Cotton States area and quite a few letters of acceptance have been received.

Heading the list of sure entrants is Don January of Dallas, Tex. 1951 Cotton States winner and present defending champion. Also on hand to participate in this fast-growing tournament will be such stars are Monte Sanders and Buster Reed, teammates of January on the North Texas State College golf team who were winners of the National College Championship in 1951 and 1952; Jim McGonagill, of Shreveport, present Louisiana state champion; Gene Vinson, of Meridian, Miss., and Jake Epting, of Jackson, Miss., 1951 Mississippi Open champion.

Other players have expressed their desire to enter, one player in particular being Jim Jackson, of St. Louis, who won the low amateur prize at the 1952 National Open meet in Dallas, Tex., last June. Jackson has been in contact with the tournament chairman from Seattle, Wash., where he is now participating in the National Amateur meet. Jackson, one of the leading amateurs of the United States will be here provided he can make connections from Seattle to Monroe and to St. Louis.

Local entrants who are always a threat and who will probably be heavy favorites are Jackie Doss, Bill Jones, 1949 Cotton States winner, and holder of many local and invitational titles; Dickie Touchstone, Corbin Turpin, Clyde Nash, Bo Moses, Kenneth Holt, all from Monroe; Allan Andrews, runner-up to Don January last year, Johnny Myers, former Louisiana Professional Champion, now a reinstated amateur; Harold McClendon, Max Dollar and Albert Austin, a newcomer to golfers in this section, all from Bastrop and Morehouse Golf and Country Club.

The Cotton States Invitational tournament this year will be a four-day affair, instead of the usual three, and the championship flight will consist of 32 players. The official program provides that players may start qualifying beginning Saturday, August 23, and continuing through Friday, August 29, however, to qualify for championship flight and medalist honors, players must qualify on Friday, August 29, only, under the direction of the official starter.

The beautiful new 18-hole golf course, which stretches 6,900 yards around the winding Bayou DeSiard, is in the peak of condition due largely to the supervision of Professional Winnie Cole and Greenskeeper Audrey Poulson, and the greens committee composed of C. T. Munholland, H. C. Menuet and Bobby Wesley Shafto. The course is a real test of golf shotmaking and the present course record is 67, three under standard figures, held jointly by Jackie Doss, 1951 Cotton States Invitation medalist, Shep Girault and Johnny Myers, local sharpshooters who are expected to furnish some stiff competition during the tournament.

CHAIRMAN

The Bayou DeSiard Country Club is completely air - conditioned and under the capable management of Clark W. Upp. Other club facilities include a championship dimension swimming pool and tennis courts, which will also be available to golfers and their families.

The tournament committee composed of E. N. Hemphill, chairman; Shep Girault, Ed Shaver and Dickie Touchstone announces that there will be a buffet supper on Friday night, a dance on Saturday night, the regular club buffet supper on Sunday night and awarding of the prizes on Monday evening at 6 p.m., the last day of the tournament.

Berardino Decides To Stick With Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 (AP)—Infielder Johnny Berardino, who first balked at joining the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates after being with the pennant-contending Cleveland Indians, signed a contract today and told Manager Billy Meyer he is ready for action.

Berardino, who played for the Bucs once before, came here in a trade with the Indians early this week in return for Pitcher Ted Wilks, Infielder George Strickland and what the Pirates said was a sizable amount of cash.

WESTLAND NEW AMATEUR KING

47-Year-Old Insurance Man Beats Out Al Mengert

SEATTLE, Aug. 23 (AP)— Jack Westland, a beaten finalist 21 years ago, became United States Amateur golf champion today.

The 47-year-old Everett, Wash., insurance man, who took time out from a hot political campaign to play in the title tournament, turned back the repeated challenges of young Al Mengert of Spokane, Wash., to win, 3 and 2, in the 36 - hole all - northwest final.

Westland, the oldest man ever to win the U. S. Amateur title, shot superb, rock - steady golf through the entire 34 holes of he final match.

He had a couple of unsteady moments on the first nine of the afternoon round, when he let the 23-year-old Mengert catch him for the second time, but on the crucial closing holes it was Westland who remained cool as an ice cube, shooting a steady string of pars to win.

In 1914, Westland went to the final of the amateur championship and took a 6 and 5 beating from Francis Quimet. Since then he hasn't been able to get past the third round until this year.

And he almost didn't enter this championship. Westland is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from his district and decided to play only because the tournament is being held in his home state. He even mixed campaigning with golfing, making speeches at night after playing during the day.

Today, he played superb golf, finish 34 holes just one stroke over par.

Mengert, a recently discharged air force sergeant who was a hot-shot junior player only five years ago, also played a sound game, catching Westland twice after the veteran had taken an early lead and even going ahead at the 27th.

But in the long run it was Westland who overcame tiring muscles and the hilly, tree - infected 6,632-yard Seattle golf club course. Par is 35 - 36 — 71 and Westland matched that total with 34 - 37 — 71 on the morning round. He slipped one stroke over par on the front nine this afternoon. Mengert had a morning 72 and a 35 going out in the afternoon, but on the payoff holes he went over par four times.

Westland was the obvious favorite of the orderly gallery of nearly 10,000. In 51 previous championships, the oldest winner had been 42-year-old Harold Hilton in 1911, and the fans figured this probably would be Jack's last chance.

BLOCK'S BEARS OPEN GRID WORK

'Hank' Stovall Takes Over As Mentor Of Bruins

JONESVILLE, Aug. 23 —(Special) — The Block Bears football practice started off slowly this week and the new coach, H. H. "Hank" Stovall, kept it that way on purpose because of the heat.

But now, Stovall expects to speed up practice so that the Bears will be in shape for the proposed Ferriday Jamboree on September 5, if it comes off as planned. Four teams — Ferriday, Waterproof, Natchez and Block—will probably play.

Stovall, one of L. S. U.'s outstanding players of the late '20's, began his duties as Block coach a week or so ago. He form-High School, and for the past 10 or 15 years, except for service in the armed forces, he has been coaching in high schools of Louisville, Ky.

He is originally from Dodson, and is married to a Catahoula woman, the former Opal Taylor of Foules.

Net Service Bowl To Miss Connolly

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP) — Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly of San Diego, Calif., National and Wimbledon singles champion, today became the 13th recipient of the women's tennis Service Bowl, awarded for "the most notable contribution to sportsmanship, fellowship and service of tennis."

The trophy was turned over to the international champion by last year's winner, Mrs. Gladys Heldman of Houston, Tex.

Other former winners present were Mrs. Hazel H. Wightman of Brookline, Mrs. J. Lewis Brzmer of Brookline, Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del. Mrs. John R. Prizer of Philadelphia, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Nancy Norton of Naugatuck, Conn.

Miss Connolly and Miss Brough play defending champions Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., in the women's national doubles final match tomorrow at Longwood.

The output per man-day of the American coal miner has risen 32 per cent since 1939.

2-Run Rally In 8th Brings Dodgers 3-2 Win Over Bucs; Cardinals Climb

Red-Hot Red Birds Whip Giants To Take 2nd Place

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 — (AP)— Brooklyn's league-leading Dodgers put together a walk and three singles in the eighth innint today for two-run rally and a 3-2 decision over the last - place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The victory gave Brooklyn a 2-1 edge in the three-game series with the Bucs and marked the 18th time in 20 starts this season the Dodgers have whipped the Pirates.

Clem Labine started for the Dodgers and received credit for the win, his eighth against three losses. Joe Black relieved Labine in the eighth after he was lifted for a pinchhitter.

Rookie Jim Waugh, fresh up from the minors, had the Dodgers eating out of his hand until the two - run eighth. Up until then, the 19-year-old righthander gave up only three hits and a single tally in the fourth inning. He was charged with his second loss against one victory.

CHANDLER COPS CADDIE CROWN

Beats Out Jim Lucius In Finals To Tune Of 8 and 6

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23 (AP)—A 16-year-old Californian today captured the PGA - National Caddie golf championship and a $1,500 college scholarship with a putter that acted like it already had been to college.

Al Chandler of Hawthorne, Calif. just outside Los Angeles, smothered Jim Lucius of Northfield, Minn. 8 and 6, in the 36-hole finale over the Scarlet course of Ohio State University.

Chandler, son of aircraft plant foreman and a caddy so capable that prominent amateurs transport him up and down the west coast to tournaments, never was headed from the 10th hole.

He clipped Lucius' chances with a putter that gave him eight of the last nine holes of the morning 18—going from even at the end of the first nine to eight holes up at lunch-time.

Lucius, whose golf form delighted the experts, couldn't seem to get his game going. He hadn't been off the fairway throughout the tournament until today but he made up for it with sprayed tee shots by the bunch. And, his putting was nine strokes worse on the first 18 than Chandler's.

The Southern Californian, who never had a golf lesson from a professional in his life, needed only 27 putts for the morning round. Lucius used 36.

Lucius may have given the match away on No. 10 this morning. When he hit over the green with his second and Chandler dropped his second within three feet of the pin, Lucius conceded the hole. That was when Chandler's great drive began.

Lucius came back after lunch utterly relaxed and full of chipper remarks to the gallery but he could do no better than pick up two of the deficit by the 27-hole mark.

The youths halved the 405-yard 28th in par and Chandler took the hilly 29th with a one-putt par after chipping close from the fringe.

Lucius, dormie with seven holes to go and a deficit of seven holes, looked up on his second shot of the 560-yard 30th and that was the match. He conceded when Chandler stood ready to try for a birdie from eight feet away.

Both boys flew to New York tonight for a television appearance.

As runner-up, Lucius collects a $1,000 four - year college scholarship.

Chandler said he plans to go to the University of California at Berkeley after he completes his senior year in high school. Lucius, originally scheduled to go to North Texas State where golf is a major sport, seems to have decided now to go to Ohio State University.

TURNESA AHEAD AT FORT WAYNE

Julius Boros Pulls Into 2nd Place; Last Round Today

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 23 (AP) — Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., the P. G. A. champion, hole 34 today and added a 33 to tae over the lead in the FortWayne Golf Tournament.

His 203 total was 13 under par for the 54 holes. The final round is Sunday.

The steady Turnesa was the last man off the Fort Wayne Elks course and his eight - foot birdie putt on No. 17 too the three-quarter lead away from Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., the National Open champ, and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., the halfway leader.

The muscular Boros, in a six-way tie for fifth place Friday, matched Turnesa's 67 today and Kroll took a 69. That gave them 204 totals.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, showing the strain of a long winning streak, dropped from his second - place tie Friday to a fourth - place tie today with Jimmy Clark of Liguna Beach, Calif Middlecoff took a 69 for 205 total.

Clark splashed a 6-under-par 30 on the back nine, lowest score ever fired on that half of the course, to go with par 36 on the outward trip his back nine included four birdies and an eagle and his 66 compared with 69 and 70 on his first two rounds.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., tied Friday with Turnesa and Middlecoff for second place, took a 71 today and skidded to a three-way tie for eighth.

The leaders:

Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y. 68-68-67—203.

Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C. 67-70-67—204.

FAST FIELD SEEN FOR BOAT RACES

Lake Concordia's Labor Day Event Promises Best

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 23 (Special) — James McGehee, racing chairman for the regional outboard motorboat championships to be run on Lake Concordia, near here, on Labor Day, announces that a number of prominent state racers have indicated they will be here for the events.

McGehee said that David Livingston, Lake Village, Ark., who is one of the outstanding racers in the nation this year, tops the list of contenders from the various regional titles.

Johnnie Beauchamp, Hattiesburg, Miss. and A. L. LeBlanc, Jackson, Miss., will be among the entries from Mississippi.

Other out-of-state entries include Gale Young, Pensacola, Fla. and P. G. Sweet, Memphis, Tenn.

Several outstanding racers from New Orleans also expected to attend and participate.

The course at Lake Concordia is now being laid out. It will be the same as that over which the regatta was held last year. It has been acclaimed as one of the most ideal racing locations in this part of the south.

The Labor Day championships will consist of six events of twelve heats. They are scheduled to get under way at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until near dark.

There will be Class A, B, and C hydroplanes, C service runabouts and C racing runabouts. A total of $140 is being offered in each of the heats. There will be $80 for the first; $40 for second; $25 for third; and $15 for fourth places. The races are sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association and will attract the cream of the racers from Georgia, to New Mexico and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Walter Johnson holds the distinction of pitching the most games in the American League, 803.

Woodling, Collins Doubles Give New York 1-0 Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)— Vic Raschi, aided by a dramatic, game-saving relay from the outfield to the plate, bested Early Wynn in a brilliant hurling duel today as the New York Yankees nipped the Cleveland Indians 1-0, to regain first place in the American League from the losers.

Back to back doubles by Gene Woodling and Joe Collins with one out in the fourth inning produced Raschi protected handsomely although he underwent several anxious moments in the eighth. The triumph put the Yankees one game up on Cleveland and gave them an 11-10 edge over the Indians with only one more clash remaining between the contenders. They meet for the final time in Cleveland on Sept. 14.

Raschi, pitching one of his strongest games of the season, allowed six hits and struck out seven as he registered his 15th triumph against only three defeats.

The 33 - year - old righthander pitched himself out of a couple of holes in the second and third innings and appeared to be breezing along as he retired 14 consecutive batters. But with one out in the eighth, Billy Glynn, batting for Catcher Jim Hegan, cracked a line single to center. The tense crowd of 53,747, largest of the year at Yankee Stadium, heaved a sigh of relief when Raschi made another pinch hitter, Hank Majeski, his seventh strikeout victim.

But up came Dale Mitchell, who has been the toughest batter in the league for Yankee pitchers to get out this season. The southpaw swinging left fielder, who already had collected 32 hits in 75 times at bat against the Yanks, lashed a drive up against the bleacher wall in right center field. Glynn, off with the crack of the bat, dashed madly around the bases as Right Fielder Hank Bauer made a fine recovery of the ball and heaved it straight and true to Billy Martin who had raced out on the grass to take the relay. Glynn was rounding third as the second baseman took the throw and fired the ball home to Catcher Yogi Berra. Berra caught the ball in plenty of time to put the tag on the sliding runner.

Ouachita Ends Two Weeks' Practice For Jonesboro-Hodge Opener Sept. 5

Lions Looking All Right; Hodgins Fears 'Cockiness'

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions have wrapped up two weeks of steady two-a-day workouts in extremely hot weather as they prepare for their September 5 opener here against Jonesboro-Hodge, but Coach Jim Hodgins last night figured the boys are "doing all right if they just don't get too cocky."

"As a whole our squad looks pretty good," Hodgins said. "We have had some mighty good workouts, but some have been pretty lousy too. Jonesboro - Hodge has a coming ball club that's going to give us a mighty good season opener. We're going to have to be ready if we expect to be an opening winner, and that means the boys are going to have to start thinking seriously and get away from some of the cockiness that has developed lately."

Scrimmages were the order of the day in the latter part of the week, and the Lions will spend the next week in some of their most rugged work with head - on man-to-man contact work as they near the peak of condition.

The squad that is expected to wear the Red and White of Ouachita this year was released yesterday as follows:

Centers-Lytle "Snow" Mathins, Marlin Moore, Charles Puckett, and Doyle Holstead (also working at end).

Tackles — Rodney Cannon, Paul Fleming, Gene Fordham, Billy Lovie, Mickey Rawls, and Berry.

Ends—Ralph Bailey, Jerry Brossett, John Harrell, Charles McBeth.. Robert Smith, Eldis Stout, and Holstead.

Backs—Lloyd Bacon, Jackie DuPriest, W. L. Fincher, Norman Goza Charles Greer, James Hart, Ike McMullen, Frank Mobley, "Buster" Parker, W. D. Perkins, W. J. Price, E. C. "Sonny" Roark, Jerry Sikes, and Smith.

The advanced ticket sale for Ouachita home games is already in progress. Mrs. Elizabeth Manhein, in charge of tickets, had the pastboards available at Lockhart Sports Shop, Calvert's Drugs, and at the school ticket office.

Lion home games are with Jonesboro-Hodge, Homer, Haynesville, Byrd of Shreveport, and Bossier City. Games away from home will include Ruston, Bastrop, Fair Park at Shreveport, Baton Rouge High, and Pine Bluff.

Box and season tickets are reported going very fast for the Ouachita home games. Reserved seats for all home games will be on sale at Lockhart-Blair Sport Shop in Monroe and Calvert's Drug in West Monroe. All parties desiring season tickets are requested to call Mrs. Manheim at 3-6900 or Ouachita Parish High School at 2-4867.

P. G. A. Vote Tags Benny Best In Last 50 Years

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)— Ben Hogan today was named the top professional golfer of the last 50 years in a poll conducted by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

P. G. A. headquarters said it polled 3,032 of its members as well as more than 900 sports writers and radio commentators.

Bobby Jones was selected the top amateur.

Hogan received 522 votes, three more than Walter Hagen. Gene Sarazen was third with 504, followed by Sam Snead 499, Byron Nelson 491, Tommy Armour 351 Lloyd Mangrum, 304, MacDonald Smith 172, Ralph Guldahl 145 and Jimmy Demaret 117.

Jones received 515 votes in the amateur group while Chick Evans was second with 447. Then came Francis Ouimet with 446, Lawson Little 389, Frank Stranahan 365, Willie Turnesa 331, Johnny Goodman 307, Jerry Travers 269, Dick Chapman 211 and George Von Elm 209.

In all, 106 pros and 198 amateurs received votes.

The 20 top golfers will be named to an honor roll at Washington, D. C., Sept. 20 as part of ceremonies of the National Celebrities Open.

300 Hot Rods In Utah Trials

BONNEVILLE, Utah, Aug. 23 (AP) — Four - thousand hot rod enthusiasts plus 300 cars, will begin competition Monday for honors in the fourth annual Bonneville National Speed Trials at the Western Utah Bonneville Salt Flats.

Nearly all the cars will have standard American production engines that have been modified in backyard garages.

This year's prizes will include the National Hot Rod Championship Perpetual Award, a special trophy and scholarship, two full sport kits and other valuable prizes. Willie Young, Denver won the trophy last year with a speed of 230 mph.

The National Speed Trials began in 1949 by the Southern California Timing Association to provide a proving ground for the fast-growing sport.

AUSSIES SHOW WAY TO FINALS

American Girls Hold Own In National Net Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP) — The luck of the draw prevented another all - Australian final in the men's division of the National Doubles Tennis Championship today at Longwood but the Aussies will have three representatives in tomorrow's final round.

Defending champions Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor drew their 17-year-old Australian countrymen, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, as their semi - final rivals and the former, despite brilliant opposition, had little trouble stroking to a 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 decision. Mervyn Rose, the third Australian finalist, paired with Vic Seixas of Philadelphia for a crushing 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 victory over four - times winners Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, and Bill Talbert of New York.

Last year's winning combine of Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., joined Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the final round by defeating Britishers Helen Fletcher and Angela Mortimer, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Connolly, National and Wimbledon titlist, and Miss Brough, a nine - times National Doubles victor with now retired Mrs. Margaret Osborne Duport of Wilmington, Del., became finalists yesterday by topping Mrs. Thelma Long of Australia, and Mrs. Nancy Chaffee Kiner of Palm Springs, Calif., 6-2, 3-6, 9-7.

Except for the first set, which Sedgman and McGregor lost when the former's service was broken by a Rosewall backhanded base line placement in the 12th game, the title defenders always had the situation well in hand.

The Australian youngsters had ample opportunity to display their great skill, much to the delight of the well - packed gallery, but they never caused the defending champions much concern.

The 36-year-old Mulloy and Talbert — going on 34, — never had a chance against their hard driving opposition. Rose, a beaten finalist last year with countryman Don Candy, and the Philadelphia Seixas directed most of their power against Mulloy for the vital service breaks in each of the three sets.

Miss Hart and Miss Fry were so impressive against their British semi-finalists rivals that their chances of coping with Miss Connolly and Miss Brough appears greatly enhanced. The Californian team has beaten Miss Hart and Miss Fry twice in four tries this season, as recently as last week at nearby Manchester.

Italian Captures World Road-Race Bicycle Title

LUXEMBOURG, Aug. 23 (AP)— Lucian Ciancola of Italy won the world amateur road-race bicycle championship today, covering 175 hilly kilometers (about 110 miles) in four hours, 22 minutes and 11 seconds.

The United States was not represented. Several racers, including Kato Tadashi of Japan, were hurt in a pileup as the speeding cyclists took a sharp turn in the village of Lubeloange.

BASTROP BOYS READY

Among the Bastrop boys who have been practicing for the first annual northeast Louisiana Junior Golf championship tournament to be held Monday through Wednesday are Mark Hill, Don Sims and Jim Williams. The trio were recently photographed in practice at the municipal golf course with Milo Mattinson, pro at the Morehouse country club, who has been working with the youths. TECHMEN TO FLY TO TALLAHASSEE

Make Plane Trip For F. S. U. Contest September 27

RUSTON, Aug. 23 (Special)— Louisiana Tech is planning to charter a DC-6 plane to transport its football team for the first away-from-home game of the season this fall.

Coach Joe Aillet said the Techmen would board the plane at Monroe to fly to Tallahassee, Fla., to meet the Florida State University gridders on Saturday, Sept. 27.

For the other out-of-town contests this fall, the Tech Bulldogs will have at their convenience a 34-passenger steel bus purchased by the college during the past year. Those games include Northwestern at Shreveport on Oct. 18; Southwestern at Lafayette on Nov. 1, and Mississippi Southern at Hattiesburg on Nov. 15, as well as the Florida engagement.

The Techsters will open their nine-game card at Ruston with McNeese of Lake Charles at 8 p. m. Sept. 20. Other home encounters are with Memphis State at 8 p. m. Oct. 4; Central Oklahoma State College at 8 p. m. Oct. 11; Louisiana College at 2 p. m. Oct. 25 (homecoming), and Southeastern at 8 p. m. Nov. 8.

Practice sessions for the Bulldogs will begin on Monday, Sept. 1.

SHREVEPORT OUT FOR BAT MARKS

Sports Loom Strong In Several Texas Departments

DALLAS, Aug. 23 (AP) — For a team that has captured only one individual batting title in the last decade, Shreveport in the Texas League has big designs for making up lost time.

Only Nick Gregory's 28 homers in 1947 landed the Sports an honor since 1941, but now its different:

Grant Dunlap for one, seems the Sports' man of destiny as he continues to lead the batting averages again this week as all season. He is currently unloading at a .330 clip, built on 391 at bats with 129 hits. Not since Ray Radcliff's .361 in 1931 has a Sport led batting averages.

And Harry Elliott of the 1952 Sports is heading for the gold medal in most hits. Now he has 174, by 16 more than runner-up Earl York of Tulsa.

The Sports, who have not won the team title since 1916, also threaten in that department this season, ranking but a point behind Oklahoma City's .265. The Indians incidentally, may protect that margin for a third consecutive title.

San Antonio's Harry Heslet is the only batter with two pace-setting marks: 28 home runs and 104 runs batted in.

Other leaders are these: Wayne Belardi of Fort Worth with 84 runs, Joe Frazier of Oklahoma City with 44 doubles, Jim Greengrass of Beaumont with 15 triples and Bill Hunter of Fort Worth with 20 stolen bases.

Dallas' duo of pitchers, Hal Erickson and Dave Hoskins, show why the Eagles are first in the loop. Erickson has posted the most wins on a 19-11 record, with Hoskins right behind on 18-10.

Bill Tremel of Shreveport has a 2-2 mark for the best percentage, .818; John Gray of Beaumont is the king of whiff with 148 strikeouts, and Bill Glass (7-6) of Fort Worth is earned run leader at 1.50.

Segura, Budge Take Net Exhibitions In Belgium

OSTEND, BELGIUM, Aug. 23 (AP) — Pancho Segura of Ecuador and Forest Hills, N. Y., defeated Dinny Pails of Australia, 7-5, 6-3, today in the feature match of a professional tennis exhibition.

In another match, Don Budge of New York, trimmed Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-3. Gonzales and Budge defeated Segura and Pails in doubles, 6-4, 7-5.

Mercer Tennille Claims His Fourth Trapshooting Doubles Championship

Shreveport Sportsman Beats Out Allen Of Des Moines

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 23 (AP)—Silence settled over this Miami valley village late today as the echoes of the 1,500,000 target Grand American Trapshoot died away and champions headed to all parts of the country with their winnings.

Mercer Tennille, 45-year-old insurance man from Shreveport, La. won the national doubles championship for the fourth time in today's windup affair and the open handicap event went to John Coulson, 45-year-old road-tar salesman from Monongahela, Pa.

Tennille was tied at 95 of 100 by Bob Allen of Des Moines, Ia., in the twin-target race but defeated Allen 19 to 18 in a 20-target shoot-off.

Coulson broke 97 of 100 from 19 yards in the handicap to nose out J. W. Schmidt of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, who broke 96 from 21 yards.

Miss Iva Pembridge of Phillipsburg, Kan., won the women's doubles championship, the school teacher breaking 84 of 100 and the junior laurels went to Bob Autrey of Atlanta, Ga., with 88.

Cliff B. Doughman of Morrow, O., won the professional title with 93. Rudy Etchen, of Sun Valley, Ida., who deserted the professional ranks to become an amateur, won the overall championship and the all-round championship for the week's shooting. He broke 961 of 1,000 targets, 600 at 16 yards, 300 at handicaps and 100 doubles to defeat Arnold Riegger, last year's overall champion who had 957.

Ned Lilly, of Stanton, Mich., the 1950 overall champion, finished third with 953. Etchen took the all-around title based on scores in the 200 target North American clay target championship, the Grand American Handicap and today's double event with 381 of 400.

Lilly and Rolfe Simpson of Portland, Ore., tied for second with 380.

Mrs. Frances King, Atlanta, Ga. grandmother who annually awards the King Trophy to the high overall woman champion, won her own award today by breaking 919 of 1,000 in the overall race and 361 of 400 in the all-around. Miss Pembridge was second in each event getting 906 in the overall and 350 in the all-around.

Young Autrey gave Atlanta its second overall and all - around championships as he grabbed the Junior Laurels for the week. He broke 948 of 1,000 to defeat George Genereux of Sasketoon, Sask., Canada's Olympic gold medal winner who scored 943.

Young Autrey took the all-around with 377 to Genereux' 369. Both Mrs. King and young Autrey were named captains of their division on the sports field All-America trap shooting team for 1952 as a result of their outstanding showing here, the first time a single city has gained such an honor.

The professional overall and all-around titles went to Cliff Doughman, the overall with 950 of 1,000 and the all-around with 370 of 400.

Tom Lynott of Salt Lake City, was second with scores of 935 and 361.

'CURLY' LAMBEAU REDSKINS' COACH

Succeeds Dick Todd Who Was Given Air Thursday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23 (AP)— Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau, veteran of the National Football League wars, today stepped into the league's hottest coaching spot — the head man's job with the Washington Redskins.

Owner George Preston Marshall announced the signing of Lambeau, former Green Bay Packers and Chicago Cardinals coach. Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but it was reliably indicated Lambeau will receive $15,000 for the first year with a bonus if the Redskins have a good season.

If they don't, Lambeau may follow a long line of ex-Redskin coaches in the past decade including Ray Flaherty, Dutch Bergman, Turk Edwards, Dud Degroot, Herman Ball and Dick Todd.

Todd walked the Marshall plank Thursday as the Skins bowed to the Rams, 45-23, in their second straight pre-season loss.

"I am cold - blooded when it comes to the Redskins," Marshall told writers at an informal luncheon yesterday. "I owe it to the Washington fans to give them a winner. It's up to the coach to produce. If he doesn't, I get another."

Lambeau, 54, thus forewarned, indicated he would make no major changes in what he termed "a very fine ball club."

At the same time, Sammy Baugh, now in his 16th year — a record — with Marshall, signed a new contract as backfield coach and player. Backfield Coach Jerry Neri resigned to rejoin Jordan Olivar at Yale. Neri assisted Olivar at Loyola University of Los Angeles for several years.

Baugh, incidentally, said earlier he was "absolutely not interested" in the head coach job.

Lambeau called a meeting of the coaching staff today and said he'll talk things over with the team Monday. The team's next game is an exhibition against Dallas Sept. 5.

The Redskins open the N. F. L. season at Chicago against the Cardinals, whom Lambeau coached last year. He had only so - so success with the Cards in 1950 and 1951 after 31 years with Green Bay. Previously he led the Packers to six world titles.

An ex- Notre Dame halfback, Lambeau played with the Packers the first 10 years he coached them.

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 23 (AP)— Ever hear of a golfer getting a hole-in-one righthanded and another lefthanded?

Foy Fanning, professional at just done it.

In January, 1950, he shot the righthanded hole - in - one. This week he registered one lefthanded, using a nine iron for a 138-yard shot on hole No. 16.

Fanning has a theory that if a man is righthanded he should play golf lefthanded. He says the right arm is the master arm.

FUTURITY TAKEN BY MR. PARADISE

Eddie Arcaro Boots Home Winner Ahead Of Mr. Good

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Mr. Paradise, with Eddie Arcaro aboard, today won the $107,120 Washington Park Futurity, beating his Arlington Futurity conqueror, Mr. Good, by a length and a half.

Arcaro recorded his 31st stakes victory of the season and raised to $994,722.50 the amount of money his staes triumphs have earned.

Mr. Paradise is owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, wife of a Chicago grain operator. The two-year-old son of Errada—Harriet's Kid was followed by Mr. Good with King Pin, owned by Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., in third place another length and a half back.

The easterner invader, Sun Warrior, finished fourth three lengths back of King Pin.

In all, this year, Arcaro has ridden 659 horses and has finished first 153 times, his total earnings being $1,866,516.

Mr. Paradise, who went to the post an 8 to 5 favorite of the crowd of 26,034, sprinted the six furlongs in 1:10 3-5 and returned $5.20, $2.80 and $2.20. Mr. Good paid $4.60 and $3.20. King Pin, which was coupled with Regal Manner paid $2.80 to show.

Mr. Paradise, triumph was worth $79,710 and brought his earnings for 10 races $105,860. Mr. Good, which beat Mr. Paradise by three lengths in the Arlington Futurity, received $15,000 for second place and King Pin collected $7,500 for third.

The winner went into the six furlong dash with the most consistent record of the field with two firsts, three seconds and one third in nine starts.

Arcaro kept Mr. Paradise back in sixth place for the first quarter while King Pin, piloted by Kenneth Church, and Mr. Good ridden by Douglas Dodson, were scrambling for the lead.

Mr. Good took a slight lead over King Pin at the half-mile but Arcaro and Mr. Paradise were only two lengths back. On the turn into the home stretch Arcaro brought Mr. Paradise up with the leaders and hugging the rail passed them to triumph going away.

Mr. Paradise victory was the second for Mrs. Rice in the Futurity. Model Cadet triumphed for her in 1948.

Thirty daily double players in the crowd of 26,034 were rewarded with $3,092.60, the largest combination payoff in Chicago's racing season, when Howard A. Jones' Riskall won the first race at $186 for $2 and E. C. Roth's Gold Boots the second at $49.40. Riskall, a first starter, is a two-year-old son of Free For All, which captured both the Arlington and Washington Park futurities in 1944.

The daily double record of $10,772 was set in Washington Park in 1939.

Despirito Has Three Winners

The 17-year-old apprentice booted home 54 winners in the 24-day meeting.

He brought in Dancing Man first in the third race to pay $8.60, Idio in the fifth at $5.40 and Dawn O'Peace in the ninth at $5. He also had two seconds and a third and finished out of the money three times.

In the featured mile and a sixteenth Desert Inn Purse, T. P. Morgan's Grover B. scored by a head over J. M. Lingle's Larry Ellis, favorite of the 22,000 fans. Frankie Zehr was up on Grover B. and Despirito on Larry Ellis.

Grover B. paid $15.80, $6 and $4 after covering the route in 1:42 4-5.

Don Allen Marches Ahead Of Jones In Scrap For League Batting Title

Monroe First Baseman Five Points Out Of Top Spot

BY J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Aug. 23 —(Special) — Don Allen, Natchez, has stepped out in front of the Cotton States League batters for a second time.

Collecting eight hits in 21 times at bat during the week's six games, the Indian star picked up three points to break the tie and pull away from his first base-hitting rival, John Paul Jones, Monroe, who lost ground in his fight for the mace crown.

In 88 games Allen has appeared at bat 336 times with 112 connections for a mark of .333. Included in the base hit assortment are 18 doubles, eight triples and nine homers for 173 total bases. He has scored 64 times and batted in 58 runs since his purchase from the Kitty League.

Jones has appeared in all of the Sports' 119 contests, facing the pitchers 464 times for 152 safeties and a .328 average. He has 19 two baggers, 10 triples and seven four masters for 213 total bases. In addition to scoring 7[illegible] times the ex-Texas Christian University luminary has accounted for 87 rbi's. He leads in hits, total bases and runs batted in.

Far back in third place is three - time batting champion in the Class B Tri - State League and holder of that loop's highest average, with .314, a gain of 1[illegible] points with 26-12.

Troy Mitchell, big chief of the Natchez Indians, rates fourth at .311. Hillis Layne, Pine Bluff Judge skipper, is fifth at .305, one point ahead of Hugh Glaze, Meridian third baseman, with .304 the same record as Ray Perry El Dorado boss. Nels Daehn, Monroe, .301, and Don Petchow, El Dorado, .300, complete the select .300 membership. Petchow vaulted 15 points to reclaim his membership with a batting chart of 27-11 for the week ending Tuesday night, as compiled by the Friend News Service.

Leon Waszk, Pine Bluff's fiery little catcher, continued to climb in the batting standings. He is just one point away from the .300 circle with .299, a gain of eight decimals. During the last six weeks Leon has moved from .27[illegible] with consistency.

Gene Pompelia, Meridian, enjoys the distinction of being the first batter to score 100 runs. Four tallies upped him to that figure. Hal Walther, .288, Natchez, leads in doubles with 30, one more than Al DeLuca, Pine Bluff (.258). Bill Carr, (.258) Natchez speedster has legged out 27, and swiped 4[illegible] bases, two more than Marty Devlin, Greenwood (.231), his No. 1 theft foe. George Wegeruk, (.224) Pine Bluff, took over in triple with No. 12, the same as Bob Dolan, (.275) Greenwood. Perry bagged his 15th homer and enabled him to keep ahead of Roxie Humberson (.264), El Dorado who slugged his 14th. Dolf Regesky, Meridian, poled a pair while boosting his batting average to respectable .286.

Bobby Harrison, Meridian ace lost his fourth game of the year to Greenwood, but his 24-4 winning record is by far the best of the other pitchers. Art (Mike) Rainey, Natchez, and the veteran Vallie Eaves, Meridian, have copped five of six decisions. Darvin Chrisco, Monroe dropped his fifth, as against 13 victories. John Forizs, Greenwood star righthanded ace, is at the threshhold of the 20-game winning group with 19-8. Ottis Jacobs, Monroe, is ready to knock with 18-12. Pete Bardin, Natchez (17-9) and Joe Kapach, Meridian, (17-11) may make it yet. George Bielik, El Dorado prize rookie, has 16-7. Forizs may ages to keep ahead of his mound partner and teammate, Danny McDevitt, in strikeouts, 240-228. Closest to the pair is Jacobs with 155. Chrisco has fanned 146. McDevitt has wielded the kalsomine brush six times; Bardin and Bielik four times apiece. Harrison has worked the most innings, 244 2-3. Jacobs can show 241 rounds on the mound; Bardin 232 1-3; Art Hamilton 222 with the rejuvenated Greenville Bucks.

NATIVE DANCER BY 3 1-2 LENGTHS

One Hitter Victor In Companion Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's unbeaten Native Dancer virtually sewed up the Eastern Juvenile Championship today, winning the 50th running of the Grand Hotel Stakes for his fifth straight victory.

The strong-boned son of Polynesian-Geisha was not extended in taking the $15,500 stake by 3½ lengths from Trio Stable's New Jersey invader, Laffango.

Ben F. Whitaker's Tahitian King, hitherto unbeaten in four starts, was a poor third, trailing the runnerup by 2½ lengths. George D. Widener's entry of Platan and Muharram, the outsiders in the small field, completed the lineup.

Native Dancer under topweight of 126 pounds, zoomed over the six furlongs in 1:11 1-5, fastest time of the meeting, though the track still seemed somewhat "dead" from recent rains. He was odds-on favorite, paying $3.10 and $2.40. There was no show betting.

Laffango, which had won his last four starts at Jersey tracks, paid $3.80 Place. The pace was sizzling—:22 4-5 for the first quarter-mile and :46 2-5 for the half-mile.

The Vanderbilt home-bred broke from No. 1 post. Though he was on top in the first few stages, his rider, heady Eric Guerin, apparently saw no reason to rush him and Laffango and Tahitian King moved out in front.

But Guerin, taking Native Dancer off the rail had dead aim on the leaders on the turn, and once he turned the gray colt loose it was apparent to all that it would be no contest.

Greentree's One Hitter raced to an easy triumph in the 50th Saratoga Handicap the companion piece to the Grand Union.

The pint-sized son of Shut Out pulled away when Ted Atkinson levelled him off at the head of the stretch, and he stepped down the wire six lengths clear of Ogden Phipps' mare, Busanda. The latter was a head before Brookmeade stable's Greek Ship, while Putnam stable's Combat Boots was fourth.

One Hitter, under 116 pounds, was a staunch favorite at $5.20, $4.00 and $2.90. This was his 17th victory in 78 starts and the $20,750 he earned today pushed his total to $279,925.

Bastrop Defeats Crossett, 9 To 3

BASTROP, La., Aug. 23 — (Special) — The Bastrop Barons need only one inning last night to wrap up a 9-3 victory over the Crossett Millers in an exhibition contest at Crossett, Ark. The Barons, member of the Big Eight League, scored all their runs in the eighth inning as eleven men came to bat.

Wolfe's two - run homer in the sixth accounted for the Crossett runs.

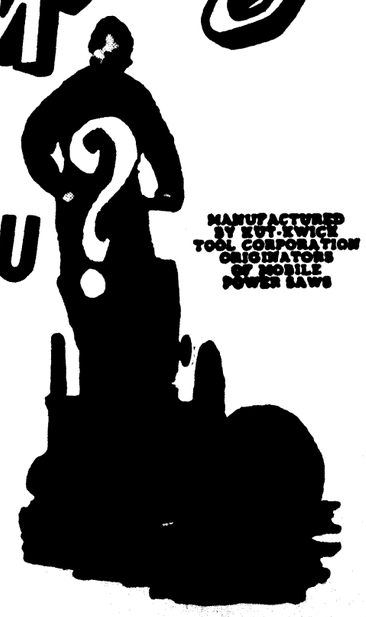

The Barons go to Goodwill, member of the Arkansas-Louisiana League, for a game Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and Crossett will face the Barons again here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Score by innings:

Bastrop	000 000 090—9 9 0
Crossett	000 003 000—3 4 6

Murray and McCready; Vickers Hubert (8) and Greenway.

Lions Looking All Right; Hodgins Fears 'Cockiness'

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions have wrapped up two weeks of steady two-a-day workouts in extremely hot weather as they prepare for their September 5 opener here against Jonesboro-Hodge, but Coach Jim Hodgins last night figured the boys are "doing all right if they just don't get too cocky."

"As a whole our squad looks pretty good," Hodgins said. "We have had some mighty good workouts, but some have been pretty lousy too. Jonesboro - Hodge has a coming ball club that's going to give us a mighty good season opener. We're going to have to be ready if we expect to be an opening winner, and that means the boys are going to have to start thinking seriously and get away from some of the cockiness that has developed lately."

Scrimmages were the order of the day in the latter part of the week, and the Lions will spend the next week in some of their most rugged work with head - on man-to-man contact work as they near the peak of condition.

The squad that is expected to wear the Red and White of Ouachita this year was released yesterday as follows:

Centers-Lytle "Snow" Matkins, Marlin Moore, Charles Puckett, and Doyle Holstead (also working at end).

Tackles — Rodney Cannon, Paul Fleming, Gene Fordham, Billy Levie, Mickey Rawls, and Berry.

Backs—Lloyd Bacon, Jackie DuPriest, W. L. Fincher, Norman Goza. Charles Greer, James Hart, Ike McMullen, Frank Mobley, "Buster" Parker, W. D. Perkins, W. J. Price, E. C. "Sonny" Roark, Jerry Sikes, and Smith.

The advanced ticket sale for Ouachita home games is already in progress. Mrs. Elizabeth Manhein, in charge of tickets, had the pastboards available at Lockhart Sports Shop, Calvert's Drugs, and at the school ticket office.

Lion home games are with Jonesboro-Hodge, Homer, Haynesville, Byrd of Shreveport, and Bossier City. Games away from home will include Ruston, Bastrop, Fair Park at Shreveport, Baton Rouge High, and Pine Bluff.

Box and season tickets are reported going very fast for the Ouachita home games. Reserved seats for all home games will be on sale at Lockhart-Blair Sport Shop in Monroe and Calvert's Drug in West Monroe. All parties desiring season tickets are requested to call Mrs. Manheim at 3-6900 or Ouachita Parish High School at 2-4857.

AUSSIES SHOW WAY TO FINALS

American Girls Hold Own In National Net Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP) — The luck of the draw prevented another all - Australian final in the men's division of the National Doubles Tennis Championship today at Longwood but the Aussies will have three representatives in tomorrow's final round.

Defending champions Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor drew their 17-year-old Australian countrymen, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, as their semi - final rivals and the former, despite brilliant opposition, had little trouble stroking to a 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 decision. Mervyn Rose, the third Australian finalist, paired with Vic Seixas of Philadelphia for a crushing 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 victory over four - times winners Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, and Bill Talbert of New York.

Last year's winning combine of Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., joined Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the final round by defeating Britishers Helen Fletcher and Angela Mortimer, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Connolly, National and Wimbledon titlist, and Miss Brough, a nine - times National Doubles victor with now retired Mrs. Margaret Osborne Duport of Wilmington, Del., became finalists yesterday by topping Mrs. Thelma Long of Australia, and Mrs. Nancy Chaffee Kiner of Palm Springs, Calif., 6-2, 3-6, 9-7.

Except for the first set, which Sedgman and McGregor lost when the former's service was broken by a Rosewall backhanded base line placement in the 12th game, the title defenders always had the situation well in hand.

The Australian youngsters had ample opportunity to display their great skill, much to the delight of the well - packed gallery, but they never caused the defending champions much concern.

The 38-year-old Mulloy and Talbert — going on 34, — never had a chance against their hard driving opposition. Rose, a beaten finalist last year with countryman Don Candy, and the Philadelphia Seixas directed most of their power against Mulloy for the vital service breaks in each of the three sets.

Miss Hart and Miss Fry were so impressive against their British semi-finalists rivals that their chances of coping with Miss Connolly and Miss Brough appears greatly enhanced. The Californian team has beaten Miss Hart and Miss Fry twice in four tries this season, as recently as last week at nearby Manchester.

ACCLAIM HOGAN CREAM OF PROS

P. G. A. Vote Tags Benny Best In Last 50 Years

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)— Ben Hogan today was named the top professional golfer of the last 50 years in a poll conducted by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

P. G. A. headquarters said it polled 3,032 of its members as well as more than 900 sports writers and radio commentators.

Bobby Jones was selected the top amateur.

Hogan received 522 votes, three more than Walter Hagen. Gene Sarazen was third with 504, followed by Sam Snead 499, Byron Nelson 491, Tommy Armour 351, Lloyd Mangrum, 304, MacDonald Smith 172, Ralph Guldahl 145 and Jimmy Demaret 117.

Jones received 515 votes in the amateur group while Chick Evans was second with 447. Then came Francis Ouimet with 446, Lawson Little 389, Frank Stranahan 365, Willie Turnesa 331, Johnny Goodman 307, Jerry Travers 269, Dick Chapman 211 and George Von Elm 203.

In all, 106 pros and 193 amateurs received votes.

The 20 top golfers will be named to an honor roll at Washington, D. C., Sept. 20 as part of ceremonies of the National Celebrities Open.

300 Hot Rods In Utah Trials

BONNEVILLE, Utah, Aug. 23 (AP) — Four - thousand hot rod enthusiasts plus 300 cars, will begin competition Monday for honors in the fourth annual Bonneville National Speed Trials at the Western Utah Bonneville Salt Flats.

Nearly all the cars will have standard American production engines that have been modified in backyard garages.

This year's prizes will include the National Hot Rod Championship Perpetual Award, a special trophy and scholarship, two full tool kits and other valuable prizes. Willie Young, Denver won the trophy last year with a speed of 230 mph.

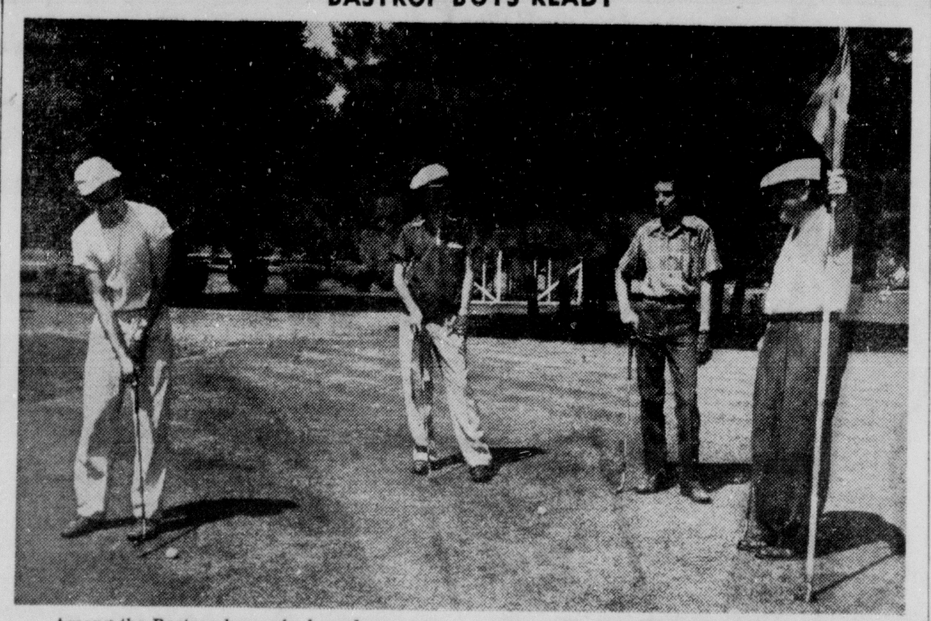

The National Speed Trials began in 1949 by the Southern California Timing Association to provide a proving ground for the fastest - growing sport.

Italian Captures World Road-Race Bicycle Title

LUXEMBOURG, Aug. 23 (AP)— Lucian Ciancola of Italy won the world amateur road-race bicycle championship today, covering 175 hilly kilometers (about 110 miles) in four hours, 22 minutes and 11 seconds.

The United States was not represented. Several racers, including Kato Tadashi of Japan, were hurt in a pileup as the speeding cyclists took a sharp turn in the village of Lubelange.

BASTROP BOYS READY

Among the Bastrop boys who have been practicing for the first annual northeast Louisiana Junior Golf championship tournament to be held Monday through Wednesday are Mark Hill, Don Sims and Jim Williams. The trio were recently photographed in practice at the municipal golf course with Milo Mattinson, pro at the Morehouse country club, who has been working with the youths. Reading from left to right, they are Hill, Sims, Williams and Mattinson. (Staff photo by John Fogleman.)

TECHMEN TO FLY TO TALLAHASSEE

Make Plane Trip For F. S. U. Contest September 27

RUSTON, Aug. 23 (Special)— Louisiana Tech is planning to charter a DC-6 plane to transport its football team for the first away-from-home game of the season this fall.

Coach Joe Aillet said the Techmen would board the plane at Monroe to fly to Tallahassee, Fla., to meet the Florida State University gridders on Saturday, Sept. 27.

For the other out-of-town contests this fall, the Tech Bulldogs will have at their convenience a 34-passenger steel bus purchased by the college during the past year. Those games include Northwestern at Shreveport on Oct. 18; Southwestern at Lafayette on Nov. 1, and Mississippi Southern at Hattiesburg on Nov. 15, as well as the Florida engagement.

The Techsters will open their nine-game card at Ruston with McNeese of Lake Charles at 8 p. m. Sept. 20. Other home encounters are with Memphis State at 8 p. m. Oct. 4; Central Oklahoma State College at 8 p. m. Oct. 11; Louisiana College at 2 p. m. Oct. 25 (homecoming), and Southeastern at 8 p. m. Nov. 8.

Practice sessions for the Bulldogs will begin on Monday, Sept. 1.

SHREVEPORT OUT FOR BAT MARKS

Sports Loom Strong In Several Texas Departments

DALLAS, Aug. 23 (AP) — For a team that has captured only one individual batting title in the last decade, Shreveport in the Texas League has big designs for making up lost time.

Only Nick Gregory's 28 homers in 1947 landed the Sports an honor since 1941, but now its different:

Grant Dunlap for one, seems the Sports' man of destiny as he continues to lead the batting averages again this week as all season. He is currently unloading at a .330 clip, built on 391 at bats with 129 hits. Not since Ray Radcliff's .361 in 1931 has a Sport led batting averages.

And Harry Elliott of the 1952 Sports is heading for the gold medal in most hits. Now he has 174, by 16 more than runner-up Earl York of Tulsa.

The Sports, who have not won the team title since 1916, also threaten in that department this season, ranking but a point behind Oklahoma City's .265. The Indians, incidentally, may protect that margin for a third consecutive title.

San Antonio's Harry Heslet is the only batter with two pace-setting marks: 28 home runs and 104 runs batted in.

Other leaders are these: Wayne Belardi of Fort Worth with 84 runs, Joe Frazier of Oklahoma City with 44 doubles, Jim Greengrass of Beaumont with 15 triples and Bill Hunter of Fort Worth with 20 stolen bases.

Dallas' duo of pitchers, Hal Erickson and Dave Hoskins, show why the Eagles are first in the loop. Erickson has posted the most wins on a 19-11 record, with Hoskins right behind on 18-10.

Bill Tremel of Shreveport has a 9-2 mark for the best percentage, .818; John Gray of Beaumont is the king of whiff with 148 strikeouts, and Bill Glane (7-6) of Fort Worth is earned run leader at 1.50.

Segura, Budge Take Net Exhibitions In Belgium

OSTEND, BELGIUM, Aug. 23 (AP) — Pancho Segura of Ecuador and Forest Hills, N. Y., defeated Dinny Pails of Australia, 7-5, 6-3, today in the feature match of a professional tennis exhibition.

In another match, Don Budge of New York, trimmed Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-2. Gonzales and Budge defeated Segura and Pails in doubles, 6-4, 7-5.

Mercer Tennille Claims His Fourth Trapshooting Doubles Championship

Shreveport Sportsman Beats Out Allen Of Des Moines

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 23 (AP)—Silence settled over this Miami valley village late today as the echoes of the 1,500,000 target Grand American Trapshoot died away and champions headed to all parts of the country with their winnings.

Mercer Tennille, 45-year-old insurance man from Shreveport, La. won the national doubles championship for the fourth time in today's windup affair and the open handicap event went to John Coulson, 45-year-old road-tar salesman from Monongahela, Pa.

Tennille was tied at 95 of 100 by Bob Allen of Des Moines, Ia., in the twin-target race but defeated Allen 19 to 18 in a 20-target shootoff.

Coulson broke 97 of 100 from 19 yards in the handicap to nose out J. W. Schmidt of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, who broke 96 from 21 yards.

Miss Iva Pembridge of Phillipsburg, Kan., won the women's doubles championship, the school teacher breaking 84 of 100 and the junior laurels went to Bob Autrey of Atlanta, Ga., with 88.

Cliff B. Doughman of Morrow, O., won the professional title with 93. Rudy Etchen, of Sun Valley, Ida., who deserted the professional ranks to become an amateur, won the overall championship and the all-round championship for the week's shooting. He broke 961 of 1,000 targets, 600 at 16 yards, 300 at handicaps and 100 doubles to defeat Arnold Riegger, last year's overall champion who had 957.

Ned Lilly, of Stanton, Mich., the 1950 overall champion, finished third with 953. Etchen took the all-around title based on scores in the 200 target North American clay target championship, the Grand American Handicap and today's double event with 381 of 400.

Lilly and Rolfe Simpson of Portland, Ore., tied for second with 380.

Mrs. Frances King, Atlanta, Ga. grandmother who annually awards the King Trophy to the high overall woman champion, won her own award today by breaking 919 of 1,000 in the overall race and 361 of 400 in the all-around. Miss Pembridge was second in each event getting 906 in the overall and 359 in the all-around.

Young Autrey gave Atlanta its second overall and all - around championships as he grabbed the Junior Laurels for the week. He broke 948 of 1,000 to defeat George Genereux of Sasketoon, Sask., Canada's Olympic gold medal winner who scored 943.

Young Autrey took the all-around with 377 to Genereux' 369. Both Mrs. King and young Autrey were named captains of their division on the sports field All-America trap shooting team for 1952 as a result of their outstanding showing here, the first time a single city has gained such an honor.

The professional overall and all-around titles went to Cliff Doughman, the overall with 950 of 1,000 and the all-around with 370 of 400.

Tom Lynott of Salt Lake City, was second with scores of 935 and 361.

'CURLY' LAMBEAU REDSKINS' COACH

Succeeds Dick Todd Who Was Given Air Thursday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23 (AP)— Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau, veteran of the National Football League wars, today stepped into the league's hottest coaching spot — the head man's job with the Washington Redskins.

Owner George Preston Marshall announced the signing of Lambeau, former Green Bay Packers and Chicago Cardinals coach. Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but it was reliably indicated Lambeau will receive $15,000 for the first year with a bonus if the Redskins have a good season.

If they don't, Lambeau may follow a long line of ex-Redskin coaches in the past decade including Ray Flaherty, Dutch Bergman, Turk Edwards, Dud Degroot, Herman Ball and Dick Todd.

Todd walked the Marshall plank Thursday as the Skins bowed to the Rams, 45-23, in their second straight pre-season loss.

"I am cold - blooded when it comes to the Redskins," Marshall told writers at an informal luncheon yesterday. "I owe it to the Washington fans to give them a winner. It's up to the coach to produce. If he doesn't, I get another."

Lambeau, 54, thus forewarned, indicated he would make no major changes in what he termed "a very fine ball club."

At the same time, Sammy Baugh, now in his 16th year — a record — with Marshall, signed a new contract as backfield coach and player. Backfield Coach Jerry Neri resigned to rejoin Jordan Olivar at Yale. Neri assisted Olivar at Loyola University of Los Angeles for several years.

Baugh, incidentally, said earlier he was "absolutely not interested" in the head coach job.

Lambeau called a meeting of the coaching staff today and said he'll talk things over with the team Monday. The team's next game is an exhibition against Dallas Sept. 5.

The Redskins open the N. F. L. season at Chicago against the Cardinals, whom Lambeau coached last year. He had only so - so success with the Cards in 1950 and 1951 after 31 years with Green Bay. Previously he led the Packers to six world titles.

An ex- Notre Dame halfback, Lambeau played with the Packers the first 10 years he coached them.

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 23 (AP)— Ever hear of a golfer getting a hole-in-one righthanded and another lefthanded?

Foy Fanning, professional at just done it.

In January, 1950, he shot the righthanded hole - in - one. This week he registered one lefthanded, using a nine iron for a 128-yard shot on hole No. 16.

Fanning has a theory that if a man is righthanded he should play golf lefthanded. He says the right arm is the master arm.

FUTURITY TAKEN BY MR. PARADISE

Eddie Arcaro Boots Home Winner Ahead Of Mr. Good

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Mr. Paradise, with Eddie Arcaro aboard, today won the $107,120 Washington Park Futurity, beating his Arlington Futurity conqueror, Mr. Good, by a length and a half.

Arcaro recorded his 31st stakes victory of the season and raised to $994,722.50 the amount of money his staes triumphs have earned.

Mr. Paradise is owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, wife of a Chicago grain operator. The two-year-old son of Errada—Harriet's Kid was followed by Mr. Good with King Pin, owned by Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., in third place another length and a half back.

The easterner invader, Sun Warrior, finished fourth three lengths back of King Pin.

In all, this year, Arcaro has ridden 659 horses and has finished first 153 times, his total earnings being $1,866,516.

Mr. Paradise, who went to the post an 8 to 5 favorite of the crowd of 26,034, sprinted the six furlongs in 1:10 3-5 and returned $5.20, $2.80 and $2.20. Mr. Good paid $4.60 and $3.20. King Pin, which was coupled with Regal Manner paid $2.80 to show.

Mr. Paradise, triumph was worth $79,710 and brought his earnings for 10 races $105,860. Mr. Good, which beat Mr. Paradise by three lengths in the Arlington Futurity, received $15,000 for second place and King Pin collected $7,500 for third.

The winner went into the six furlong dash with the most consistent record of the field with two firsts, three seconds and one third in nine starts.

Arcaro kept Mr. Paradise back in sixth place for the first quarter while King Pin, piloted by Kenneth Church, and Mr. Good ridden by Douglas Dodson, were scrambling for the lead.

Mr. Good took a slight lead over King Pin at the half-mile but Arcaro and Mr. Paradise were only two lengths back. On the turn into the home stretch Arcaro brought Mr. Paradise up with the leaders and hugging the rail passed them to triumph going away.

Mr. Paradise victory was the second for Mrs. Rice in the Futurity. Model Cadet triumphed for her in 1948.

Thirty daily double players in the crowd of 26,034 were rewarded with $3,092.60, the largest combination payoff in Chicago's racing season, when Howard A. Jones' Riskall won the first race at $186 for $2 and E. C. Roth's Gold Boots the second at $49.40. Riskall, a first starter, is a two-year-old son of Free For All, which captured both the Arlington and Washington Park futurities in 1944.

The daily double record of $10,772 was set in Washington Park in 1939.

Despirito Has Three Winners

The 17-year-old apprentice booted home 54 winners in the 24-day meeting.

He brought in Dancing Man first in the third race to pay $8.60, Idio in the fifth at $5.40 and Dawn O'Peace in the ninth at $5. He also had two seconds and a third and finished out of the money three times.

In the featured mile and a sixteenth Desert Inn Purse, T. P. Morgan's Grover B. scored by a head over J. M. Lingle's Larry Ellis, favorite of the 22,000 fans. Frankie Zehr was up on Grover B. and Despirito on Larry Ellis.

Grover B. paid $15.80, $6 and $4 after covering the route in 1:42 4-5.

Don Allen Marches Ahead Of Jones In Scrap For League Batting Title

Monroe First Baseman Five Points Out Of Top Spot

BY J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Aug. 23 —(Special) — Don Allen, Natchez, has stepped out in front of the Cotton States League batters for a second time.

Collecting eight hits in 21 times at bat during the week's six games, the Indian star picked up three points to break the tie and pull away from his first base-hitting rival, John Paul Jones, Monroe, who lost ground in his fight for the mace crown.

In 88 games Allen has appeared at bat 336 times with 112 connections for a mark of .333. Included in the base hit assortment are 18 doubles, eight triples and nine homers for 173 total bases. He has scored 64 times and batted in 58 runs since his purchase from the Kitty League.

Jones has appeared in all of the Sports' 119 contests, facing the pitchers 464 times for 152 safeties and a .328 average. He has 19 two baggers, 10 triples and seven four masters for 213 total bases. In addition to scoring 71 times the ex-Texas Christian University luminary has accounted for 87 rbi's. He leads in hits, total bases and runs batted in.

Far back in third place is three - time batting champion in the Class B Tri - State League and holder of that loop's highest average, with .314, a gain of 14 points with 26-12.

Troy Mitchell, big chief of the Natchez Indians, rates fourth at .311. Hillis Layne, Pine Bluff Judge skipper, is fifth at .305, one point ahead of Hugh Glaze, Meridian third baseman, with .304, the same record as Ray Perry, El Dorado boss. Nels Daehn, Monroe, .301, and Don Petchow, El Dorado, .300, complete the select .300 membership. Petchow vaulted 15 points to reclaim his membership with a batting chart of 27-11 for the week ending Tuesday night, as compiled by the Friend News Service.

Leon Waszk, Pine Bluff's fiery little catcher, continued to climb in the batting standings. He is just one point away from the .300 circle with .299, a gain of eight decimals. During the last six weeks Leon has moved from .272 with consistency.

Gene Pompelia, Meridian, enjoys the distinction of being the first batter to score 100 runs. Four tallies upped him to that figure. Hal Walther, .288, Natchez, leads in doubles with 30, one more than Al DeLuca, Pine Bluff (.258). Bill Carr, (.258) Natchez speedster, has legged out 27, and swiped 46 bases, two more than Marty Devlin, Greenwood (.231), his No. 1 theft foe. George Wegeruk, (.224), Pine Bluff, took over in triples with No. 12, the same as Bob Dolan, (.275) Greenwood. Perry bagged his 15th homer and enabled him to keep ahead of Roxie Humberson (.264), El Dorado, who slugged his 14th. Dolf Regelsky, Meridian, poled a pair while boosting his batting average to a respectable .286.

Bobby Harrison, Meridian ace, lost his fourth game of the year to Greenwood, but his 24-4 winning record is by far the best of the other pitchers. Art (Mike) Rainey, Natchez, and the veteran Vallie Eaves, Meridian, have copped five of six decisions. Darvin Chrisco, Monroe dropped his fifth, as against 13 victories. John Forizs, Greenwood star right-handed ace, is at the threshhold of the 20-game winning group with 19-8. Ottis Jacobs, Monroe, is ready to knock with 18-12. Pete Bardin, Natchez (17-9) and Joe Kopach, Meridian, (17-11) may make it yet. George Bielik, El Dorado prize rookie, has 16-7. Forizs manages to keep ahead of his mound partner and teammate, Danny McDevitt, in strikeouts, 240-238. Closest to the pair is Jacobs with 155. Chrisco has fanned 146. McDevitt has wielded the kalsomine brush six times; Bardin and Bielk four times apiece. Harrison has worked the most innings, 244 2-3. Jacobs can show 241 rounds on the mound; Bardin 232 1-3; Art Hamilton 222 with the rejuvenated Greenville Bucks.

One Hitter Victor In Companion Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's unbeaten Native Dancer virtually sewed up the Eastern Juvenile Championship today, winning the 50th running of the Grand Hotel Stakes for his fifth straight victory.

The strong-boned son of Polynesian-Geisha was not extended in taking the $15,500 stake by 3½ lengths from Trio Stable's New Jersey invader, Laffango.

Ben F. Whitaker's Tahitian King, hitherto unbeaten in four starts, was a poor third, trailing the runnerup by 2½ lengths. George D. Widener's entry of Platan and Muharram, the outsiders in the small field, completed the lineup.

Native Dancer under topweight of 126 pounds, zoomed over the six furlongs in 1:11 1-5, fastest time of the meeting, though the track still seemed somewhat "dead" from recent rains. He was odds-on favorite, paying $3.10 and $2.40. There was no show betting.

Laffango, which had won his last four starts at Jersey tracks, paid $3.80 Place. The pace was sizzling—:22 4-5 for the first quarter-mile and :46 2-5 for the half-mile.

The Vanderbilt home-bred broke from No. 1 post. Though he was on top in the first few stages, his rider, heady Eric Guerin, apparently saw no reason to rush him and Laffango and Tahitian King moved out in front.

But Guerin, taking Native Dancer off the rail had dead aim on the leaders on the turn, and once he turned the gray colt loose it was apparent to all that it would be no contest.

Greentree's One Hitter raced to an easy triumph in the 50th Saratoga Handicap the companion piece to the Grand Union.

The pint-sized son of Shut Out pulled away when Ted Atkinson levelled him off at the head of the stretch, and he stepped down the wire six lengths clear of Ogden Phipps' mare, Busanda. The latter was a head before Brookmeade stable's Greek Ship, while Putnam stable's Combat Boots was fourth.

One Hitter, under 116 pounds, was a staunch favorite at $5.20, $4.00 and $2.90. This was his 17th victory in 78 starts and the $20,750 he earned today pushed his total to $279,925.

Bastrop Defeats Crossett, 9 To 3

BASTROP, La., Aug. 23 — (Special) — The Bastrop Barons need only one inning last night to wrap up a 9-3 victory over the Crossett Millers in an exhibition contest at Crossett, Ark. The Barons, member of the Big Eight League, scored all their runs in the eighth inning as eleven men came to bat.

Wolfe's two - run homer in the sixth accounted for the Crossett runs.

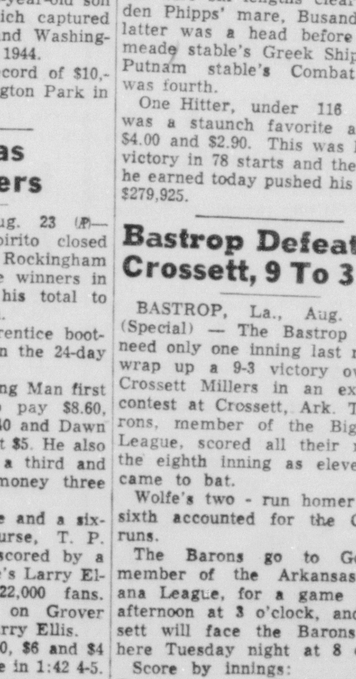

The Barons go to Goodwill, member of the Arkansas-Louisiana League, for a game Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and Crossett will face the Barons again here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Score by innings:

Bastrop	000 000 090—9 9 0
Crossett	000 003 000—3 4 6

TAX SETTLEMENT WILL BE PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Some time next week a long-secret area of the government's dealings with the public—settlement of tax claims by compromise—will become open to the public.

An executive order from President Truman last Wednesday authorized the Bureau of Internal Revenue to open its tax compromise files—a step long sought by newspapers, news agencies and some legislators, particularly Sen. Williams (R-Del).

The idea behind the pressure was that most people have to pay their taxes in full, and that when a taxpayer is allowed to get off with paying only part of what he owes, the rest of the taxpayers should be told how and why.

A number of such compromises have come to light recently, most of them unearthed by Williams and other congressional investigators.

And taxpayers have been asking questions about the whole situation. Among them:

1. What is, and what is not, a compromise tax settlement?
2. Who can get a compromise settlement, and how is it done?
3. What cases does Truman's order cover—past—as well as current settlements?
4. Just how will the bureau make public accepted settlements?
5. To whom will the opened files be available?

Here are the answers, from Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap and other bureau officials:

1. A compromise settlement is one settled for less than the tax assessed because:

A. The taxpayer cannot, for some reason, pay the full taxes he owes and admits he owes.

B. The taxpayer did not owe all he was assessed.

C. The case is settled on the basis of an "offer in compromise" from the taxpayer—an offer to pay less than he is assessed.

2. Anyone can get a compromise settlement who is broke or in difficulty and cannot pay his taxes. Congress itself provided the compromise as an escape valve.

"What about a widow whose chief legacy is a tax debt?" says Dunlap. "It is the same for a man who has gone broke, and is trying to get re-established. Maybe he made a lot of money last year, but by tax time is broke.

"Do we have to sell up a small manufacturer, who employes people, but who is on the verge of bankruptcy, and drive him out of business — thereby throwing his people out ofwork? We can make a compromise settlement.

"The criterion is: what is best for the government, and that includes the people."

3. The bureau has interpreted the order opening compromise tax settlements as applying to all cases settled from the date of the order.

3. Tha bureau has interpreted the order opening compromise tax settlements as applying to all cases settled from the date of the order—Aug. 20, 1952. That means the thousands of cases already settled by compromise remain closed—unless the bureau makes some of them public on its own initiative. This has been done when some of them became involved in public controversy.

4. The bureau plans to prepare files which will contain the name of the taxpayer, the amount assessed of his ability to pay and of his tax liability, a brief history of the case, the taxpayer's offer of compromise, the compromise amount accepted, and the bureau's reasoning in accepting it.

5. A spokesman said the bureau does not interpret the order opening compromise files to mean that anyone who is curious about his neighbor's taxes can ask the bureau if a certain case was settled in compromise, and find out.

In the Aug. 7 order Dunlap said details would be divulged to "responsible members of the press who have a legitimate concern" with the case. The spokesman said inspection would be limited to the press, as outlined by Dunlap, and to congressmen and others with a "legitimate" interest, not just curiosity.

OPTIMISTS HEAR THREE SPEAKERS

The Monroe chapter of the Optimist club heard three addresses at the weekly meeting of the organization in the Frances Hotel Friday.

Members of the local chapter heard speeches delivered by Buz Smith, District Lt. Governor, Bill Smith international boys work chairman, and 12-year-old Jack Mulkey of Shreveport.

Smith spoke on the coming national oratorical contest to be held this year in Tulsa, Okla. The annual contest, sponsored by the Optimists, is open to youths up to 16 years old.

Smith explained that each club chooses an entry in the district convention. The winner of the district contest automatically goes to the national contest. The victor in this contest is awarded with a four - year scholarship to any college of his choice.

The international boys work chairman then introduced 12-year-old Jack Mulkey, zone representative chosen at the district convention. The Shreveport youth delivered a five-minute speech on "Optimism for Courageous Living."

Abbott then spoke on the important training and experience contestants receive in preparing for these contests. He urged the Monroe chapter to support their local boys to select an entry for the contest this year.

RIDE GOES BERSERK

DENVER (AP)—The scene was the "Hurricane" concession at Lakeside Amusement Park with metal planes whirling in circles at the end of steel cables.

Alex Brunner 35, who was at the controls, decided to step to the fence for a word with his wife, Mabel, 28. One of the plane wings struck him and knocked him flat. Mrs. Brunner ran to help him and another plane knocked her down. As both lay stunned, the planes kept spinning around with the riders helpless to halt them.

Finally, a bystander ducked under the whizzing planes and fiddled with the controls until he stopped them. The Brunners were taken to a hospital to patch up their head cuts.

TRANSLATION COMPLETED

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The British and Foreign Bible Society will soon publish a translation of the complete Bible by a group of comparatively uneducated Solomon Island natives.

The translation, into Ulesaghi, a language spoken by thousands of natives who live on islands surrounding the Marovo Lagoon in the Western Solomons, has been made by three Seventh Day Adventist native teachers and an Australian Adventist missionary.

Smith spoke on the coming national oratorical contest to be held this year in Tulsa, Okla. The annual contest, sponsored by the Optimists, is open to youths up to 16 years old.

Smith explained that each club chooses an entry in the district convention. The winner of the district contest automatically goes to the national contest. The victor in this contest is awarded with a four - year scholarship to any college of his choice.

The international boys work chairman then introduced 12-year-old Jack Mulkey, zone representative chosen at the district convention. The Shreveport youth delivered a five-minute speech on "Optimism for Courageous Living."

Abbott then spoke on the important training and experience contestants receive in preparing for these contests. He urged the Monroe chapter to support their local boys to select an entry for the contest this year.

RIDE GOES BERSERK

DENVER (AP)—The scene was the "Hurricane" concession at Lakeside Amusement Park with metal planes whirling in circles at the end of steel cables.

Alex Brunner 35, who was at the controls, decided to step to the fence for a word with his wife, Mabel, 28. One of the plane wings struck him and knocked him flat. Mrs. Brunner ran to help him and another plane knocked her down. As both lay stunned, the planes kept spinning around with the riders helpless to halt them.

Finally, a bystander ducked under the whizzing planes and fiddled with the controls until he stopped them. The Brunners were taken to a hospital to patch up their head cuts.

TRANSLATION COMPLETED

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The British and Foreign Bible Society will soon publish a translation of the complete Bible by a group of comparatively uneducated Solomon Island natives.

The translation, into Ulesaghi, a language spoken by thousands of natives who live on islands surrounding the Marovo Lagoon in the Western Solomons, has been made by three Seventh Day Adventist native teachers and an Australian Adventist missionary.

Report Strange Object Landed In South Fla.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 23 (AP)—A deputy sheriff and two Boy Scouts today added details to a scoutmaster's story of his encounter with a strange object in a rural wooded area Tuesday night.

They told of scorched grass, strange lights and showers of sparks in the area where D. S. Desvergers said he was "blasted by a ball of fire" from the object when he investigated flashes of light near a country road.

Desvergers, 30, hardware salesman and former Marine, said he was questioned last night at the West Palm Beach International Airport by officers from Washington whom he refused to identify.

The scoutmaster has described the object he encountered as shaped "like half a rubber ball," about three feet thick at the edges and high enough at the center for men to stand erect inside.

He told a Palm Beach reporter today that he nows what the object was, but added "it's better for me not to go any further for the public's good because it might cause ... panic."

Desvergers reported he was taking three scouts home Tuesday night when he stopped to investigate the lights in nearby woods. He said when he flashed his light on the object, he was blasted by the ball of fire and overcome.

Deputy Sheriff Mott N. Partin, summoned by the scouts, said the hair was singed off Desvergers' arms and three tiny holes were burned in his cap. He also said he found evidence of scorched grass where the scoutmaster said he encountered the object.

One of the scouts, Charles Stevens, said the group saw a "big glowing white light come down out of the sky" and "there were about six reddish lights around it when it neared the ground."

David Rowan, another scout, said that soon after Desvergers entered the woods, something "went off and showered sparks all over the area like a Roman candle."

sentatives of the four powers with the following agenda:

"Item A—Preparation of a German peace treaty.

"Item B—Formation of an all-German government.

"Item C—Carrying out all-German elections and on a commission for the verification of the existence in Germany of conditions for carrying out such elections, its composition, functions and powers.

"At the same time, the Soviet government proposes to discuss at the meeting of the four powers the question of a time limit for the withdrawal from Germany of occupation armies.

"The Soviet government proposes also to invite to participate in the consideration of relevant questions representatives of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) and the German Federal Republic (West Germany)."

The Soviet notes had previously declared the Soviet government sees no basis for "limitation of the circle of questions for discussion at the four power meeting" only to a German elections commission.

The notes asserted that by the limitation of the proposed discussion "and avoiding consideration of the most important questions relating to Germany, the governments of the United States, Britain, and France act as if they intend that a meeting of the representatives of the four powers should give the least possible results or be entirely without results."

Stevenson Still Not Certain On Tidelands

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson today declared himself against any "blanket cession" of tidelands oil to the states but said that he favored an "equitable" solution to break the present stalement in the fight.

Reiterating his stand on this hot political issue, Stevenson issued a statement in which he said he accepted the Supreme Court decision holding the federal government has "paramount rights" to the rich offshore oil deposits.

He also said he agreed with president Truman's veto of legislation, which would have given complete control of the tidelands to the states.

But then he added as a qualification of this stand:

"At the moment there is a legislative stalemate, however, which is harmful to both the states and nation. It should be broken by enactment of legislation providing equitable arrangement for administration of these lands and the disposition of their proceeds. . . . I think we should continue to work in the direction of this kind of a solution which is mindful of the respective interests of the states and the federal government."

Stevenson issued the statement after he had talked with Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas for more than five hours.

Shivers told reporters, "I can't concur in the statement."

And then Shivers said:

"I'm going to report to the people in Texas and do whatever they want to do. I'll make my report through the press."

Shivers immediately left the mansion and headed for the airport to return to Austin, Texas.

Following an earlier meeting today, Shivers told newsmen Stevenson was trying to find a "morally and politically honest" solution to the problem.

Shivers came here this morning and spent almost four hours discussing the problem with Stevenson, who has said he wanted more information before reaching a firm decision on the issue.

About an hour and a half later, Shivers returned for a second session.

"The governor and I had a most enjoyable visit," Shivers said after the first conference. He listened very patiently and attentively to my discussion of the tidelands oil question.

"And I think he is earnestly trying to seek a solution that would be both morally and politically honest to the interests of the states and the federal government."

But Shivers indicated he was waiting until Stevenson makes up his mind before deciding what he will do about supporting the Democratic nominee.

A reporter asked the Texan if he would "go fishing" in November in case Stevenson's decision did not please him and those who share his position.

Shivers replied: "Well, we'll wait and see how things come out on this." But he did say he had invited Stevenson to make two or three campaign speeches in Texas so the people could get to know him. He said Stevenson told him he wanted to visit Texas but that no commitments were made.

ANTI-BRITISH FEELING HIGH

TOKYO, Sunday, Aug. 24 (AP)—The British are buffeted by a wave of unpopularity in Japan.

Hardly a day passes without an anti-British story in the press or an anti-British speech in the Diet.

The current diplomatic wrangle over two British sailors, convicted of robbery by a Japanese court, is only the latest in the series of pinpricks between the two nations.

Feeling has reached a point where some serious-minded Japanese editors and politicians are telling their more excited fellow citizens to take it easy—that a breach between the two island nations would make none but the Communists happy.

The open display of anti-British feeling dates from the first of the year. Its causes stem from trading problems, money problems, and national and racial consciousness.

In January, some Hong Kong merchants accused Japanese textile exporters of resorting to prewar-style dumping and glutting the Hong Kong cloth market.

The Japanese government reported that if there was any dumping it was by Hong Kong currency speculators on a buying spree in Japan to convert hard-to-trade sterling into marketable products.

A few weeks later, without warning or consultation, the Japanese Finance Ministry slapped a partial embargo on textiles and steel bound for Great Britain and the many nations of Britain's sterling bloc.

Young Father And 2 Children Drown

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Aug. 23 (AP)—A young Hammond father drowned with two of his children today after ordering his eldest to cling to their overturned canoe.

Edward Kreyscher, 33-year-old telephone repairman, tried to swim to the shore of Myer Lake with his son, Dan, 7, and his daughter, Kristy, 4. While their wife and mother, Mrs. Alice Kreyscher, watched helplessly, they screamed for help and sank.

The eldest child, Karen, 9, clung to the canoe as her father had ordered and was rescued by a neighbor in a boat.

The cotton produced 780 pounds of seed.

Wilson, a World War II veteran of the infantry, lived in Caldwell parish until January of this year, when he moved to Ward 9 of this parish. He is married and the father of five children, all of whom are 4-H members. They operate a 135 acre farm and have averaged a bale to the acre this year.

Wilson said Saturday morning that he wants to go into diversified farming and eventually to enter the presently booming poultry business in and around Ouachita parish.

Chamber of Commerce vice-president Jack Masur and vice-chairman of the C of C Agricultural committee, Lee Vanderpool, congratulated the Ward 9 farmer on his plans for diversified farming. They stated further that this type of farming would eventually be accepted throughout the state.

sentatives of the four powers with the following agenda:

"Item A—Preparation of a German peace treaty.

"Item B—Formation of an all-German government.

"Item C—Carrying out all-German elections and on a commission for the verification of the existence in Germany of conditions for carrying out such elections, its composition, functions and powers.

"At the same time, the Soviet government proposes to discuss at the meeting of the four powers the question of a time limit for the withdrawal from Germany of occupation armies.

"The Soviet government proposes also to invite to participate in the consideration of relevant questions representatives of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) and the German Federal Republic (West Germany)."

The Soviet notes had previously declared the Soviet government sees no basis for "limitation of the circle of questions for discussion at the four power meeting" only to a German elections commission.

The notes asserted that by the limitation of the proposed discussion "and avoiding consideration of the most important questions relating to Germany, the governments of the United States, Britain, and France act as if they intend that a meeting of the representatives of the four powers should give the least possible results or be entirely without results."

ANTI-BRITISH FEELING HIGH

TOKYO, Sunday, Aug. 24 (AP)—The British are buffeted by a wave of unpopularity in Japan.

Hardly a day passes without an anti-British story in the press or an anti-British speech in the Diet.

The current diplomatic wrangle over two British sailors, convicted of robbery by a Japanese court, is only the latest in the series of pinpricks between the two nations.

Feeling has reached a point where some serious-minded Japanese editors and politicians are telling their more excited fellow citizens to take it easy—that a breach between the two island nations would make none but the Communists happy.

The open display of anti-British feeling dates from the first of the year. Its causes stem from trading problems, money problems, and national and racial consciousness.

In January, some Hong Kong merchants accused Japanese textile exporters of resorting to prewar-style dumping and glutting the Hong Kong cloth market.

The Japanese government reported that if there was any dumping it was by Hong Kong currency speculators on a buying spree in Japan to convert hard-to-trade sterling into marketable products.

A few weeks later, without warning or consultation, the Japanese Finance Ministry slapped a partial embargo on textiles and steel bound for Great Britain and the many nations of Britain's sterling bloc.

Stevenson Still Not Certain On Tidelands

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson today declared himself against any "blanket cession" of tidelands oil to the states but said that he favored an "equitable" solution to break the present stalement in the fight.

Reiterating his stand on this hot political issue, Stevenson issued a statement in which he said he accepted the Supreme Court decision holding the federal government has "paramount rights" to the rich offshore oil deposits.

He also said he agreed with president Truman's veto of legislation, which would have given complete control of the tidelands to the states.

But then he added as a qualification of this stand:

"At the moment there is a legislative stalemate, however, which is harmful to both the states and nation. It should be broken by enactment of legislation providing equitable arrangement for administration of these lands and the disposition of their proceeds. . . . I think we should continue to work in the direction of this kind of a solution which is mindful of the respective interests of the states and the federal government."

Stevenson issued the statement after he had talked with Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas for more than five hours.

Shivers told reporters, "I can't concur in the statement."

And then Shivers said:

"I'm going to report to the people in Texas and do whatever they want to do. I'll make my report through the press."

Shivers immediately left the mansion and headed for the airport to return to Austin, Texas.

Following an earlier meeting today, Shivers told newsmen Stevenson was trying to find a "morally and politically honest" solution to the problem.

Shivers came here this morning and spent almost four hours discussing the problem with Stevenson, who has said he wanted more information before reaching a firm decision on the issue.

About an hour and a half later, Shivers returned for a second session.

"The governor and I had a most enjoyable visit," Shivers said after the first conference. He listened very patiently and attentively to my discussion of the tidelands oil question.

"And I think he is earnestly trying to seek a solution that would be both morally and politically honest to the interests of the states and the federal government."

But Shivers indicated he was waiting until Stevenson makes up his mind before deciding what he will do about supporting the Democratic nominee.

A reporter asked the Texan if he would "go fishing" in November in case Stevenson's decision did not please him and those who share his position.

Shivers replied: "Well, we'll wait and see how things come out on this." But he did say he had invited Stevenson to make two or three campaign speeches in Texas so the people could get to know him. He said Stevenson told him he wanted to visit Texas but that no commitments were made.

Young Father And 2 Children Drown

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Aug. 23 (AP)—A young Hammond father drowned with two of his children today after ordering his eldest to cling to their overturned canoe.

Edward Kreyscher, 33-year-old telephone repairman, tried to swim to the shore of Myer Lake with his son, Dan, 7, and his daughter, Kristy, 4. While their wife and mother, Mrs. Alice Kreyscher, watched helplessly, they screamed for help and sank.

The eldest child, Karen, 9, clung to the canoe as her father had ordered and was rescued by a neighbor in a boat.

1734. OLD STATE HOUSE, Independence Hall, Philadelphia

AP Newsfeatures

ON JULY 4, 1776, the Declaration of Indepence was signed in this building. It sets a pattern for self-government which would be followed by many nations throughout the civilized world. This venerable edifice was then called the State House and the Declaration was signed in the East Room, henceforth, "Independence Hall." On the outside west wall, there was a large town clock. There was no clock in the wooden steeple, surmounting the building. This steeple, being considered unsound, was later removed. The vacant place was roofed over and topped by a steeple, just large enough to accommodate the bell. The old State House, completed in 1734, was started in 1729, and coincidentally, just a century later, 1829, the present steeple, a replica of the original, with clock faces added, was erected.

Humidity Control Saves Condensation Damage

By MR. FIX

Distributed by NEA Service

Moisture condensation has be - come a distressing problem to owners of the new, well-insulated and vapor - proofed houses.

Moisture, checked by vapor barriers and unable to escape through walls and ceilings or through the cracks around windows and doors, as it does in older homes, settles inside.

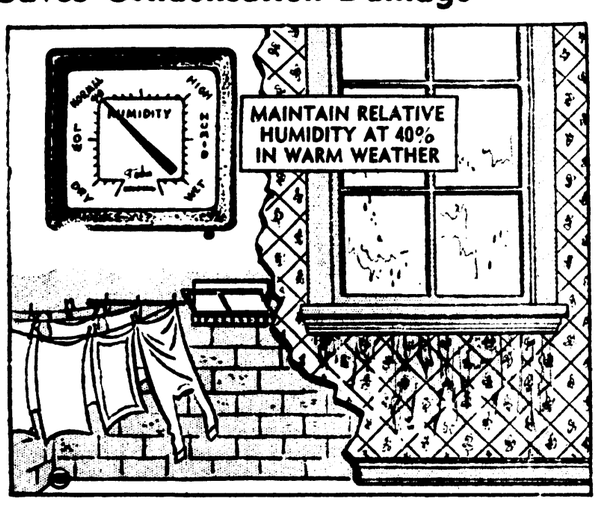

Whereas older homes are liable to damage from condensation within the walls and behind siding — where it may cause paint to peel and interior materials to rot — properly vapor - proofed and insulated homes aren't affected in this way.

Just the same, condensation forms near windows and other cold surfaces — moisture that may ruin draperies, walls below windows and on rugs on floors. It may warp doors, drawers and window sash.

This moisture originates during cooking, laundering, bathing, dishwashing clothes drying, etc. It is contained in invisible vapor which condenses upon being cooled rapidly.

The problem is to cut down the humidity generated within the house and to let it escape. A certain amount of humidity is necessary for health and comfort, but beyond that amount damage will result.

Relative humidity for 70 degrees F. inside temperatures should be maintained at not over 40 per cent if outside temperature is above 10 degrees; not over 35 per cent when outside temperature is 10 to 0 degrees; not over 25 per cent at 0 degrees to —10; not over 20 per cent at —10 to —20 degrees; and not over 15 per cent at —20 degrees or below.

If you hang clothing to dry in the house, prevent damaging condensation by maintaining humidity at the proper level.

Homeowners can buy inexpen - sive humidity indicators to keep up with humidity changes within their homes.

Here are some other measures to take in control of humidity, to prevent damaging condensation:

1. Control artificial humidifica - tion, if such a system is used, by maintaining relative humidity at less than 40 per cent.

2. If clothes are washed and dried inside the house, open windows to allow the moisture to escape.

3. Open windows to give moisture from boiling, cooking or bathing a chance to escape.

4. Since gas liberates much water, be sure gas - burning appliances are properly vented.

5. Open all basement, attic and crawl - space ventilators, or provide such ventilation if there is none. Minimize moisture in other ways if extreme cold prohibits this precaution.

6. It may be necessary to open bedroom windows or fireplace damper for additional ventilation, even in the winter. But this should be done at night.

7. Fall and spring rains saturate basement walls if proper drainage or water - proofing precautions aren't taken. This moisture will seep into the basement in the winter.

8. Install storm windows if they are not used.

'Asphalt Mulch' Protects Newly Seeded Lawn

By HENRY PREE

A thin coating of hot asphalt sprayed on a new lawn immediately after seed is sown is the quickest way to get the grass seedlings started.

Prof. H. M. Smith, soils technician at the University of Illinois, has tested the spray over a three-year period and believes it's an excellent answer to the old problem of holding soil, seed and fertilizer in place until the seedling grasses are well established.

The asphalt makes a dry covering less than 1-16-inch thick which does not stick to your feet. Legume - grass mixtures grow right through this covering. Bluegrass, alta fescue, rye-grass, redtop, red clover, Korean lespedeza, Ladina clover and small grains have all come through the asphalt in fine shape.

Recommended spraying rates are from two to three-tenths of a gallon per square yard and slightly more on steep slopes. The asphalt stops the soil from washing while the seedlings develop, but seems to break down within a year. No ill effects on the soil have been [illegible] Smith observed that [illegible] developed check plots, a point to remember for fall seedings.

Hot asphalt spray holds soil, seed and fertilizer in place until seedling grasses are well established.

seeding under asphalt sprays always came up a week or two earlier.

The black asphalt seems to absorb more heat and seal in some of the moisture, producing earlier germination. Yet enough small cracks develop in the coating to let moisture in. It's best to sprinkle the area before seeding and coating in dry weather.

Smith warns that ordinary road-construction asphalts should not be used for this purpose. Special "asphalt mulches," produced by oil companies, have given good results in the tests.

At recommended rates of application, Smith figures the cost would be 5 to 8 cents a square yard, in some cases cheaper than a straw mulch. And the asphalt don't blow away and there's no danger of fire or weeds.

A three - gallon orchard sprayer or ordinary spray rig, both with enlarged nozzle openings, can be used to apply the emulsion. The cut-back "asphalt mulch" must be heated to 170 degrees. Highway departments and custom spray operators should have equipment for applying this type.

The asphalt should be sprayed, not sprinkled, on the soil. The fact that the home owner has no means of easily heating the asphalt will necessitate the employment of a well - equipped landscape contractor.

With the idea in mind that the small home owner cannot make use of an asphalt mulch, I wonder why the combination of one of the new chemical soil conditioners plus a mulch of straw will not produce equally satisfactory results?

IKE, TAFT TO CONFER SOON

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP) — Dwight E. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft — who was the general's chief rival for the top presidential nomination—will confer soon, Eisenhower's political chief of staff said today.

The staff chief, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, told a news conference there is a possibility the meeting may take place in New York next week if the Ohio senator should decide to cut short his vacation in Murray Bay, Quebec.

Otherwise, the general and Taft will get together early in September in New York or Ohio, Adams indicated.

"I am sure you can look forward to a meeting of Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft in the near future on some mutually - convenient date," Adams said.

Eisenhower and Taft have not met since the general called on the senator in Chicago July 11 a few minutes after Eisenhower was nominated at the party convention. At that time, Taft promised the general wholehearted co-operation in the campaign.

The forthcoming meeting probably will determine just how active a role Taft may play. Some Eisenhower supporters reportedly are not too anxious to have Taft closely identified with the general during the campaign because of the sharply differing views the two men hold on some issues. Other backers of the general feel he must have as much help from Taft as possible to win in November.

At his news conference, Adams also:

1. Said it has been necessary to "thoroughly revise" plans for Eisenhower's Sept. 2-3 swing into traditionally Democratic Dixie. Instead of flying into 10 or 12 Southern cities as the proposed original schedule provided, a fair guess now is that the general will speak in five or six cities, Adams said.

He added that the original itinerary "covered more territory than possibly could be covered" in two days. But he said there probably will be one or more additional forays into the South during the campaign.

Adams declined to disclose the new itinerary, but said it will be announced in a day or so.

2. Said Eisenhower, who flies to New York tomorrow and addresses the American Legion Convention in Madison Square Garden Monday, will confer in Manhattan with "various important individuals." Adams said the general's visitors probably will include Republican congressional leaders who have not been able to get out to the nominee's Denver headquarters. He mentioned House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, the Senate GOP leader.

Just the same, condensation forms near windows and other cold surfaces — moisture that may ruin draperies, walls below windows and on rugs on floors. It may warp doors, drawers and window sash.

This moisture originates during cooking, laundering, bathing, dishwashing clothes drying, etc. It is contained in invisible vapor which condenses upon being cooled rapidly.

The problem is to cut down the humidity generated within the house and to let it escape. A certain amount of humidity is necessary for health and comfort, but beyond that amount damage will result.

Relative humidity for 70 degrees F. inside temperatures should be maintained at not over 40 per cent if outside temperature is above 10 degrees; not over 35 per cent when outside temperature is 10 to 0 degrees; not over 25 per cent at 0 degrees to —10; not over 20 per cent at —10 to —20 degrees; and not over 15 per cent at —20 degrees or below.

If you hang clothing to dry in the house, prevent damaging condensation by maintaining humidity at the proper level.

Homeowners can buy inexpensive numidity indicators to keep up with humidity changes within their homes.

Here are some other measures to take in control of humidity, to prevent damaging condensation:

1. Control artificial humidification, if such a system is used, by maintaining relative humidity at less than 40 per cent.

2. If clothes are washed and dried inside the house, open windows to allow the moisture to escape.

3. Open windows to give moisture from boiling, cooking or bathing a chance to escape.

4. Since gas liberates much water, be sure gas - burning appliances are properly vented.

5. Open all basement, attic and crawl - space ventilators, or provide such ventilation if there is none. Minimize moisture in other ways if extreme cold prohibits this precaution.

6. It may be necessary to open bedroom windows or fireplace damper for additional ventilation, even in the winter. But this should be done at night.

7. Fall and spring rains saturate basement walls if proper drainage or water - proofing precautions aren't taken. This moisture will seep into the basement in the winter.

8. Install storm windows if they are not used.

'Asphalt Mulch' Protects Newly Seeded Lawn

By HENRY PREE

A thin coating of hot asphalt sprayed on a new lawn immediately after seed is sown is the quickest way to get the grass seedlings started.

Prof. H. M. Smith, soils technician at the University of Illinois, has tested the spray over a three-year period and believes it's an excellent answer to the old problem of holding soil, seed and fertilizer in place until the seedling grasses are well established.

The asphalt makes a dry covering less than 1-16-inch thick which does not stick to your feet. Legume - grass mixtures grow right through this covering. Bluegrass, alta fescue, rye-grass, redtop, red clover, Korean lespedeza, Ladina clover and small grains have all come through the asphalt in fine shape.

Recommended spraying rates are from two to three-tenths of a gallon per square yard and slightly more on steep slopes. The asphalt stops the soil from washing while the seedlings develop, but breaks down within a year. No bad effects on the soil have been found.

In the tests, Smith observed that ler than on untreated check plots, a point to remember for fall seedings.

Hot asphalt spray holds soil, seed and fertilizer in place until seedling grasses are well established.

seeding under asphalt sprays always came up a week or two ear-

The black asphalt seems to absorb more heat and seal in some of the moisture, producing earlier germination. Yet enough small cracks develop in the coating to let moisture in. It's best to sprinkle the area before seeding and coating in dry weather.

Smith warns that ordinary road-construction asphalts should not be used for this purpose. Special "asphalt mulches," produced by oil companies, have given good results in the tests.

At recommended rates of application, Smith figures the cost would be 5 to 8 cents a square yard, in some cases cheaper than a straw mulch. And the asphalt don't blow away and there's no danger of fire or weeds.

A three - gallon orchard sprayer or ordinary spray rig, both with enlarged nozzle openings, can be used to apply the emulsion. The cut-back "asphalt mulch" must be heated to 170 degrees. Highway departments and custom spray operators should have equipment for applying this type.

The asphalt should be sprayed, not sprinkled, on the soil. The fact that the home owner has no means of easily heating the asphalt will necessitate the employment of a well - equipped landscape contractor.

With the idea in mind that the small home owner cannot make use of an asphalt mulch, I wonder why the combination of one of the new chemical soil conditioners plus a mulch of straw will not produce equally satisfactory results?

IKE, TAFT TO CONFER SOON

DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP) — Dwight E. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft — who was the general's chief rival for the top presidential nomination—will confer soon, Eisenhower's political chief of staff said today.

The staff chief, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, told a news conference there is a possibility the meeting may take place in New York next week if the Ohio senator should decide to cut short his vacation in Murray Bay, Quebec.

Otherwise, the general and Taft will get together early in September in New York or Ohio, Adams indicated.

"I am sure you can look forward to a meeting of Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft in the near future on some mutually - convenient date," Adams said.

Eisenhower and Taft have not met since the general called on the senator in Chicago July 11 a few minutes after Eisenhower was nominated at the party convention. At that time, Taft promised the general wholehearted co-operation in the campaign.

The forthcoming meeting probably will determine just how active a role Taft may play. Some Eisenhower supporters reportedly are not too anxious to have Taft closely identified with the general during the campaign because of the sharply differing views the two men hold on some issues. Other backers of the general feel he must have as much help from Taft as possible to win in November.

At his news conference, Adams also:

1. Said it has been necessary to "thoroughly revise" plans for Eisenhower's Sept. 2-3 swing into traditionally Democratic Dixie. Instead of flying into 10 or 12 Southern cities as the proposed original schedule provided, a fair guess now is that the general will speak in five or six cities, Adams said.

He added that the original itinerary "covered more territory than possibly could be covered" in two days. But he said there probably will be one or more additional forays into the South during the campaign.

Adams declined to disclose the new itinerary, but said it will be announced in a day or so.

2. Said Eisenhower, who flies to New York tomorrow and addresses the American Legion Convention in Madison Square Garden Monday, will confer in Manhattan with "various important individuals." Adams said the general's visitors probably will include Republican congressional leaders who have not been able to get out to the nominee's Denver headquarters. He mentioned House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, the Senate GOP leader.

Four Hostesses Entertain At Tea Honoring Mrs. John Ernest Brown, Jr.

Legion Home Setting For Mid Summer Party

Largest and loveliest of the midsummer parties was the tea at the Legion home on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 16, honoring Mrs. John Ernest Brown, Jr., the former Miss Martha Rose Vining, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vining of Oak Grove. Some 400 guests signed the bride's book during the hours of four and six. The hostesses, paternal aunts of the bridegroom, were Mrs. Charles Rupert Evans, Mrs. Joseph Patten Brown, Mrs. Owen Stuart Brown, and Mrs. Denis Brown, Jr.

Mrs. William M. Knobles, greeting guests at the outer door, was gowned in a redingote model of white organza over green and gold. A double snake link choker added charm.

Miss Beverly McKenzie, registering the guests, wore a sleeveless green nylon voile with smocked bodice, fronted with rhinestone buttons.

Mrs. James E. Carson and Miss Amanda Brown directed guests to the lounge. Mrs. Carson was chic in lavendar dotted swiss with ruffling headed with lace fluting. A sentinel of tiny pearl buttons fronted the bodice. Miss Brown's blonde charm was enhanced by a sleeveless gown of pink lace, with low rounded neckline and armholes outlined with narrow white Schiffli embroidery. A dog dollar of pearls added to her girlish charm.

Mrs. Arnold Rosenzweig, standing in the French doors, welcomed wearing a pink silk shantung model with wing collar and side tie sash.

In the receiving line, standing between large picture windows overlooking Tensas Bayou were Mrs. J. P. Brown, the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Thomas Vining of Oak Grove, and Mrs. J. E. Brown. Mrs. J. P. Brown chose a grey shantung with V neck and rolled collar. She wore a corsage of white asters at the beltline. The honoree's gown of navy blue lace was accented by shoulder corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Vining's all linen natural lace, was cuffed and collared in matching linen. Her shoulder corsage was of yellow mums. Mrs. J. E. Brown's black sheer was effective in tucks, on bodice and skirt. She added a shoulder corsage of pink carnations for contrast.

The refreshment table, in a cooling allure of white organdy floor length cloth, pink carnations and white pompon chrysanthemums and frosted plumosa fern, was a silvered setting of magnetic beauty, with three branched candelabra with pink lighted tapers, trays of sandwiches, compotes of mints, and the punch service, over which Mrs. W. Y. Bell and Mrs. M. D. Easte, of Jena served. Mrs. Bell wore a two piece egg shell shantung suit, and Mrs. Easte, a navy blue nylon.

Mrs. O. S. Brown, wearing a squared necked aqua shantung, Mrs. W. D. Brown, Jr., a black sheer with scolloped overskirt, Mrs. Ernest Parra, a tucked navy sheer, mixed and mingled with the guests, as did Mrs. Evans, wearing a chartreuse mesh with brown trim and rhinestone jewels.

Assisting in the serving courtesies were Martha and Suzanne Brown.

Piano selections were rendered throughout the hours of the tea by Mrs. Anna Ransdell Cox and Mrs. W. M. Knobles.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

One certain sign of fall is the fact that publishers increase their output of new books. Within the past week a number of interesting titles have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. There are books for every taste.

Books dealing with the lives of the early Christians are extremely popular with a great many readers. "The Sinner of Saint Ambrose" by Robert Raynolds is a new one of this type. This is a spacious and sweeping novel which recreates the tremendous events of Rome's last days and fall. It is a pageant of imperial grandeur and barbaric glitter, of proud cities and great armies. It is also the moving story of one man's search for God. The central figure is Gregory Julian, who tells the story. Through his account of a long life we get an excellent picture of the age.

Everyone who read "The Little World of Don Camillo" will welcome the new book by the same author, Giovanni Guareschi, "Don Camillo and His Flock." In this book we meet again the unforgettable parish priest and his adversary the mayor, Peppone. This is a book of quiet humor and one which warms the heart.

Arthur Meeker has never written a book that equalled the success of this first one, "The Ivory Mischief". However, the critics say that his new one "The Silver Plume" will probably have as great success. In this book he returns to the court of Louis XIV of France. The plot is concerned with the adventures of the young Duc de Rohan and how he meets misfortune and good fortune.

Sea stories are increasing in popularity and there are many readers who will welcome the two latest editions to the library collection. "The Privateer" by Gordon Daviot is based on the life of the pirate Henry Morgan. In an apparent effort to redeem his reputation she has toned down events so much that she has lost some of the savor of the story. "The Distant Shore" by Jan de Hartog will be compared with "The Caine Mutiny" and "The Cruel Sea". This is the story of the men who manned the rescue tugs, which went out to bring in the lame ducks left behind by the convoys. It was a life of danger and peril and they were always at the mercy of the German wolf pack. It is a story of strong feelings and one that will appeal to men.

"What Really Happened" by Brett Halliday is a new Michael Shayne mystery which will appeal to his already devoted public.

There are several new books for young people. "Candle In The Night" by Elizabeth Howard is a touching story of young love, set in Detroit at the time of the war of 1812. It is the story of Tamsen, only eighteen years old who braved the wilds and found for herself a new life. "Tamar" by Gladys Malvern is a beautiful love story laid in Capernaum at the time of Christ. It is a story that will make much more vivid the world in which he lived.

Last of all there are three books which will interest women. "Helen Templeton's Daughter" by Louise Eskrigge Crump has for its setting the Mississippi Delta at the turn of the century. In this book we see the changing south and the struggle in a girl's heart as she decides which life to choose. "Julie" is the story of a young English girl who left her well established life in London to come to America during the nineteenth century. Jane Morris, author of this book has given us a fascinating picture of life in two worlds. "Blessing of the Hounds" by Alexandra Phillips presents a charming and entertaining picture of Virginia fox - hunting country and the people who make up its pleasant existence.

These books are available to the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Are you taking advantage of its resources?

Four Hostesses Entertain At Tea Honoring Mrs. John Ernest Brown, Jr.

Legion Home Setting For Mid Summer Party

Largest and loveliest of the midsummer parties was the tea at the Legion home on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 16, honoring Mrs. John Ernest Brown, Jr., the former Miss Martha Rose Vining, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vining of Oak Grove. Some 400 guests signed the bride's book during the hours of four and six. The hostesses, paternal aunts of the bridegroom, were Mrs. Charles Rupert Evans, Mrs. Joseph Patten Brown, Mrs. Owen Stuart Brown, and Mrs. Denis Brown, Jr.

Mrs. William M. Knobles, greeting guests at the outer door, was gowned in a redingote model of white organza over green and gold. A double snake link choker added charm.

Miss Beverly McKenzie, registering the guests, wore a sleeveless green nylon voile with smocked bodice, fronted with rhinestone buttons.

Mrs. James E. Carson and Miss Amanda Brown directed guests to the lounge. Mrs. Carson was chic in lavendar dotted swiss with ruffling headed with lace fluting. A sentinel of tiny pearl buttons fronted the bodice. Miss Brown's blonde charm was enhanced by a sleeveless gown of pink lace, with low rounded neckline and armholes outlined with narrow white Schiffli embroidery. A dog dollar of pearls added to her girlish charm.

Mrs. Arnold Rosenzweig, standing in the French doors, welcomed wearing a pink silk shantung model with wing collar and side tie sash.

In the receiving line, standing between large picture windows overlooking Tensas Bayou were Mrs. J. P. Brown, the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Thomas Vining of Oak Grove, and Mrs. J. E. Brown. Mrs. J. P. Brown chose a grey shantung with V neck and rolled collar. She wore a corsage of white asters at the beltline. The honoree's gown of navy blue lace was accented by shoulder corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Vining's all linen natural lace, was cuffed and collared in matching linen. Her shoulder corsage was of yellow mums. Mrs. J. E. Brown's black sheer was effective in tucks, on bodice and skirt. She added a shoulder corsage of pink carnations for contrast.

The refreshment table, in a cooling allure of white organdy floor length cloth, pink carnations and white pompon chrysanthemums and frosted plumosa fern, was a silvered setting of magnetic beauty, with three branched candelabra with pink lighted tapers, trays of sandwiches, compotes of mints, and the punch service, over which Mrs. W. Y. Bell and Mrs. M. D. Easte, of Jena served. Mrs. Bell wore a two piece egg shell shantung suit, and Mrs. Easte, a navy blue nylon.

Mrs. O. S. Brown, wearing a squared necked aqua shantung, Mrs. W. D. Brown, Jr., a black sheer with scolloped overskirt, Mrs. Ernest Parra, a tucked navy sheer, mixed and mingled with the guests, as did Mrs. Evans, wearing a chartreuse mesh with brown trim and rhinestone jewels.

Assisting in the serving courtesies were Martha and Suzanne Brown.

Piano selections were rendered throughout the hours of the tea by Mrs. Anna Ransdell Cox and Mrs. W. M. Knobles.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

One certain sign of fall is the fact that publishers increase their output of new books. Within the past week a number of interesting titles have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. There are books for every taste.

Books dealing with the lives of the early Christians are extremely popular with a great many readers. "The Sinner of Saint Ambrose" by Robert Raynolds is a new one of this type. This is a spacious and sweeping novel which recreates the tremendous events of Rome's last days and fall. It is a pageant of imperial grandeur and barbaric glitter, of proud cities and great armies. It is also the moving story of one man's search for God. The central figure is Gregory Julian, who tells the story. Through his account of a long life we get an excellent picture of the age.

Everyone who read "The Little World of Don Camillo" will welcome the new book by the same author, Giovanni Guareschi, "Don Camillo and His Flock." In this book we meet again the unforgettable parish priest and his adversary the mayor, Peppone. This is a book of quiet humor and one which warms the heart.

Arthur Meeker has never written a book that equalled the success of this first one, "The Ivory Mischief". However, the critics say that his new one "The Silver Plume" will probably have as great success. In this book he returns to the court of Louis XIV of France. The plot is concerned with the adventures of the young Duc de Rohan and how he meets misfortune and good fortune.

Sea stories are increasing in popularity and there are many readers who will welcome the two latest editions to the library collection. "The Privateer" by Gordon Daviot is based on the life of the pirate Henry Morgan. In an apparent effort to redeem his reputation she has toned down events so much that she has lost some of the savor of the story. "The Distant Shore" by Jan de Hartog will be compared with "The Caine Mutiny" and "The Cruel Sea". This is the story of the men who manned the rescue tugs, which went out to bring in the lame ducks left behind by the convoys. It was a life of danger and peril and they were always at the mercy of the German wolf pack. It is a story of strong feelings and one that will appeal to men.

"What Really Happened" by Brett Halliday is a new Michael Shayne mystery which will appeal to his already devoted public.

There are several new books for young people. "Candle In The Night" by Elizabeth Howard is a touching story of young love, set in Detroit at the time of the war of 1812. It is the story of Tamsen, only eighteen years old who braved the wilds and found for herself a new life. "Tamar" by Gladys Malvern is a beautiful love story laid in Capernaum at the time of Christ. It is a story that will make much more vivid the world in which he lived.

Last of all there are three books which will interest women. "Helen Templeton's Daughter" by Louise Eskrigge Crump has for its setting the Mississippi Delta at the turn of the century. In this book we see the changing south and the struggle in a girl's heart as she decides which life to choose. "Julie" is the story of a young English girl who left her well established life in London to come to America during the nineteenth century. Jane Morris, author of this book has given us a fascinating picture of life in two worlds. "Blessing of the Hounds" by Alexandra Phillips presents a charming and entertaining picture of Virginia fox - hunting country and the people who make up its pleasant existence.

These books are available to the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Are you taking advantage of its resources?

Garden Club Enjoys Picnic

The Camellia Garden Club held its regular August meeting at Bernstein Park with Mrs. G. L. Thompson and Mrs. E. N. Craven as hostesses. Members enjoyed a picnic lunch. After lunch a short business meeting was held. The roll was called and reports were read and approved. Mrs. John H. Paylor gave the horticulture report and advised pruning roses about half as much as in February, to feed them well and clean out the beds.

Members and guests present were: Mrs. Cora Patterson, Mrs. W. A. Cornett, Mrs. J. C. Magee, Mrs. Paul Malikowski, Mrs. John H Paylor, Mrs. J. B. Renaud, Mrs. Carl Stevenson, Mrs. T. L. Van Fossen, Mrs. Earl Viggs and the hostesses.

Mammoths were about the size of existing Indian elephants.

Noted Columnist Monroe Visitor

Mrs. J. R. White had the pleasure of having in her home just recently a nephew of the late Mr. White, Mr. Eldon Roark, and his wife, of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Roark is a noted newspaper columnist, and many in Monroe, will recall having read his daily column entitled "Strolling with Eldon Roark," in the Memphis Press Scimitar. He has many books to his credit, and his stories have been carried in Reader's Digest, Pagent and other periodicals.

At present Mr. Roark is working on a novel with the background laid in Clinton, La., where he was born. Clinton, La., is acclaimed by the noted artist, E. H. Suydam, as having some of the most artistic buildings in the nation. Several which date back to 1825. Many of Mr. Suydam's drawings appear in the late Lyle Saxon's books.

It is interesting to note that Eldon Roark's grandfather, Henry Albert White, built many of the buildings in Clinton. He was the father of the late Mr. J. R. White of Monroe, and pen sketches of two of these buildings are carried in Mrs. J. R. White's book of poems, "These Are My Hills".

Mrs. White is anticipating another delightful visit from Mr. and Mrs. Roark.

NOT SO BAD

DAYTON, O. (AP)— An Air Force man who gets slapped in the guardhouse at Wright - Patterson Air Force base these days finds a "new deal" awaiting him. It's not even a guardhouse anymore but a "confinement facility."

Many prisoners, now called "retrainees," continue their regular duties under the eye of unarmed "supervisors." The retrainees get interviewed to find out what their trouble is. Often this turns out to be a family problem or dissatisfaction with their job in the service.

Retrainees also attend classes, work on construction projects and participate in a recreation program. It's all part of a new policy of the Air Force to restore self-respect to airmen who have gotten into trouble.

Until the end of the last century little but the whim of the victor governed the fate of the captured enemy in wartime.

Hens on U. S. farms laid six billion eggs in May, 1952.

Noted Columnist Monroe Visitor

Mrs. J. R. White had the pleasure of having in her home just recently a nephew of the late Mr. White, Mr. Eldon Roark, and his wife, of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Roark is a noted newspaper columnist, and many in Monroe, will recall having read his daily column entitled "Strolling with Eldon Roark," in the Memphis Press Scimitar. He has many books to his credit, and his stories have been carried in Reader's Digest, Pagent and other periodicals.

At present Mr. Roark is working on a novel with the background laid in Clinton, La., where he was born. Clinton, La., is acclaimed by the noted artist, E. H. Suydam, as having some of the most artistic buildings in the nation. Several which date back to 1825. Many of Mr. Suydam's drawings appear in the late Lyle Saxon's books.

It is interesting to note that Eldon Roark's grandfather, Henry Albert White, built many of the buildings in Clinton. He was the father of the late Mr. J. R. White of Monroe, and pen sketches of two of these buildings are carried in Mrs. J. R. White's book of poems, "These Are My Hills".

Mrs. White is anticipating another delightful visit from Mr. and Mrs. Roark.

AGAINST STRIKING OIL

Kappa Alpha Theta Plan Coffee Party

A Panhellenic morning coffee party has been planned by the active and alumnae members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority to honor prospective freshmen and transfers of Monroe, Lake Providence, Lake Village, Ruston and additional North Louisiana towns who are entering Sophie Newcomb College for the Fall Semester.

The setting, date and time for the coffee party has been designated as the home of Mrs. Fred Amman on Wednesday August 27th at 10:30 a.m.

Invitations have been extended not only to the freshmen and transfers who are the honorees of the Kappa Alpha Theta members but also to representatives from the various college sororities residing in North Louisiana.

Albert Crawford Celebrates Birthday

Albert Merle was honored with a birthday party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Crawford, Sr., on Saturday evening. Albert Merle was 13 years of age.

A variety of interesting games were played and the presents were opened. Refreshments of delicious birthday cake and fruit punch were served to the following: Wetona Baker, Cecil David Baker, Aulston Atwell, Nancy Stewart, Carol Guyon, Nettie Margaret Stewart, Virginia Lewis, James Stewart, Madlon Sandidge, and Albert Merle Crawford.

Adults were: Mrs. Annette Pittman, Mrs. Zane McGuffee, Mrs. A. J. Guyon, Mrs. E. R. Sandidge and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Crawford, Sr.

NOT SO BAD

DAYTON, O. (AP)— An Air Force man who gets slapped in the guardhouse at Wright - Patterson Air Force base these days finds a "new deal" awaiting him. It's not even a guardhouse anymore but a "confinement facility."

Many prisoners, now called "retrainees," continue their regular duties under the eye of unarmed "supervisors." The retrainees get interviewed to find out what their trouble is. Often this turns out to be a family problem or dissatisfaction with their job in the service.

Retrainees also attend classes, work on construction projects and participate in a recreation program. It's all part of a new policy of the Air Force to restore self-respect to airmen who have gotten into trouble.

Until the end of the last century little but the whim of the victor governed the fate of the captured enemy in wartime.

SCALIA HOME IS SETTING FOR BRIDAL SHOWER HONORING RITA SCALIA

The P. J. Scalia home on Lake Shore drive was the setting on Thursday evening August 14th at 7:30 o'clock for a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Rita Scalia, the bride - elect of Richard Owen Morrison of Denver, Colo.

The house was beautifully decorated with roses and asters. The punch table was covered with a white lace cloth and was centered with a white lace umbrella. There were green and yellow candles at either end, the punch was served from both ends of the table and dainty cakes and sandwiches were passed. Mrs. Joe McGough, wearing a pink and black chiffon and Mrs. Arnold Tucker in a becoming black organdy duster over black linen served the guests. Miss Scalia wore an off - the - shoulder gold silk shantung with a corsage of yellow Peruvian lilies. The hostess chose a black strapless marquisite over biege taffeta.

The honoree received many beautiful gifts. Those invited were Mrs. Toney Messina, Miss Mattie Scalia, Mrs. W. G. Mangham, Miss

MR. AND MRS. WILLIARD E. WALDROUP

Cutting their weding cake at reception held following the wedding which was held in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garner on Senday afternoon August 10th.

COUPLE MARRIED IN LATE AFTERNOON CEREMONY WITH GARDEN AS SETTING

The garden of the home of the bride's parents was the setting on Sunday afternoon August 10th at six o'clock for the wedding of Miss Beatrice Callendar to Mr. Williard E. Waldroup with Reverend Weber of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garner and the groom is the son of Mrs. W. E. Waldroup.

The bride wore a white silk shantung suit with white hat and veil. She carried a prayer book with tuberoses and one gardenia. Mrs. Delano Oliver served as matron of honor and was the brides only attendant. She wore a navy blue eyelet embroidered dress and her corsage was of baby pink mums.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Joe Callendar and Frank Ticheli served the bridegroom as best man. The ushers were Devaul Garner and Harry Waldroup.

Reception

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the garden which was decorated in white gladiola with white ribbon streamers. The brides' table was also in white, covered with a white cloth and centered with a large bowl of white stock and white baby mums.

Mrs. L. R. Richard served the punch and Mrs. Maude Garner of Baskin, aunt of the bride, served the cake. The couple are making their home in Monroe.

Miss Billye Jean Wilson Bride-Elect Extensively Feted

Many Parties Since Engagement Announced

Miss Billye Jean Wilson, bride-elect of Freddie Page, is being entertained extensively since the announcement of her engagement.

Girlhood friends of Miss Billye Jean Wilson were invited by Mrs. Roy Wilson to a slumber party in her honor, proving to be one of the most delightful pre-nuptial courtesies. Delightful conversation was enjoyed, and just before the midnight hour, light refreshments were served. Breakfast at seven o'clock the next morning at a Monroe cafe climaxed the altogether pleasant occasion. Sharing with Miss Wilson were Misses Mary Alice Golson, Martha Nell Chappell, Charlotte Brown, Joyce Dumas, Kathleen Hennessy, Terry Lee Fields, and Mary Lou Anderson.

Informal

When Mrs. C. T. Johnson and Mrs. Bennie Goyne entertained informally for Miss Wilson, she chose a summer frock of blue and white and the lovely pink radiance corsage from her hostesses. Pleasant conversation revolved around brides and weddings, and favorite recipes were written by the guests for the bride's cook book.

A piece of silver in the bride's pattern was a gift from the hostesses on this occasion.

Present besides the honor guest were: Mesdames Lavelle Wilson, E. L. Page, James Daniel, W. L. Mitchell, E. E. Eaves, H. B. McClendon, Aimee Cook, Herman DeLoach, Miss Glenda Sue Goyne, and the hostesses.

Dinner

On Saturday, Miss Wilson's grandpartents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson, an uncle and aunt, and Miss Agnes Faye Wilson, her cousin, entertained at dinner in the home of the grandparents in Delhi, for Miss Wilson, Mr. Page, and for Mr. Lavelle Wilson, father of Miss Wilson, whose birthday fell on that day.

Summer flowers in unusual arrangement, decorated the spacious reception rooms for the occasion, and a corsage to harmonize was presented Miss Wilson, who chose one of her most becoming trousseau frocks.

The dinner table, handsomely covered, bore a central arrangement of the chosen blossoms, and covers were laid for Miss Wilson, Mr. Page, Mr. Lavelle Wilson and Mrs. Lavelle Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Page, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Wilson, Jr., and son, Michael Steven of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dalrimple, and son Veepie, Delhi, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson, and Miss Agnes Faye Wilson.

During the dinner hour, Veepie Dalrimple rendered appropriate piano selections, including sentimental airs.

A handsome wedding gift was presented the young couple at this time.

Lingerie Shower

Mrs. R. B. Henry and Mrs. Charles Oxford entertained in the Henry home honoring Miss Wilson at a lingerie shower.

Lilies, roses and hibiscus provided the lovely decorative note for the reception suite, and amid this setting, Miss Wilson was an attractive figure in red dotted swiss, accented with the corsage of hibiscus from the hostesses.

Mrs. Lavelle Wilson, mother of the bride-elect, was charming in pink linen, and Mrs. E. L. Page, mother of the prospective bridegroom, chose printed bemberg. They wore corsages of hibiscus presented in perfect blend, which were also presented by the hostesses.

Miss Terry Lee Fields was awarded a gift for her success in the clever diversion introduced by the hostesses.

A beautifully wrapped box presented the honoree contained an array of beautiful lingerie, and bore cards with inscribed good wishes and the names of the giver.

Dainty refreshments were served to Miss Wilson and Mrs. Lavelle Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mrs. Ralph Reed, Mrs. Roy Wilson, Mrs. Ethel Cooper and Misses Terry Lee Fields, Kathleen Hennessy, Betty Craig, Jo Ann Williams, Marjorie Russ and Kate Henry.

Kitchen Shower

A lovely compliment paid Miss Wilson was the kitchen shower in the home of Mrs. H. S. Snyder, with Mrs. R. G. Taylor, as co-hostess.

Urns of colorful blossoms decorated the huge sun porch into which the guests were invited for the pleasant period.

The lovely guest of honor wearing purple plaid, was presented a corsage of yellow mums and tuberoses by her hostesses, presenting a pretty picture.

The kitchen gifts showered upon the young bride-elect were colorfully wrapped and included many useful items for her kitchen.

Linen Shower

Mrs. J. Leron Harper named Miss Billye Jean Wilson as honor guest at a lovely linen shower and appointed her home with mid-summer blossoms in pastel shades. Miss Wilson, wearing navy nylon and a corsage of pastel mums, from the hostess, was most attractive on this occasion.

In a sweetheart game, Mrs. G. C. Warren captured the award, which she presented to the bride-elect.

A bit of humor was injected in the recipes for happiness which were presented the honoree.

The shower gifts were presented most cleverly by little Beckie Harper, assisted by her sister, Martha Harper. The bride was lavish in her expressions of appreciations for each gift.

Sharing with the guest of honor in the pleasures and to be served the delicious refreshments were Mesdames O. B. Register, Carl Metcalf, B. L. Avery, Ben Davis, T. Walters, Jesse Heard, J. W. Golson, W. G. Haynes, Jr., Ethel Cooper, Bill Rodgers, Cecil Moore Bob Harmon, Lavelle Wilson, E. L. Page, J. E. Whitaker, G. C. Warren, Maurice White, and Mrs. Harper's mother, Mrs. Colvin.

Luncheon

Mrs. H. A. McDonald and Mrs. E. E. Eaves entertained at luncheon at La Casa tea room Tuesday at noon for Miss Billye Jean Wilson, who will wed Freddie Page on August 29.

The linen covered luncheon table was centrally adorned with ginger illes and the placecards carried a bridal motif.

For this occasion, Miss Wilson was wearing a red and white summer frock and was presented a corsage of red rosebuds for compliment.

The three delectable courses were served to Miss Wilson, Mrs. Lavelle Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mrs. Billy John Golson. Misses Mary Alice Golson, Marjorie Russ, Bettye Spurlock, and the hostesses.

A handsome wedding gift was presented the honoree at this time.

American Legion Installs Officers

The Caldwell parish Legion Post No. 162 met Monday night at the Legion hall for the installation of officers. The commander of the fifth district had charge of the meeting. The new officers are: Leroy Mixon of Grayson, commander; L. L. Ford Mt. Pleasant, vice commander; Jim G. Sherman, chaplain; S. H. Thompson, service officer; and G. D. McKnight, adjutant.

After an interesting talk by Commander Gilbert on what the American Legion is doing and the value it is to the country as a whole, the members were entertained by the Catholic Ladies.

THE HOME SHIFT With Mildred Swift

Well, I spent a week at the university and I'm just "chuck" full of information to give you. Of course, lots of these things you probably already know. But here goes, anyhow.

Around the Garden

I learned that old fashioned hyacinths like lots of fertilizer, and the kind is well - rotted barnyard. Also leave these bulbs alone, and by that the speaker said don't move or divide them for years and years and years. Plant them in early fall.

The Star Magnolia, (Steletto) likes plenty of dampness. This is the shrub that blooms in January when there's very little color in the garden. Remember I called your attention to one in the John Breard yard in January. We've always thought of them as being quite delicate and not easy to grow here in Ouachita Parish. Maybe we've not been giving them enough damp - ness.

A Big Job

Yes, a lecturer told us we should cut all the foliage off our violets, now, fertilize with barnyard fertilizer or cotton seed meal, water well and mulch. Then our December blooms will be large and profuse. If I don't get back to work for several weeks, you'll know I'm trying to get the foliage cut from my thousand or more plants. I've used lots of them as borders and for ground corners.

Also, we were told that newspaper is a wonderful mulch, place the paper around the plant, then pile the leaves, straw, sawdust or other mulch on top of the paper. The mulch hides the newspaper and it eventually decays.

And you can use brick for mulch. The speaker said, "Have you ever picked up a brick that was flat on the ground and noticed now moist the ground is underneath?" One I'd never thought of.

A Ground Corner

If there's anything I love it's ground covers and plenty of them. They take the place of grass and don't have to be mowed. Also, they fit so well in intricate places where the lawn mower can't cut. A new one I learned is "Sela Genella." I don't remember ever having seen it, but Mrs. Jo Evans says it is beautiful and that's enough recommendation for me. She has this cover growing in her garden at Haphazard. If you're interested call me and I'll give you the address for ordering.

Blooming Now

I'm sure you've seen the pineapple ginger lily blooming. Maud Musselwhite gave me my bulbs several years ago. I guess this lavender bloom is the closest flower to an orchid that we common dirt gardeners can claim. Many people don't like this lily because it blooms so far down in the foliage. I've seen some gorgeous arrangements made using this short stemmed lavender bloom. One was in a pale pink Cornicopia.

The ginger lily is easy to grow. Just put the bulbs out in early spring and they'll bloom in the summer. They like good rich garden soil.

On your Sunday drive be sure to go by 1506 Emerson, Monroe. That's the Saul Adler home. Their hibiscus are beautiful. The rose caladium leaves facing down the rose hibiscus makes a beautiful bed. Stop in and ask Mrs. Adler to take you around to the back, which is equally as pretty. Their twelve year old son, David, painted the patio and lawn furniture and did an excellent job. Boys — that's a good way to use up some of your summer energy.

A New Fad

Polly Parish has just returned from Dallas. She comes back with a cute new lapel decoration idea she saw there — a pin and two matching ear bobs. Yes — the ear bobs were screwed on the lapel with the pin, she says.

The Fair

The fair catalogues are out. If you want to make an entry in the Ouachita Valley Fair in October, call 3-2251 for a catalogue. Goodby until next Sunday.

Indonesia has treasures of rubber, oil, sugar, spices, minerals and fibers which have barely been touched, says the National Geographic Society.

If there's anything I love it's ground covers and plenty of them. They take the place of grass and don't have to be mowed. Also, they fit so well in intricate places where the lawn mower can't cut. A new one I learned is "Sela Genella." I don't remember ever having seen it, but Mrs. Jo Evans says it is beautiful and that's enough recommendation for me. She has this cover growing in her garden at Haphazard. If you're interested call me and I'll give you the address for ordering.

Blooming Now

I'm sure you've seen the pineapple ginger lily blooming. Maud Musselwhite gave me my bulbs several years ago. I guess this lavender bloom is the closest flower to an orchid that we common dirt gardeners can claim. Many people don't like this lily because it blooms so far down in the foliage. I've seen some gorgeous arrangements made using this short stemmed lavender bloom. One was in a pale pink Cornicopia.

The ginger lily is easy to grow. Just put the bulbs out in early spring and they'll bloom in the summer. They like good rich garden soil.

On your Sunday drive be sure to go by 1506 Emerson, Monroe. That's the Saul Adler home. Their hibiscus are beautiful. The rose caladium leaves facing down the rose hibiscus makes a beautiful bed. Stop in and ask Mrs. Adler to take you around to the back, which is equally as pretty. Their twelve year old son, David, painted the patio and lawn furniture and did an excellent job. Boys — that's a good way to use up some of your summer energy.

A New Fad

Polly Parish has just returned from Dallas. She comes back with a cute new lapel decoration idea she saw there — a pin and two matching ear bobs. Yes — the ear bobs were screwed on the lapel with the pin, she says.

The Fair

The fair catalogues are out. If you want to make an entry in the Ouachita Valley Fair in October, call 3-2251 for a catalogue. Goodby until next Sunday.

Indonesia has treasures of rubber, oil, sugar, spices, minerals and fibers which have barely been touched, says the National Geographic Society.

SEAMAN JIMMY IRBY AND MRS. IRBY

Dorothy Ann Willard Becomes Bride Of Jimmy Irby

A wedding that was of affectionate interest to a wide circle of friends in the Twin Cities was that of Miss Dorothy Ann Willard., daughter of Captain Leland H. Willard of Oklahoma City, and Jimmy Irby, seaman E. T. S. N., U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Irby of West Monroe.

The ceremony was performed in the chapel of the Baptist Children's Home at ten o'clock in the morning, Monday, July 28, in the presence of the family and close friends of the contracting couple with Reverend R. H. Staples officiating.

Guests were seated by Billy Morris, a close friend of the groom.

Preceding the ceremony candles were lighted by Miss Dorthea Dunnaway and Bobby Irby.

The organist, Miss Beth Monroe of Shreveport, played soft nuptial music during the exchange of vows. The strains of September Song and The Wedding Prayer formed a delicate curtain of sound for the impressive words of the marriage ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Howard Bryant of Alexandria. She wore a dusty rose linen suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and blue hyacinths.

In the absence of her father, who is on duty with the U. S. air force in Japan, the lovely young bride was given in marriage by Mr. D. C. Black, superintendent of the Baptist Children's Home. She wore a white nylon street length dress with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. A wide brimmed white hat and white accessories completed her ensemble. She carried a white prayer book surmounted with a corsage of tuberoses and white carnations. White satin ribbon from which discended white blossoms formed a cascading effect.

Mr. Eugene Blake of West Monroe served as best man.

Mrs. Claude Irby, the groom's mother, was attired in a becoming summer frock of rose sheer with navy accessories. She wore a pink and white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left for a honeymoon on the Gulf Coast. From there they will go by motor to San Diego where Seaman Irby is stationed.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of O.P.H.S. Mrs. Irby attended Louisiana College and then entered Northwestern State College School of Nursing. She will re-enter the college when the fall term of school begins to complete work on her degree. Seaman Irby attended N. L. S. C and then volunteered for duty with the U. S. Navy. Upon his return to his base he will continue his training in electronics.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding include: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sisk of Oxford, Miss., Mrs. Avis Hudson of Oxford, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb of Memphis, Tenn.

Gordon Avenue W. S. C. S. Meets At Church

The Gordon Avenue W. S. C. S. met at the Educational building of the church, for the August meeting.

Mrs. Marie Hunt was in charge of the meeting. The subject was "Federation of Methodist Church Women." Mrs. H. B. Zeagler, Mrs. W. B. Corry, Mrs. Howard Morgan and Mrs. E. R. Zimmerman assisting. A vocal solo by Miss Carolyn Fleming accompanied at the piano by Miss Elaine Hesketh was greatly enjoyed.

MARY JANE FARROW BRIDE-ELECT HONORED WITH MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A delightful event honoring Miss Mary Jane Farrow, bride - elect of Charles Earl Mullin, was a miscellaneous shower given Thursday August 14 by Mrs. O. H. Watson, Mrs. Jack Reitzell and members of W. S. C. S. Circle at the lovely O. H. Watson home in Columbia.

Placed at vantage points about the receiving rooms were lovely arrangements of roses. In the dining room the table was covered with a madeira linen cloth, centering the refreshment table was an artistic arrangement of white mums and greenery. Green punch, green and white cakes and mints further carried out the color scheme.

Miss Iris Kendrick of Jena and Mrs. Jack Reitzell alternated at the punch bowl.

Guests who called between the hours of four and six were greeted by the hostesses, the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. C. D. Farrow. For this occasion the lovely honoree was wearing a black and beige faille with velvet trim with which she wore a corsage fashioned with pink split carnations, a gift of the hostess. Mrs. C. D. Farrow, mother of the bride, was wearing a blue silk shantung dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Robert Farrow of Monroe presided at the brides' book and Mrs. Sherrod Nicholson of Jena assisted in the unwrapping of the gifts.

Those attending the shower were Mesdames Lee Wells, O. H. Watson, Stella Brussard, David Gartman, Earl Harris, Hugh Seal, Robert Meredith, A. P. Smith, Grace Brandin, J. D. Key, G. C. LOVELY AUGUST BRIDE

Mrs. Herbert R. Ginsberg before her marriage last Sunday, August 17th was Miss Lou Rachel Kern, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Kern and the late Mr. Kern of Tallulah.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Ginsberg of Hattiesburg, Miss.

Lou Rachel Kern Weds Herbert R. Ginsberg

A wedding solemnized in Tallulah last Sunday August 17, is of outstanding interest in Bastrop, home of the bride, Miss Lou Rachael Kern, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Kern and the late Mr. Kern of this city. Miss Kern became the bride of Herbert R. Ginsberg of Hattiesburg. Miss., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Ginsberg of Hattiesburg, in the home of the Bloom family, her uncles and aunts, at three o'clock in the afternoon. The wedding, performed in the same home wherein the bride's parents were married, was beautiful and moving, marked as it was by a simplicity and restraint occasioned by the recent death of the bride's father. The fifty guests present were limited to the immediate families and close family connections.

Rabbi F. K. Hirsch of Monroe read the service in front of the fireplace where the bride's parents had taken their vows more than a quarter - century before. Standard baskets of white glads were placed on either side of the altar and the mantle was banked with white glads, white asters and fern.

Preceding the entry of the bridal party, Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. Mertie Levy of Lake Providence, cousin of the bride, who also played the same theme at the wedding of the bride's father and mother. J. D. Caldwell of Tallulah, another cousin of the bride, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Levy.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Ralph Bloom, the petite, brunette bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white satin fashioned with a yoke of illusion bordered by seed pearls. The fitted bodice was buttoned down the back with tiny self-covered buttons and the same tiny buttons caught the long fitted sleeves at the wrist where they ended at a point over the hand. The full skirt swept into a long train.

For the "something old" of bridal tradition, Miss Kern wore her mother's rose point lace wedding veil which was train length. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and surrounded by valley lilies.

The bride's only attendant, her cousin Miss Irene Minksy, was maid of honor. Miss Minsky was garbed in a ballerina length dress of pink organdy designed in off-the-shoulder effect with a bertha collar Her colonial bouquet was of painted daisies.

Mr. Ginsberg had for best man, his brother, Sidney Ginsberg of Montgomery, Ala.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests enjoyed hors d'oeuvres and refreshments in the candlelighted dining room where burning tapers placed among white asters, gladioli and fern, surrounded the three-tiered wedding cake forming the centerpiece of the bride's table. The miniature bride and groom topping the cake were the small kewpie dolls used on the wedding cake at the reception following the marriage of the bride s father and mother. Mrs. Ralph Bloom and Mrs. J. D. Caldwell presided at the refreshment table.

Miss Rachel Bloom of Tallulah was in charge of the guest book.

After the refreshments at the home there was a five course dinner for the bridal party and guests at the Tallulah Book Club with Mertie M. Bloom of Tallulah, uncle of the bride, host.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kern wore a full length dusty rose lace and chiffon dress with a corsage of orchids. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Ginsberg, wore a dinner dress of rose biege chiffon. Her corsage was also of orchids.

For traveling the bride chose a tan taffeta shantung suit made with a small, black velvet collar. Her accessories were black and she wore a white orchid corsage. upon their return from a two weeks wedding trip in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Ginsberg will be at home after September 1 at 2023 Ridgeway Lane in Hattiesburg.

The bride was graduated from Bastrop High School and attended Sophie Newcomb College before being associated with the Louisiana Physicians Service in New Orleans where she has been employed for the past three years.

Mr. Ginsberg is a graduate of the University of Alabama where he received his LL.B. degree. During the war he served with the armed forces in Europe. Mr. Ginsberg is now practicing law in Hattiesburg.

Among those from out of town attending the wedding were: Mrs. H. I. Seligman and Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Pettiss, Bastrop; Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Ginsberg and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, Hattiesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schlesinger and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schlesinger, Brookhaven, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ginsberg, Montgomery, Ala; Mr. and Mrs. Mertie Levy, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Levy and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Minsky and family, Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Hans Kern, Columbia; Dr. and Mrs. Sam B. Saiewitz, New Orleans; Mr. James Rankin and family, Lake Village, Ark.; Mrs. N. Steinberg, Augusta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Max Gould and Mrs. Walter Dougdale, Hazlehurst, Miss.; and Mr. Leo Kern, brother of the bride, Shreveport.

Compare Lilt WITH THOSE NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVES!

SEE WHY LILT WAVES take up to 5 HOURS LESS TIME and LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!

(Two girls start at same time—3 o'clock Saturday afternoon)

A LILT WAVE

1st step — She started her Lilt at 3 o'clock. It took her only about an hour to finish the entire waving lotion step—including test curls!

First step finished—4:14 o'clock

2nd step — She used "Naturalizer" to make her wave really permanent! Her wave is now finished . . .

Now her hair is set in pin curls for her hairdo!

LILT WAVE FINISHED—and hairdo styled too—IN LESS THAN 2 HOURS! 4:52 o'clock

Ready for a glamorous evening!

Pin curls dry fast (but hair wound on curlers does not). So, by 6:30, her Lilt is already brushed and combed into a smart, lovely hairdo!

And best of all, her Lilt wave is so permanent—so much like Naturally Curly Hair, it will last months and months!

LILT WAVES LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!

A NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVE

1st step — She also started at 3 o'clock. Has wound curls and applied waving lotion; rinsed with water (or used towel to remove excess lotion).

First step finished—4:00 o'clock

2nd step (which you may not know about) She is now starting to WAIT 6 HOURS, with her hair on curlers. (With No-Neutralizer products you need slow drying on curlers.)

STILL WAITING! She's worried now. She has a date at seven!

2 HOURS GONE—5 MORE TO GO

NO DATE FOR HER TONIGHT! She still has HOURS TO WAIT!

10 O'CLOCK—SECOND STEP FINISHED . . .

7 hours after she started! And LOOK at that kinky, frizzy hair—because it dried on the curlers! Now she has to re-wet her hair and set it in pin curls!

But what she still does NOT know is—HER WAVE IS ONLY SEMI-PERMANENT! Won't last nearly as long as a Lilt.

Lilt with "Naturalizer"!

New miracle ingredient, "Naturalizer,"

used after Lilt's Waving Lotion

IN SHORTEST TIME POSSIBLE TODAY!

And now... Lilt wave is even more like Naturally Curly Hair!

NOW... in every LILT PACKAGE in every store!

"NATURALIZER" is in this envelope, marked FIXATIVE

"NATURALIZER" is used like a neutralizer, but is a vast improvement over regular neutralizers!

REFILL still only $1.25* *plus tax

Compare Lilt WITH THOSE NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVES!

SEE WHY LILT WAVES take up to 5 HOURS LESS TIME and LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!

(Two girls start at same time—3 o'clock Saturday afternoon)

A LILT WAVE

1st step — She started her Lilt at 3 o'clock. It took her only about an hour to finish the entire waving lotion step—including test curls! First step finished—4:14 o'clock

2nd step — She used "Naturalizer" to make her wave really permanent! Her wave is now finished . . . Now her hair is set in pin curls for her hairdo!

LILT WAVE FINISHED—and hairdo styled too—IN LESS THAN 2 HOURS! 4:32 o'clock

A NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVE

1st step — She also started at 3 o'clock. Has wound curls and applied waving lotion; rinsed with water (or used towel to remove excess lotion). First step finished—4:40 o'clock

2nd step — (which you may not know about) She is now starting to WAIT 6 HOURS, with her hair on curlers. (With No-Neutralizer products you need slow drying on curlers.)

STILL WAITING! She's worried now. She has a date at seven!

2 HOURS GONE—5 MORE TO GO

NO DATE FOR HER TONIGHT! She still has HOURS TO WAIT!

10 O'CLOCK—SECOND STEP FINISHED . . .

7 hours after she started! And LOOK at that kinky, frizzy hair—because it dried on the curlers! Now she has to re-set her hair and set it in pin curls!

But what she still does NOT know is—HER WAVE IS ONLY SEMI-PERMANENT! Won't last nearly as long as a Lilt.

Ready for a glamorous evening!

Pin curls dry fast (but hair would on curlers does not). So, by 6:30, her Lilt is already brushed and combed into a smart, lovely hairdo!

And best of all, her Lilt wave is so permanent—so much like Naturally Curly Hair, it will last months and months!

LILT WAVES LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Miss Edna Bishop, East Carroll Parish clerk of court, commenting on registration of clergymen who perform marriages, advises that a special registration book is now being printed and will be ready within the next few days. Many pastors have been to the clerk's office to register, but as the book is not yet ready, will be notified through the local press when the book is available. As East Carroll is one of the smaller parishes a speedy job is anticipated in the registration as soon as the book is available. Statistical report of registration will be given by white and negro, and the different denominations.

Miss Louise Reed and Miss Annie Ethel Wyly have returned from Senatobia, Miss., where they visited with Mrs. Vernon Price, and a shopping trip for fall buying in Memphis.

Miss Reed and Miss Wyly will leave Aug. 24 for Lake Charles where they have an apartment for the next school year, as both are faculty members at McNeese Junior College.

Mrs. Bessie Lesler, Louisville, Ky., in Lake Providence to visit her brothers M. L. and G. L. Levy and families, was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Mertie L. Levy, who will visit their respective relatives.

Miss Ida May Cobb and Mrs. G. L. Levy are expected home this week end from a motor trip through Ft. Smith, Ark., Wichita, Kans., Pueblo, Colo., to Manitou Springs, Colo., to be with Mrs. Levy's brother E. E. Nelson, whose critical condition brings concern to family and friends. In returning a visit was made to Miss Cobb's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Neely, Mesa, Ariz., and the return through the heart of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Crosby and son Mike, Batesville, Ark., were week-end guest of Mrs. Crosby's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown of Galliard Plantation. Mr. Crosby and Mike returned home on Monday leaving Mrs. Crosby for a loger visit.

Mrs. H. H. Crosby, Batesville, Ark., was complimented on Tuesday morning at 10, by Mrs. S. A Holt of Oak Grove, who entertained at a coke hour. Guests from Lake Providence enjoying the hour with the honoree and Mrs Holt's hospitality were Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. Ernest Parra, Mrs. W. D. Brown, Jr. Mrs. K. Gore and Mrs. J. E. Brown.

Mrs. John Markey, Legion Auxiliary fifth district president, Mrs. Georgia Payne Pinkston, department chaplain, and Mrs. Arnold Rosenzweig, past Auxiliary president in Lake Providence attended the installation ceremonies of Scott Nicholas Voak Unit No. 100 Tallulah, on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Markey was the installing officer and Mrs. Pinkston brought greetings from the department.

Jerry Bayles, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bayles, Transylvania, was guest of Wayne Braswell, for a visit in Baytown, Tex., with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Braswell and Miss Helen Braswell. Mr. Braswell motored to Monroe to put them on the train for the trip

E. A. Bonnette, railroad foreman at Lake Providence, is a patient at the M. O. P. hospital in Shreveport, where he recently underwent surgery. Mrs. Bonnette remains at his bedside.

Georgeanne Townsend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Townsend of Lake Providence, celebrated her fifth birthday with a delightful al fresco party on Saturday afternoon, at four.

The birthday cake was iced in white, trimmed in pink and green and expressed the confectioned wish of "Happy Birthday Georgeanne." Favors were birthday hats, gum and candy.

Guests were Alice Jean Cooper, Carolyn Ann and Becky Oswalt, Linda Guenard, Kathy Cain, Steve Guenard, Jr., Gary and Carol Howard, Lynn Howington, Tony Baur, Carolyn White, Gayle Grossman, Sherry Cheek, Sandy Tomlinson, with Jeanie and "Be" Ragland, aunts of the honoree assisting in directing the games and serving, with Joan Ragland, a cousin helping.

Mrs. Bess Lancaster, San Antonio, Tex., guest in Lake Providence of her son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Thomas M. Lancaster, was complimented when Mrs. T. J. Slagle entertained on Thursday at a conversational hour.

Guests to spend the hour with the honoree were Mrs. T. M. Lancaster, Mrs. W. H. Maben, Mrs. J. G. Wyly, Mrs. R. S. Reed and Mrs. F. P. Hendricks.

Harvey Grant, Delhi, executive secretary of the Louisiana Delta council, speaker for the Wednesday meeting of the Lake Providence Rotary Club, informed on the council's effort in securing better prices for farm produce, and of making application to have East Carroll included in the drouth stricken Louisiana area, and communication with Representative Otto E. Passman.

Mrs. Roy Baggett returned to Lake Providence on Wednesday after spending three months in Greenville, nursing at the King's Daughters hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude King and children, Claude, Jr., and Pamela, have moved to Vicksburg, Miss., to make their future home, much to the regret of a wide circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Amacker were motorists to Alexandria on Tuesday.

Miss Jo Rene Myers leaves Monday to resume teaching at Clarksdale, Miss.

Mrs. Forrest M. Terrel graciously opened her new air conditioned home, picturesquely placed on the banks of Lake "Providence", to entertain the Ruby Peeler circle of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service on Monday afternoon at four.

Mrs. Wayne Baker, circle leader, stressed fellowship in the lesson "Fruit Of The Spirit." The lesson was concluded with prayer by Mrs. T. M. Lancaster, who later requested each present to write a definition on fellowship. The definitions were exchanged and read; all were good.

Project chosen for the quarter was collection of clothing for the Louisiana Indians.

Supplies collection totaled $4.37. Sales from vanilla to date are $45. Miss Eunyce Howard was named circle reporter.

Pineapple flavored chicken salad, cream cheese sandwiches, cheese crackers and black bottom pie were served to Mesdames James Beard, Wayne Baker, W. F. Bonner, D. F. Davis, John W. Fleming, P. E. Lancaster of San Antonio, Tex., T. M. Lancaster, Brady Oswalt, Wilborn Patrick, J. P. Sheppard, John Terral and Miss Eunyce Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Walsworth in returning Wednesday from their visit in Shreveport with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fontaine and infant daughter Beverly, were accompanied by Beverly, who is to spend a week.

5th Legion District In Committee Meeting

At the executive committee session of the Fifth American Legion department district held August 17 in Monroe, the members unanimously endorsed R. T. Farr, Jr., past L. B. Faulk post commander, as fifth district executive committeeman.

The election is set for Bastrop on September 28.

The year's budget, it was decided, will be allocated on the basis of the past year's membership, 4,617 members, bringing into the district a total of $1,154.25 plus a small carry over from the previous year.

The committee confirmed appointment of George D. McKnight as department executive committeeman to be in force until the fall meeting on September 28.

The fall conference was set for Bastrop on September 28. The district was cut into six areas instead of five as at present.

The new designation will be for both white and colored posts, as follows:

Area A, Monroe, West Monroe, Sterlington, Bastrop and Rayville.

Area B, Farmerville, Bernice, Dubach, Ruston, Jonesboro.

Area C, Tallulah, Delhi, Epps, Oak Grove, Lake Providence.

Area D, Ferriday, Vidalia, Waterproof, Newellton.

Area E, Winnsboro, Crowville, Mangham, Columbia, Wisner.

Area F, Sicily Island, Jonesville, Harrisonburg, Enterprise.

Johnny H. Gulett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gulett, Sr., celebrated his second birthday on Saturday, August 9th.

SOLVE GUM 'CRISIS'

MAQUOKETA, Ia. (AP)— A "crisis" which arose when a carload of Cub Scouts was caught without a single stick gum—bubble or otherwise—was solved by scout ingenuity.

The real crisis had developed when the Rev. Bruce Dean's car sprang a gastank leak while he was taking the scouts on a trip. He called for gum to plug the leak.

The gumless scouts were then "saved" when one of them remembered he had some caramels in his lunch sack.

NUDE LITTLE CUTIE

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)— A cute little blonde in the nude was reported walking on a Centralia street about dawn.

Police came back with this: "Found her. A blonde about 18 months old. Kept pointing south. Couldn't understand her baby lingo. Let her go and followed her to home. Name Gale Atkins. Father said she was in bed when he got up. Crawled down the steps and was on her way."

Do you believe in Dollar signs?

THERE are a lot of signs to guide you to the best buy in automobiles.

Popularity is a good sign.

It means that a lot of people have tried a car and found it good. So it's important to know that Buick is today – and has been since 1938 – the most popular car outside the "low-priced three."

Room, comfort, power, ride are good signs.

So it's important to know that you can pay hundreds of dollars more and not beat the room and comfort you get in a Buick SPECIAL.

Nor, at the price, can you match its power. And only Buick gives you a real million dollar ride.

Doesn't all this give you a hint?

Doesn't it suggest that you ought to try out a Buick – sample its Fireball 8 Engine–find out how it takes you over the road – feel the sure control that is yours on curves–discover its "big car" room and smoothness?

Do that–and look at the dollars on the price tag–and we know what you'll find out:

If you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick–and boy, what fun that will be!

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Sure is true for '52

SHIPPERS FIGHT EXPRESS HALTING

Oak Ridge To Vidalia To Be Affected; Public Makes Protests

WINNSBORO, Aug. 23. (Special)—Agents along the Missouri Pacific line from Oak Ridge to Vidalia have been notified that American Railway Express will be discontinued along this route on September 1. This will not be allowed to happen without a fight, by the civic minded people in this six-parish area, spearheaded by Winnsboro's youthful, aggressive, mayor, Robert F. Mulhearn and the very active Winnsboro Business Men's association. At a mass meeting of all interested people in the entire area, to be held at Winnsboro, in the Northeast Louisiana Power cooperative building at 7:30, Monday night August 25, plans will be formulated on how to prevent the discontinuance of this vital service.

Fish and other perishable foods, cotton samples, silver coins for banks, flowers, candy, jewelry, dry goods, etc. are sent by express: parcel post is too expensive and freight is too slow. The economy of this district would be seriously injured if express service was discontinued.

John E. Blanchard, managing editor of the Franklin Sun, aptly described the situation in an editorial which appeared in the Thursday issue of the Sun. The editorial follows:

"Drouth-ridden Franklin parish an area which should be in the 'disaster' category, is to undergo further damage September 1 if the fight and efforts of the Winnsboro Business Men's association and the people of the surrounding area are not successful.

"Discontinuance of express service to points which have no passenger service is scheduled to become effective September 1 — just 11 days hence. The reason: The Missouri Pacific motor freight contract with the American Express company expires on that day and the contract will not be renewed. With whom the fault lies, has not been determined, but will this week end.

"To give one an idea what express service means to this parish: All perishable foods, especially fish import and export, silver (money) for the banks, flowers, jewelry, some candy and other items of necessity come via express. Parcel post, in some instances could be substituted, but there's a limit on the amount of value and weight and the cost would be prohibitive. Freight service cannot be substituted for express because of the slowness of transportation.

"Reliable sources say that the Louisiana Public Service commission does not control express service since it is inter-state and comes under the federal board of Interstate Commerce commission. In reality, the express service is owned by the various railroad companies and contracts are awarded to carriers on periodic-commission basis. The points (destinations) do come under public service control. The service could be halted without consent of the commission but the destinations (towns villages, etc.) could not be removed until a decision, following a hearing, is offered by the three-member Louisiana group. Express points without express might be compared with an apple tree without apples.

"The Missouri Pacific Railway company removed the old "doodlebug" from the Collinston-to-Vidalia run after a hectic fight and with the consent (2 to 1) of the Louisiana group. The railway company, owner of the motor freight division which is the express carrier, might be missing a bet on the outcome of the fight. Three years ago when the "tooth-jerker" was removed from the line, and it carried mail and express, the company promised continuation of express service by motor truck, according to a transcript copy of the hearing. How good is a promise? How long does a promise last?

"Conceding that a promise is a promise and that a promise is no idle chatter (in this instance made into the record for the commission) we forsee: Either the continuation of express service or the reinstatement of the "doodlebug" upon the grounds offered by the company to the Public Service commission. While we'd be satisfied with the mere continuation of the service, we can easily vision the twice-daily visit of the little Diesel — carrier of mail, passengers and express service.

"Will the Missouri Pacific sing the "Doodlebug Blues" or will the express argument end? The fight may be long and drawn-out, full of excitement, arguments and presentations of facts and figures, but we have the time, the energy, the argumentive know-how and the facts and figures. Let's all get into the fight to stop the intended removal of express service."

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I was married fifteen years ago at the age of 18. Our marriage got off to a bad start because we were so young. We were married secretly for two years. When finally we did make it known, we made another mistake by moving in with his parents. Three years later, our baby was born and, upon my insistence, we set up our own little home. We had lived by ourselves for a year when my husband asked for a divorce because he was in love with someone else.

It was a terrific shock, as we had always been close companions, hunting and fishing together, enjoying the same friends, etc. I didn't grant the divorce, and he joined the service. After the war, we decided to try again and, there being nothing else available, went to live with my folks. We never seemed to get the money for a home, though my husband denied himself no pleasure. He had a new car, went fishing, hunting and had lots of fun.

Then I had a chance to work elsewhere, and took it, hoping to earn enough money for our home. My husband was quite content to let me go—which hurt me a lot. Now I find there is someone else again. However, he doesn't want a divorce, but neither does he want me to go back to live with him. Yet he says he loves me. I simply am so bewildered I don't know what to do.

FLORENCE V.

ANSWER: You married a man too immature, at 21, to accept the responsibilities of his marital state and, in the fifteen ensuing years, he still hasn't grown up enough to accept them. He is willing to stay married to you as long as the condition entails no obligations, but leaves him as free as the air to pursue other loves, and all the forms of pleasure to which he is addicted.

WANTS NO INTERFERENCE

While a wife and child hovering unobtrusively in the background is endurable, he wants you no closer, and under no circumstances must you intrude on his life to the point of interfering with the way he wants to live. While you are, of course, equally responsible for the initial mistakes of your marriage, your efforts since to establish and maintain a home show that you have grown up in the intervening years, while your husband most certainly has not.

Your present course is most inadvisable, if you want to continue your almost hopeless efforts to keep the family together. Go back to your husband, make him set up a home for you and his son. If you use enough firmness, you can convince him that you are in earnest with your insistence. Not being a firm character himself, he'll give in to your persuasion. From that point on you can determine whether or not you can manage the marriage successfully.

A case like yours is one of the few instances in which the management of the home—financial, emotional and domestic—should be in the wife's hands. Don't make the mistake, however, of going to work yourself. You only provide money for additional outings for your husband and his earnings should be sufficient to run the house.

A program of firm determination on your part may set things to rights for you. You must deal with an unstable husband as you would with a child—don't give him too much chance to make up his own mind about anything; he's too vacillating to make decisions. You have, in effect, two children to manage, and no one to lean on yourself. You cannot change your husband, and you cannot essentially change the conditions under which you must live. If the prospect is not alluring, let him go. You're not losing much.

DEAR MISS DIX: Several months ago my husband brought home a woman with whom he worked, who was a stranger in town. She is separated from her husband and, since she was lonely, my husband thought she and I would become friends—or so he said. I have since discovered, however, that he is personally interested in her, and also that she has already broken two other homes. I told her if she interfered in my home, I'd break her neck. My husband says he likes her, and just feels sorry for her—has no deeper feeling. However, he is now finding fault with every single thing I do. Things that used to please him now have the opposite effect. We have four fine children and, due to my efforts working outside the home, a nice house and bank account. We've been married 18 years.

P. P.

ANSWER: Your husband apparently is, at least semi-consciously, aware of his own defections, but to make excuses for them turns to the world-old trick of finding fault with you. This is the weakling's way of shifting attention from his own shortcomings—turning the spotlight on the minute faults of someone else.

By all means refuse your hospitality to the homewrecker and, if she continues to be an annoyance, threaten to report her to the court that made the financial arrangement with her husband. Since this is dependent upon her good behavior, I think the threat will have a speedy and effective result.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 and very fond of a boy 18. He hangs around corners at night, yet I like him very much. When I first met him, I was rather cold, but now I would like to let him know that I care for him. How can I go about it?

P. R.

ANSWER: Boys who hang around street corners are not the best company for a 16-year-old. Why not turn your attentions to a boy of better habitat?

Texas Cattlemen Visit Concordia In Quest For Assistance

FERRIDAY, Aug. 23. (Special) Texas cattlemen are hunting pastures to rent in Concordia parish in order to feed their drouth-starved cattle.

County Agent C. P. Seab said at Vidalia that a number of large cattle owners from the Lone Star state have come to Concordia parish recently seeking large acreage on which they could graze their cattle.

"One man who was in here last week wanted to bring 7,000 head of cattle in here," Seab said.

He added that Concordia pasture owners are not anxious to take the Texas Cattle, however, because they have learned in the past that "Texas cattle don't do too well here."

Texas cattle, he said, do not have the well developed pouches of Louisiana cattle and cannot hold enough of the succulent, lush grasses that abound here to allow them to gain weight as they should.

Further, he said, pastures are still rather short in the parish because of the drouth though some grasses are coming out because of recent rains.

Fescue, where it has been properly mineralized is doing especially well he said, adding that where it is tall it should be cut for hay. Other pastures he said, should be clipped for weed, but not cut. Seab urged farmers to apply 30 to 40 pounds of nitrate as top dressing at this time of year. Fescue, he said, is doing well in the parish because it is deep rooted and in addition to withstanding spring overflows, also is able to withstand drouth, even in buckshot soil. Though pastures are not in a good shape as normally this time of year, Seab said, cattle in the parish are in good shape.

Cattlemen, he said, are rotating in the pastures and preventing fields from being too closely cropped. Though there will be little hay in the parish for sale this year, Seab said there is plenty of clover seed and Singletary peas for sale.

CATAHOULA WILL OPEN SCHOOLS

Teaching List Of Parish Is Announced For Ensuing Year

JONESVILLE, Aug. 23 (Special)—Catahoula parish schools, both white and colored, will officially open on Monday, September 1, although white children will not report for classes until the following Wednesday.

Aubrey Brooks, superintendent, said Monday and Tuesday will be given over a parish-wide meeting of white teachers and to faculty meetings in the various schools.

Colored elementary schools in Catahoula have formerly opened later than the white schools and have run for only seven months, but this year a full nine-month term is anticipated for them if money is available. Colored high schools have been run on a nine-month basis for the past several years.

Brooks said he anticipates no great increase in enrollment this year. At the close of last session, there were 3,122 students enrolled in Catahoula schools. Of these, 2,011 were white and 1,111 colored.

Faculties for all schools were approved by the school board recently. They are:

Block school in Jonesville: Kelly Breithaupt, principal; H. H. Stovall, Arch Aplin, Jr., S. E. Richardson, Reece Briethaupt, R. B. Winegeart, Frank J. Leach, Edwin T. Scott, Mrs. Rose Sensintaffer, Carma Singleton, Mrs. C. K. Pierce, Mrs. Alice B. Winegeart, Mrs. Myrtle C. Price, Mrs. George E. Moore, Mrs. Bernice Beard, C. J. Hamilton, Rufus R. Enterprise school: H. R. Barton, principal; F. H. Holdeman, Mrs. Lurline S. Sheppard, Mrs. Irene W. McGuffee, Daniel L. Creel, Mrs. Elizabeth Henagan, Mrs. Mae Cruse, Mrs. Vivian Hodges.

Manifest elementary school: J. Eldon Doughty, principal; I. S. Chevallier, Mrs. Florence Heard, Mrs. Ethel Trisler, Vivian Wright.

Central school: A. L. Sandifer, principal; Wallace Chapman, Mary Catherine Clark, William J. Guice, Mrs. John Z. Chaney, Mrs. Jennie T. Furr, Thomas Hooter.

Faculties for the two colored high schools are:

Catahoula parish training school, Jonesville: E. H. Johnson, principal; Anthony J. Collins, Victoria S. Johnson, Edna Sims Mazique, Camile W. Herbert, Ollie Mize Webb, Frances W. Fletcher, Mary L. Dent, Beulah C. Collins, Thelma W. Beard, Annie Rose Johnson, Clara S. Freeman, Annie M. Brown.

Sicily Island Rosenwald school: D. V. Tolliver, principal; Rhodell Trimble, Jennie Neal Mitchell, Marie Cubie, Gladys Trimble, Victoria W. Brown, Mabel V. Hamilton, Alberta Wilson, Minnie S. Tolliver, Susie M. Moore.

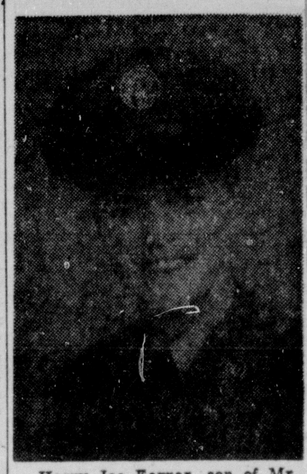

Central High school, located in lower Catahoula near Red river, opened on August 4. Because the school frequently has to close during the spring overflows, it starts sessions earlier than other schools.

SHIPPERS FIGHT EXPRESS HALTING

Oak Ridge To Vidalia To Be Affected; Public Makes Protests

WINNSBORO, Aug. 23. (Special) —Agents along the Missouri Pacific line from Oak Ridge to Vidalia have been notified that American Railway Express will be discontinued along this route on September 1. This will not be allowed to happen without a fight, by the civic minded people in this six-parish area, spearheaded by Winnsboro's youthful, aggressive, mayor, Robert F. Mulhearn and the very active Winnsboro Business Men's association. At a mass meeting of all interested people in the entire area, to be held at Winnsboro, in the Northeast Louisiana Power cooperative building at 7:30, Monday night August 25, plans will be formulated on how to prevent the discontinuance of this vital service.

Fish and other perishable foods, cotton samples, silver coins for banks, flowers, candy, jewelry, dry goods, etc. are sent by express: parcel post is too expensive and freight is too slow. The economy of this district would be seriously injured if express service was discontinued.

John E. Blanchard, managing editor of the Franklin Sun, aptly described the situation in an editorial which appeared in the Thursday issue of the Sun. The editorial follows:

"Drouth-ridden Franklin parish an area which should be in the 'disaster' category, is to undergo further damage September 1 if the fight and efforts of the Winnsboro Business Men's association and the people of the surrounding area are not successful.

"Discontinuance of express service to points which have no passenger service is scheduled to become effective September 1 — just 11 days hence. The reason: The Missouri Pacific motor freight contract with the American Express company expires on that day and the contract will not be renewed. With whom the fault lies, has not been determined, but will this week end.

"To give one an idea what express service means to this parish: All perishable foods, especially fish import and export, silver (money) for the banks, flowers, jewelry, some candy and other items of necessity come via express. Parcel post, in some instances could be substituted, but there's a limit on the amount of value and weight and the cost would be prohibitive. Freight service cannot be substituted for express because of the slowness of transportation.

"Reliable sources say that the Louisiana Public Service commission does not control express service since it is inter-state and comes under the federal board of Interstate Commerce commission. In reality, the express service is owned by the various railroad companies and contracts are awarded to carriers on periodic-commission basis. The points (destinations) do come under public service control. The service could be halted without consent of the commission but the destinations (towns villages, etc.) could not be removed until a decision, following a hearing, is offered by the three-member Louisiana group. Express points without express might be compared with an apple tree without apples.

"The Missouri Pacific Railway company removed the old "doodlebug" from the Collinston-to-Vidalia run after a hectic fight and with the consent (2 to 1) of the Louisiana group. The railway company, owner of the motor freight division which is the express carrier, might be missing a bet on the outcome of the fight. Three years ago when the "tooth-jerker" was removed from the line, and it carried mail and express, the company promised continuation of express service by motor truck, according to a transcript copy of the hearing. How good is a promise? How long does a promise last?

"Conceding that a promise is a promise and that a promise is no idle chatter (in this instance made into the record for the commission) we forsee: Either the continuation of express service or the reinstatement of the "doodlebug" upon the grounds offered by the company to the Public Service commission. While we'd be satisfied with the mere continuation of the service, we can easily vision the twice-daily visit of the little Diesel — carrier of mail, passengers and express service.

"Will the Missouri Pacific sing the "Doodlebug Blues" or will the express argument end? The fight may be long and drawn-out, full of excitement, arguments and presentations of facts and figures, but we have the time, the energy, the argumentive know-how and the facts and figures. Let's all get into the fight to stop the intended removal of express service."

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I was married fifteen years ago at the age of 18. Our marriage got off to a bad start because we were so young. We were married secretly for two years. When finally we did make it known, we made another mistake by moving in with his parents. Three years later, our baby was born and, upon my insistence, we set up our own little home. We had lived by ourselves for a year when my husband asked for a divorce because he was in love with someone else.

It was a terrific shock, as we had always been close companions, hunting and fishing together, enjoying the same friends, etc. I didn't grant the divorce, and he joined the service. After the war, we decided to try again and, there being nothing else available, went to live with my folks. We never seemed to get the money for a home, though my husband denied himself no pleasure. He had a new car, went fishing, hunting and had lots of fun.

Then I had a chance to work elsewhere, and took it, hoping to earn enough money for our home. My husband was quite content to let me go—which hurt me a lot. Now I find there is someone else again. However, he doesn't want a divorce, but neither does he want me to go back to live with him. Yet he says he loves me. I simply am so bewildered I don't know what to do.

FLORENCE V.

ANSWER: You married a man too immature, at 21, to accept the responsibilities of his marital state and, in the fifteen ensuing years, he still hasn't grown up enough to accept them. He is willing to stay married to you as long as the condition entails no obligations, but leaves him as free as the air to pursue other loves, and all the forms of pleasure to which he is addicted.

WANTS NO INTERFERENCE

While a wife and child hovering unobtrusively in the background is endurable, he wants you no closer, and under no circumstances must you intrude on his life to the point of interfering with the way he wants to live. While you are, of course, equally responsible for the initial mistakes of your marriage, your efforts since to establish and maintain a home show that you have grown up in the intervening years, while your husband most certainly has not.

Your present course is most inadvisable, if you want to continue your almost hopeless efforts to keep the family together. Go back to your husband, make him set up a home for you and his son. If you use enough firmness, you can convince him that you are in earnest with your insistence. Not being a firm character himself, he'll give in to your persuasion. From that point on you can determine whether or not you can manage the marriage successfully.

Cattlemen, he said, are rotating in the pastures and preventing fields from being too closely cropped. Though there will be little hay in the parish for sale this year, Seab said there is plenty of clover seed and Singletary peas for sale.

CATAHOULA WILL OPEN SCHOOLS

Teaching List Of Parish Is Announced For Ensuing Year

JONESVILLE, Aug. 23 (Special) —Catahoula parish schools, both white and colored, will officially open on Monday, September 1, although white children will not report for classes until the following Wednesday.

Aubrey Brooks, superintendent, said Monday and Tuesday will be given over a parish-wide meeting of white teachers and to faculty meetings in the various schools.

Colored elementary schools in Catahoula have formerly opened later than the white schools and have run for only seven months, but this year a full nine-month term is anticipated for them if money is available. Colored high schools have been run on a nine-month basis for the past several years.

Brooks said he anticipates no great increase in enrollment this year. At the close of last session, there were 3,122 students enrolled in Catahoula schools. Of these, 2,011 were white and 1,111 colored.

Faculties for all schools were approved by the school board recently. They are:

Block school in Jonesville: Kelly Breithaupt, principal; H. H. Stovall, Arch Aplin, Jr., S. E. Richardson, Reece Briethaupt, R. B. Winegeart, Frank J. Leach, Edwin T. Scott, Mrs. Rose Sensintaffer, Carma Singleton, Mrs. C. K. Pierce, Mrs. Alice B. Winegeart, Mrs. Myrtle C. Price, Mrs. George E. Moore, Mrs. Bernice Beard, C. J. Hamilton, Rufus R. Enterprise school: H. R. Barton, principal; F. H. Holderman, Mrs. Lurline S. Sheppard, Mrs. Irene W. McGuffee, Daniel L. Creel, Mrs. Elizabeth Henagan, Mrs. Mae Cruse, Mrs. Vivian Hodges.

Manifest elementary school: J. Eldon Doughty, principal; I. S. Chevallier, Mrs. Florence Heard, Mrs. Ethel Trisler, Vivian Wright.

Central school: A. L. Sandifer, principal; Wallace Chapman, Mary Catherine Clark, William J. Guice, Mrs. John Z. Chaney, Mrs. Jennie T. Furr, Thomas Hooter.

Faculties for the two colored high schools are:

Catahoula parish training school, Jonesville: E. H. Johnson, principal; Anthony J. Collins, Victoria S. Johnson, Edna Sims Mazique, Camile W. Herbert, Ollie Mize Webb, Frances W. Fletcher, Mary L. Dent, Beulah C. Collins, Thelma W. Beard, Annie Rose Johnson, Clara S. Freeman, Annie M. Brown.

Sicily Island Rosenwald school: D. V. Tolliver, principal; Rhodell Trimble, Jennie Neal Mitchell, Marie Cubie, Gladys Trimble, Victoria W. Brown, Mabel V. Hamilton, Alberta Wilson, Minnie S. Tolliver, Susie M. Moore.

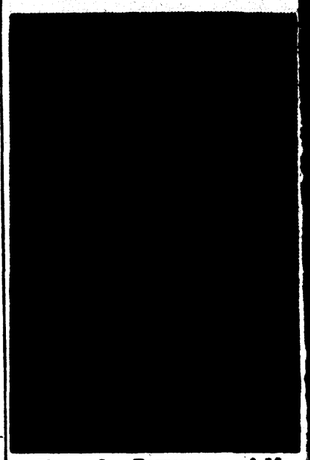

Central High school, located in lower Catahoula near Red river, opened on August 4. Because the school frequently has to close during the spring overflows, it starts sessions earlier than other schools.

MONROE BUYING POWER IS HIGH

Average Earnings Per Family Here Is Placed At $5,155

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Special)—What is the average income of Monroe families? How much is available to them for spending, after taxes? How do they spend it?

Answers to these questions, much sought after for commercial reasons, are contained in the new copyrighted survey of buying power, covering the entire United States, prepared by sales management.

The figures show that higher incomes and a better standard of living prevail locally. Monroe families recorded net earnings in 1951, after deduction for all taxes, of $62,894,000. This was a gain over the $55,170,000 net income of the previous year.

Divided by the 12,200 families in the city, it represented earnings of $5,155 per family, which was greater than the $4,029 earned per family, on the average, throughout the nation and than the $4,064 per family in the west south central states. This compares favorably also with the previous year, when earnings per family, locally, were $4,522. Louisiana families recorded earnings of $3,961.

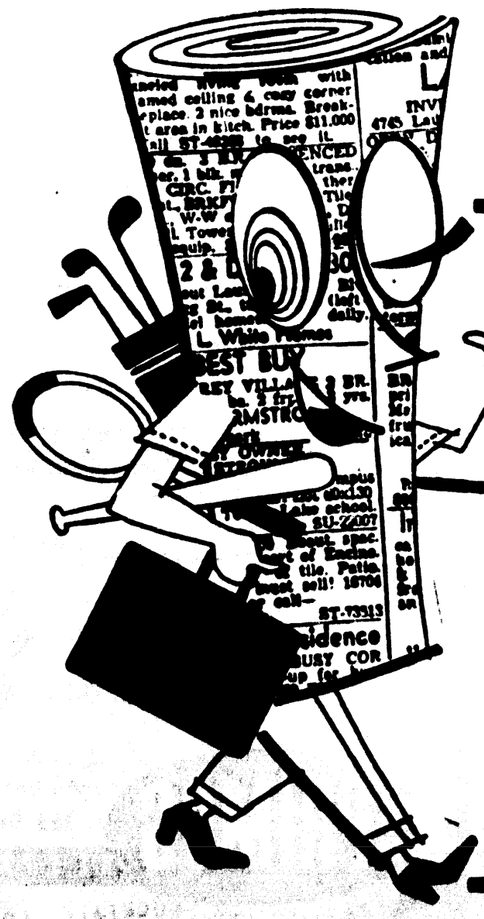

The figures, it is pointed out, are arithmetical averages, obtained by dividing total income by total number of families.

The better earnings locally led to bigger spending. Monroe stores registered a sales volume in the year of $70,885,000, which was well over the amount expected for a city of the size. On the basis of population, the retail business locally should have been only .0238 per cent of the national. Actually, however, local merchants accounted for .0468 per cent.

This sales total represented a gain over 1950, when the retail business amounted to $68,858,000.

The fact that total sales are greater than income indicates that a great deal of purchasing is done in Monroe by residents of surrounding communities.

A measure of the purchasing ability of each city and county, as compared with the nation, is given in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This takes into consideration income, sales, population and other factors. For Monroe the index rating is placed at 130, or 30 percent over the national average.

TALE OF GOLD RUSH ARRIVES

'Outcasts Of Poker Flat' Will Open Thursday At Joy Theater

"The Outcasts of Poker Flat," Twentieth Century-Fox's new suspense western based on the classic Bret Harte story, opens Thursday at the Joy Theatre with Anne Baxter and Dale Robertson in the starring roles.

A sharply - etched story of humans in conflict with the elements of nature and the sadistic brutality of a half-crazed gunman, "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" is one of the most frequently anthologized classics of American literature and is recognized as the forerunner of the modern western. Millions of copies of the book have been sold and the tale has been translated in nine different languages.

Set in the raw, lusty, violent California gold rush era, the Harte story narrates the gripping account of four outcasts — a misguided girl, a professional gambler, the dance hall queen and the town derelict — who are expelled from the mining town of Poker Flat only to become the prisoners of a heartless murderer. Forced to rely on each other, they set about to conquer their adversary.

Anne Baxter, the lovely star who received an Academy Award nomination for "All About Eve," returns to the screen after a short absence to play the wayward girl who seeks happiness in the arms of the gambler.

Dale Robertson, whose rapid rise to stardom in "Take Care of My Little Girl" and "The Return of the Texan", has established him as one of Hollywood's top leading men, incorporates his rugged personality in bringing the gambler to life.

Making one of her rare film appearances, Miriam Hopkins plays the caustic "Duchess," bitter and resentful towards life. Miss Hopkins last appeared in "The Heir - ess."

Cameron Mitchell, previously limited to minor roles, is given his first big opportunity as the pistol-whipping killer. Advance reports maintain that Mitchell's portrayal of the meanest, toughest brute to be seen on the screen in some time has stamped him as top priority in Twentieth Century - Fox plans. Craig Hill, Barbara Bates and Billy Lynn complete the supporting cast.

Produced by Julian Blaustein and directed by Joseph M. New - man, 'The Outcasts of Poker Flat" was adapted for the screen by Edmund H. North. Blaustein and North collaborated on last year's "The Day The Earth Stood Still".

Jockey Howard Craig rode 29 winners during the first 22 days in July to take the lead over Harold Keene for the nation's riding honors. On July 25, Craig had ridden 169 winners, one more than Keene.

PLAYING IN OUTCASTS

Cameron Mitchell seizes Anne Baxter and takes command in a scene from "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," a Twentieth Century-Fox production of the famous Bret Harte novel co-starring Anne Baxter and Dale Robertson, due to arrive Thursday at the Joy Theatre.

Bob Thomas IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Ever have one of those days when everything goes wrong?

I had one this week. I should have realized the portent when the fan belt on the family transport snapped on the way to the office. Lots of other things happen, too. The copy boy was in a foul mood and growled at me. Two promising interviews were cancelled. And the house payment check was due.

I should have known enough to go home to bed. But the necessities of a daily column would not allow so I toured a couple of studios. Nothing. Roy Rogers had gone for the day, and Trigger didn't want to be quoted. Marilyn Monroe was reported out playing catch with Joe Dimaggio. By some fancy footwork, I was able to elude Shelley Winters.

But I had an ace in the hole. It was a telegram which claimed to be a "passport to heaven." Some department store was tossing "the most unique fantastic men's fashion show ever presented." Although ungrammatical, it sounded promising. I had always thought that a male fashion show would be good for a column some day.

So I trundled to the swank eatery and drinkery where the event was taking place. The hors d'oeuvres were wonderful. The fashion show was a dud.

I was expecting to learn the answers to all the urgent male fashion issues. Is the belt-in-the-back coat returning? (I saved one of mine just in case.) Can you wear a tartan plaid to the opera opening? What is happening to spats?

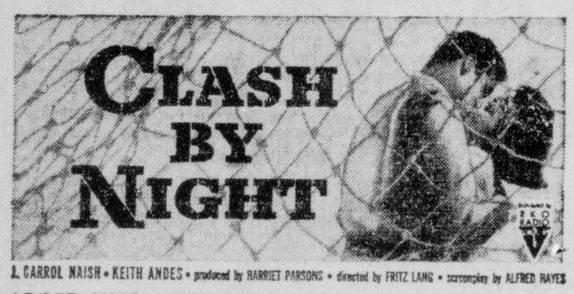

The fashion show turned out to be a promotion for new kinds of material. You know — those suits you can put in the washer and ties that shed gravy like a duck drips water.

Three fellows from a model agency displayed all these items from shorts to overcoats, while a man from the store extolled their virtues (the clothes, not the models). I listened carefully, perpoised for items of sifnificance. About the only thing I garnered was that "small-checked shirts are the vogue this year."

Spitsbergen was visited by the Norse Vikings about 1194. They named it Svalbard, "Land of the Cold Coasts".

Bob Thomas IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Ever have one of those days when everything goes wrong?

I had one this week. I should have realized the portent when the fan belt on the family transport snapped on the way to the office. Lots of other things happen, too. The copy boy was in a foul mood and growled at me. Two promising interviews were cancelled. And the house payment check was due.

I should have known enough to go home to bed. But the necessities of a daily column would not allow so I toured a couple of studios. Nothing. Roy Rogers had gone for the day, and Trigger didn't want to be quoted. Marilyn Monroe was reported out playing catch with Joe Dimaggio. By some fancy footwork, I was able to elude Shelley Winters.

But I had an ace in the hole. It was a telegram which claimed to be a "passport to heaven." Some department store was tossing "the most unique fantastic men's fashion show ever presented." Although ungrammatical, it sounded promising. I had always thought that a male fashion show would be good for a column some day.

So I trundled to the swank eatery and drinkery where the event was taking place. The hors d'oeuvres were wonderful. The fashion show was a dud.

I was expecting to learn the answers to all the urgent male fashion issues. Is the belt-in-the-back coat returning? (I saved one of mine, just in case.) Can you wea a tartan plaid to the opera open ing? What is happening to spats

The fashion show turned out be a promotion for new kinds material. You know — those sui you can put in the washer an ties that shed gravy like a duc drips water.

Three fellows from a mod agency displayed all these item from shorts to overcoats, while man from the store extolled the virtues (the clothes, not the mo els). I listened carefully, pen poised for items of sifnificanc About the only thing I garnere was that "small-checked shirts a the vogue this year."

Spitsbergen was visited by t Norse Vikings about 1194. Th named it Svalbard, "Land of t Cold Coasts".

Chi Omega Alumnae Entertain At Swimming And Card Party

Informality And Congeniality Is Keynote Of Party

On Tuesday, August 19, at the John Sherrouse home on DeSiard Road the Chi Omegas were hostesses at a Panhellenic party honoring girls who will enter college this fall.

Informality, relaxation, and congeniality were the keynotes as the the guests swam, played cards, and made conversational groups in the gardens and on the terrace.

The Chi Omega colors, cardinal and straw, were prominent in all the decorations. Especially colorful was the buffet table which was centered with a hibiscus arrangement of the Chi Omega Greek letters. This arrangement was placed against a background of Southern magnolia leaves on which the Greek letters of the other Panhellenic members had been painted. Also carrying out the Chi Omega color motif were the small owls which Mrs. Fred Sartor designed and executed to serve as name tags for the guests.

College - bound guests were the Misses Katherine Guerriero, Kitty Fox, Beverly Hatchell, Anna Mary Johnson, Jo Rhodes, Terri Sue Tidwell, Ione Hill, Joanne Rizzo, Carolyn Peters, Polly Riley, Judy Brown, Agnes Woods, Georgia Blanchard, Joel Sugar, Jo Ann McDonald, Jennie Reynolds, Clara Munholland, Rosemary McGinn, Martha Hatchell, Frances Black, and Dolores Wallace of Monroe. Out-of-town guests were Miss Amanda Brown of Lake Providence, Misses Carolyn Jo Goodwin and Patsy J. Wroten of Bastrop, and Miss Ann Lowentritt of Winnsboro.

Representing the other Panhellenic members were Mrs. Fred Amman, Mrs. Wesley Shafto, Miss Billie Harper, Mrs. Louis Smith, Mrs. William Husted, Mrs. Roy Cole, Jr., Mrs. John I. Neel, Mrs. Thomas Sandridge, Mrs. Fred Westrom, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Carolyn Shelton, Mrs. Bill Riley, Jr., and Mrs. C. Calhoun.

Chi Omegas who were hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Edward Holmes, Mrs. Paul J. Neal, Mrs. Vagie Rivers, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., Mrs. James Sparks, Mrs. Burchall Liles, Mrs. Oberah Bove, Mrs. Fred Sartor, Mrs. Rayford A. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Wright, Jr., Miss June Lewis, Mrs. George Tidwell, Miss Ann Shafto, Miss Beverly Martin, Miss Pat Wadley, Miss Beverly Hatchell, Mrs. Roy Johns, Mrs. W. E. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Hollace Venable, Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr. Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Jr., and Mrs. Miles Sager of Lake Charles.

Chi Omega Alumnae Entertain At Swimming And Card Party

Informality And Congeniality Is Keynote Of Party

On Tuesday, August 19, at the John Sherrouse home on DeSiard Road the Chi Omegas were hostesses at a Panhellenic party honoring girls who will enter college this fall.

Informality, relaxation, and congeniality were the keynotes as the the guests swam, played cards, and made conversational groups in the gardens and on the terrace.

The Chi Omega colors, cardinal and straw, were prominent in all the decorations. Especially colorful was the buffet table which was centered with a hibiscus arrangement of the Chi Omega Greek letters. This arrangement was placed against a background of Southern magnolia leaves on which the Greek letters of the other Panhellenic members had been painted. Also carrying out the Chi Omega color motif were the small owls which Mrs. Fred Sartor designed and executed to serve as name tags for the guests.

College - bound guests were the Misses Katherine Guerriero, Kitty Fox, Beverly Hatchell, Anna Mary Johnson, Jo Rhodes, Terri Sue Tidwell, Ione Hill, Joanne Rizzo, Carolyn Peters, Polly Riley, Judy Brown, Agnes Woods, Georgia Blanchard, Joel Sugar, Jo Ann McDonald, Jennie Reynolds, Clara Munholland, Rosemary McGinn, Martha Hatchell, Frances Black, and Dolores Wallace of Monroe. Out-of-town guests were Miss Amanda Brown of Lake Providence, Misses Carolyn Jo Goodwin and Patsy J. Wroten of Bastrop, and Miss Ann Lowentritt of Winnsboro.

Representing the other Panhellenic members were Mrs. Fred Amman, Mrs. Wesley Shafto, Miss Billie Harper, Mrs. Louis Smith, Mrs. William Husted, Mrs. Roy Cole, Jr., Mrs. John I. Neel, Mrs. Thomas Sandridge, Mrs. Fred Westrom, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Carolyn Shelton, Mrs. Bill Riley, Jr., and Mrs. C. Calhoun.

Chi Omegas who were hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Edward Holmes, Mrs. Paul J. Neal, Mrs. Vagie Rivers, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., Mrs. James Sparks, Mrs. Burchall Liles, Mrs. Oberah Bove, Mrs. Fred Sartor, Mrs. Rayford A. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Wright, Jr., Miss June Lewis, Mrs. George Tidwell, Miss Ann Shafto, Miss Beverly Martin, Miss Pat Wadley, Miss Beverly Hatchell, Mrs. Roy Johns, Mrs. W. E. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Hollace Venable, Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr. Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Jr., and Mrs. Miles Sager of Lake Charles.

Louisianian's Ancient Diary Tells Civil War Experiences

Now Owned By Case B. Dunham, 90-Year-Old Delhi Resident

WINNSBORO, Aug. 23. —(Special)— An interesting sidelight on the Civil War, as it was fought in Louisiana, is recorded in a small leather - back diary three and inthree-fourth inches wide and five and one-fourth inches long owned by Case B. Dunham, 90-year-old resident of Delhi, Route 2, Richland parish. The diary was written by his father, Levi Nathan Dunham who served with a Home Guard unit in Louisiana. The time covered by the diary is from June 7, 1864, to August 8, 1864, and the locality he describes is along the Mississippi, Beouf, Tensas and Bayou Macon Rivers, in what is now Madison, Richland, and East and West Carroll parishes.

It will be remembered that at this time Vicksburg had been captured and the federals were in complete control of the Mississippi River. General Henry Watkins Allen was governor of Louisiana with headquarters in Shreveport and no major military operations took place in Louisiana after the Red River campaign early in 1864 in which the federal troops failed to reach Shreveport.

The diary is written in beautiful hand writing with ink, but is badly faded with age. W. L. Girod, correspondent for a local Richland parish paper, with painstaking throughness has copied the diary which reads as follows:

Monday, June 7, 1864: Joined General Harrison's command.

June 16: Started to camp and borrowed $100 from Mrs. Stubblefield. Got as far as Cal Moore's and camped. It rained some.

June 17: Reached the company at 10 o'clock a. m. and wrote this.

June 18 & 19: Was put on picket with Caldwell, sergeant of the post.

June 20: Called out with the company, went to Johnson place and joined the command. Ate supper with Carpenter and met Andrew (Dunham) and King. Received a carton of shot and caps, but didn't get enough corn for my mare.

June 21: Stayed all day in camp. Received three days rations with orders to cook it all. Expectations were that we would start to the river the next morning, but it rained so much we did not start.

June 22: Stayed at camp and it rained a good deal.

June 23: The horn blowed before day and all got up, fed the horses and ate breakfast. Was ordered to saddle up about sun-up, we all did except about thirteen of our company. We got started about 7 o'clock and it was very muddy. We had to cross the bayou (Macon) on a bad pontoon bridge. I was surprised that we went right up the bayou. Got near Osborn Ferry and stopped to cool and ate about 12 o'clock. wrote this. Andrew got a letter from Isgett yesterday from Panola, Tex. Camped on west bank of Tensas. Bread very low.

June 24: We went down Tensas two or three miles and swam the horses and took the saddles over in flats. The banks were muddy. Marched on toward the river all day. About 12 o'clock we were at an evacuated place, got corn and fed. Stopped at another evacuated place that night with orders to have everything ready to saddle at a short notice. Was ordered to saddle about midnight. We then marched till daylight, was hotter and we had to pack. . . .

June 25: I was in a camp up near a plantation where we captured several hunted Negroes and a good deal of plunder of one kind or another, some whiskey, bacon, flour and coffee, and burned up the place. Most of the Negroes that were on the place had decamped. I got some articles of dress and went to the same camp that night. It rained after dark and got very wet. Articles sent home by Balph —1 snuff colored coat, 1 blue coat, 1 muslin dress, 1 calico dress, 1 black cape, small pr. stockings, 1 stripe dress body of white shenendy, 1 head cap.

June 26: Got back to Tensas, crossed over and camped.

June 27: Got back to camp.

June 28: Went on today.

June 29: Went down to Kirks Ferry.

June 30: All quiet in camp up to this time. Building a pontoon bridge across Tensas, so report says, I haven't seen it. We wrote a letter to send home by B. (Balph) but he didn't get off.

July 1: All quiet in camp except headquarters was all drunk, was on guard of cistern and how! Some men under arrest for frivolous charges only for a short time.

July 2: Marched down the west side of Tensas. One man's horse got away and swam Tensas. Some men had to carry flats down Tensas. Camped on the bank at or below Tanner's place. (The Tanner place is presently part of the J. I. Roberts' Ranch two miles south of Tendel.)

July 3: Stayed all day about same camp. Rations low.

Sunday, July 4: Called up early and ordered to saddle up about sun-up. Got ready and began to cross Tensas and got across about ten or eleven o'clock. Took up our line of march and got on six or seven miles. It rained very hard on us. After the rain was over we halted for some time in the road and turned back a little way to some quarters to stay. In about an hour were ordered to mount and marched a mile or two and was ordered by the captain to dismount and fight on foot. We left our horses for the time and marched on foot three or four hundred yards and placed in ambush at Crop Bayou behind big cypress trees. It wasn't long before we heard firing which was the first shot. I believed we were going to have a fight. All our scouts soon made their appearance. Came in full drive for the bridge hotly pursued there. One came in sight, but was too far from me to shoot at with my shot-gun. So I didn't shoot and don't care if I ever do have to. They turned back quick when we fired on them. We didn't follow them and soon went back to our horses, mounted and marched back to Tensas. Were nearly all night crossing it.

July 5: This morning we were called up early to go five or six miles then came to get breakfast. After eating and resting awhile we started to Kirks Ferry and got there in the evening.

July 6: Stayed in camp all day. I had to stand guard while a man had to mark time an hour and carry a rail an hour for firing off his gun in camp, it was hot!

July 7: Heard that S. D. Isgett was dead. Wrote a long letter home today. My arm got worse today.

July 8: Stayed all day in camp and went to see the doctor and tried to get to go home.

July 9: Stayed all day in camp.

July 10: All day in camp, had dress parade and shooting off guns and talk of moving. Wrote home.

July 11: Started from camp about sun-down.

July 12: Got to Deer Creek. Rained and we got wet.

July 13: Got to Montgomery place on B. Creek. Went over to Mock's and got some meat and molasses.

July 14: Got to Oak Ridge.

July 15: All day in camp and had dress parade. Caleb (Dunham) came up at dark and brought us some things.

July 16: Caleb stayed all day with us. Wrote a short letter to Martha. (Martha Ann Armstrong Dunham, his wife.)

July 17: Caleb started home. Stayed all day in camp, lost my knife and fixed my saddle.

July 18: All day in camp, my arm healing smartly.

July 19: All day in camp, was escused from detail on account of my arm.

July 20: All day in camp. I watered and grazed the horses every day for some time.

July 21: Orders were to march at three o'clock with one day rations cooked to carry with us. The battery started in the morning and camped on Boeuf River.

July 22: Marched 10 or 12 miles above Floyd.

July 23: Our company ordered to advance to the A'shton bridge to picket. When we got there six others were sent on to Stalem 1½ miles up the river. Three steamers passed that day and three that night. Next morning I went up the river bank alone to look at it very early. It was all quite and I did feel some sensation of regret too, that it should be disturbed by the clash of this unholy and damnable war. About half an hour by sun the command came along. I saw General Harrison at the head of the column, this was my first sight of him. He told the picket that they might go back to camp if they wanted to. The artillery soon came along and went up to the levee. This was on the 24th day of July. The "Clara Belle" soon came along and was fired into. I believe there were two or three steamers along that day and were fired into. Went to camp late in the night. Camp was at Bayou Macon bridge.

July 25: Stayed all day in camp.

July 26: Was ordered out on the river bank again. I saw several gunboats pass today, one fired once and went on. Returned to camp.

July 27: Our company left in camp. There was some firing today.

July 28: I was sent on picket late at night and the command went toward Floyd. Stayed on picket until evening of the 29th and then started for the company. I made all night and came up to the command next morning back of Floyd.

July 30: The command was ordered to move while I was pulling guard and was left without knowing it. Mid - day I went down to prove it. Moved back into the woods at night when the command came in. It rained some. Next day went to graze our horses and intended to go to Oak Ridge late in the evening. Camp not far from ——— river. I got hurt with my gun in the left side.

August 1: Marched early and got to Oak Ridge about 2 or 3 o'clock.

August 2: Asked for leave to go home, Captain gone for the day and Major Runvir wouldn't sign it.

August 3: Started to Beouf River.

August 4 & 5: Stayed there was put to guard some men; Alex Strong, Jim Smith and others. My arm very bad and my side, too. Feeling very bad all over.

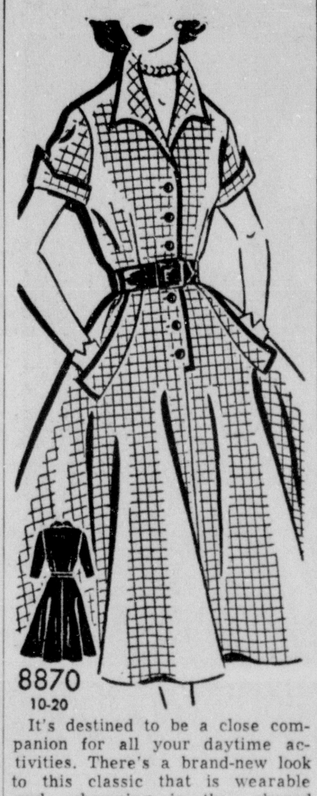

August 6: Was very sick all night.

August 7: Sick. Wrote a letter to Balph. Rained very hard in the evening. My side got worse.

August 8: Sick and arm very bad. (The sore arm was caused by a smallpox vaccination that became cancerous.)

This was last entry in diary. It is not known whether he cortinued diary in another book or just stopped keeping one. Mr. Dunham lived for several years after the war was over.

REDS 'PASS THE BUCK'

HONG KONG (AP)— The Peiping Peoples Daily reports a shortage of beef and mutton has caused unrest among Moslems in Red China's capital.

The official Communist party organ said an investigation placed the blame on the Chinese Nationalists plus a desire by farmers to keep livestock for breeding.

"Before the liberation and under the cruel exploitation of the Nationalists the farmers were forced to sell cattle in large numbers to eke out a living," so the newspaper said.

High Discard Is Usually Better

By Oswald Jacoby

Written for NEA Service

"What makes a discard encouraging?" asks an Oakland reader. "You often use this expression in your articles, and I have been wondering whether you mean that any high discard is encouraging, and that any low discard is discouraging.

No, the answer is not quite so simple. In general, a high discard is more encouraging than a low discard, but sometimes a player has to throw away a worthless card that happens to be fairly high. An astute partner will size the situation up correctly.

In the hand shown today, for example, East eventually made two high discards in hearts—but neither discard was encouraging. In fact, they distinctly warned West not to lead a heart.

West opened the five of spades and South held off until the third round. South then led a low diamond and hopefully finessed dummy's ten. East won with the jack of diamonds and returned a low club hoping that his partner had a high card in the suit.

As it happened, South won with the queen of clubs and promptly led the queen of diamonds to force out West's ace. West happily took his two remaining spades, and East discarded first the nine of hearts and then the jack of hearts.

These hearts were high cards. Had East intended them to be encouraging, he would have discarded them in the opposite order: first the jack and then the nine. The fact that he discarded them upward made it perfectly clear that he did not want the heart lead.

West easily read the signal and therefore returned a club when he had finished with his spades. This permitted East to take four club tricks, thus setting the contract four tricks. If West had foolishly led a heart after finishing with his spade, South would have made his contract.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Diamond	Pass	1 Heart	Pass
1 Spade	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades Q-8-6-3, Hearts A-Q-7-4-2, Diamonds K-6-2, Club 6. What do you do?

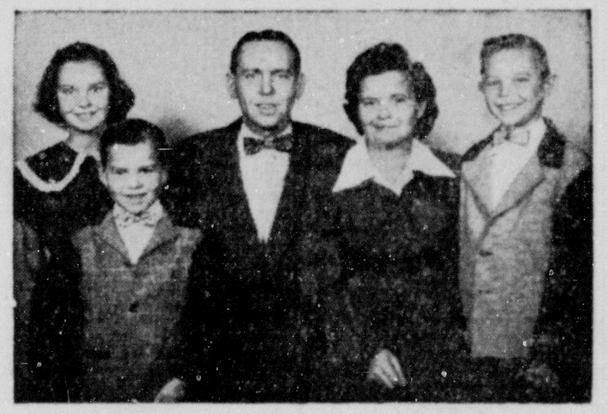

A—Bid three spades. This is forcing to game, showing four-card support for spades together with a hand that was roughly worth a minimum opening bid (in this case a trifle less).

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-J-6-3, Hearts A-Q-J-4-2, Diamonds K-6, Clubs 6-3. What do you do?

It's Your Deal

Study Foe, Win At Gin Rummy

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

Towards the end of a hand of gin rummy your best play may depend on the habits of your particular opponent. You may play one way against one person and quite a different way against somebody else.

For example, suppose you get more than halfway through the stock pile and draw the first king that you have seen in that hand. Suppose, moreover, that all the queens have been thrown, so that no king-queen-jack meld is possible. How dangerous a card is that king?

Against some opponents the king is dangerous, against others comparatively safe. The reason is that many of your opponents will not be holding a pair of kings at this late stage.

You're not eager to give your enemy a fourth king if he already has three of them, but that is not as bad as giving him a new meld of kings if he holds only a pair. Some of the people, you play against will hold a pair of picture cards for a few plays but will then unload. Only a few hardy types of opponent will hold so high a pair for a long, long ride.

Naturally you hold on to that king if you have a safe discard. If you don't have a safe discard, you must make up your mind whether or not to throw the king. Throw it against the average, conservative opponent; save it against the bird who never breaks a pair.

Let's carry this problem a little farther. Suppose you decide to hold the king, and then you draw another king at your next turn. Now you have a pair of kings, and you know that your opponent may have the other pair, but he cannot have a meld of kings.

What should you do? Throw a king against the average opponent; for that player probably will not have the other pair of kings at this late date. Save the kings against the reckless opponent; there's a very good chance that the hand will end as a draw, with both players holding a pair of kings.

Q—We played several hours with a pack of 51 cards. When we were ready to stop, we discovered that a card had been left in another room. What should we do?

A—You should be more careful the next time, but just forget about it this time. The score counts, exactly as though you had been playing with a normal deck. It is a general rule of card games that scores already made are not voided when an error of this kind is found.

SAM, IN KOREA, ASKING LETTERS

Cpl. Sam Cheatham, Jr., is flat on his back in an army hospital in Korea. His legs are all shot up, yet there's a smile on his face.

Sam's parents are Samuel and Florence Cheatham of Monroe. Sam, Sr., is employed as a waiter in the Lotus Club in the Ouachita National Bank building and Sam, Jr., also worked there at one time before he went off to fight the Communists in Korea. Sam, Jr. would like to be back here now and expects to return some day.

Sam, who's just old enough to vote, is wearing a smile because he considers himself a lucky guy, remembering the buddies he left behind on "Old Baldy," in war - torn Korea.

Some of Sam's pals back home heard the young soldier had got - ten it on Old Baldy.

"I'm still kicking and griping," Sam said in a letter last week, written by his nurse. Sam would have written the letter himself but the Commies succeeded in busting up his back a bit too.

"It seems as if everyone has forgotten I even exist," Sam's letter said. "So I am asking if you will say to my friends, if I have any left, I miss you all very much and would like to hear from you."

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO

By J. Paul Hewitt

Seems as if most of the 19th century musicians were also pretty tops when it came to expressing themselves in writing. Maybe it's true that a facility in one art usually carries over into the others . . . but these men seem to have more than their share of creativeness. Hector Berlioz stands out among them for his very fluent style . . . and, by his letters, we can almost see him scurrying around his study, running his hands through long hair, stamping his foot, standing still suddenly as the music came to him . . . and quickly grabbing the music pad to capture the inspiration . . . to write it down, his left arm beating the rhythm as he writes . . . Later:

"You can imagine, my dear Mr. Van Bulow, the waxing and wanning of the conflicting emotions that have stirred my heart since I began this work. Once it is the passion, the tenderness worthy of a 20 year old artist. Another time it is disgust, coldness, a revulsion toward my work which frightens me. I believe and I no longer believe."

On the writing flows, showing the artist's true, brilliant and egocentric nature . . . giving us a brief insight into an artist's workshop . . . Berlioz, as he composed the now famous work, LES TROYENS.

You don't have to be a famous musician or composer to enjoy music. Along the same line, you don't have to go out to concerts, the best in music in the world is available to everybody on records. Come in and take a look at our stock. HEWITT, INC., 216 Grammont. Phone: 2-1491.

Bible Words to Live by

I have no single favorite Bible verse. There are, of course, a great many which make a special appeal to me, but of these I cannot single out one and say that I place it above all the others.

A verse to which I find myself constantly turning is:

MARK 12:30—"And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment."

There is a place in religion for the exercise of the intelligence. God wants our heads as well as our hearts. To think, and to think hard, is a religious duty. Devoting one's mind to the service of God is every bit as necessary as private prayer or public worship. When God claims a man, He claims the whole man, his brains included. How one wishes that more people would give their brains to the service of religion and do it with something like the diligence and devotion that fill their days from Monday to Friday.

Louisianian's Ancient Diary Tells Civil War Experiences

Now Owned By Case B. Dunham, 90-Year-Old Delhi Resident

WINNSBORO, Aug. 23. —(Special)— An interesting sidelight on the Civil War, as it was fought in Louisiana, is recorded in a small leather - back diary three and inthree-fourth inches wide and five and one-fourth inches long owned by Case B. Dunham, 90-year-old resident of Delhi, Route 2, Richland parish. The diary was written by his father, Levi Nathan Dunham who served with a Home Guard unit in Louisiana. The time covered by the diary is from June 7, 1864, to August 8, 1864, and the locality he describes is along the Mississippi, Beouf, Tensas and Bayou Macon Rivers, in what is now Madison, Richland, and East and West Carroll parishes.

It will be remembered that at this time Vicksburg had been captured and the federals were in complete control of the Mississippi River. General Henry Watkins Allen was governor of Louisiana with headquarters in Shreveport and no major military operations took place in Louisiana after the Red River campaign early in 1864 in which the federal troops failed to reach Shreveport.

The diary is written in beautiful hand writing with ink, but is badly faded with age. W. L. Girod, correspondent for a local Richland parish paper, with painstaking throughness has copied the diary which reads as follows:

Monday, June 7, 1864: Joined General Harrison's command.

June 16: Started to camp and borrowed $100 from Mrs. Stubblefield. Got as far as Cal Moore's and camped. It rained some.

June 17: Reached the company at 10 o'clock a. m. and wrote this.

June 18 & 19: Was put on picket with Caldwell, sergeant of the post.

June 20: Called out with the company, went to Johnson place and joined the command. Ate supper with Carpenter and met Andrew (Dunham) and King. Received a carton of shot and caps, but didn't get enough corn for my mare.

June 21: Stayed all day in camp. Received three days rations with orders to cook it all. Expectations were that we would start to the river the next morning, but it rained so much we did not start.

June 22: Stayed at camp and it rained a good deal.

June 23: The horn blowed before day and all got up, fed the horses and ate breakfast. Was ordered to saddle up about sun-up, we all did except about thirteen of our company. We got started about 7 o'clock and it was very muddy. We had to cross the bayou (Macon) on a bad pontoon bridge. I was surprised that we went right up the bayou. Got near Osborn Ferry and stopped to cool and ate about 12 o'clock. wrote this. Andrew got a letter from Isgett yesterday from Panola, Tex. Camped on west bank of Tensas. Bread very low.

June 24: We went down Tensas two or three miles and swam the horses and took the saddles over in flats. The banks were muddy. Marched on toward the river all day. About 12 o'clock we were at an evacuated place, got corn and fed. Stopped at another evacuated place that night with orders to have everything ready to saddle at a short notice. Was ordered to saddle about midnight. We then marched till daylight, was hotter and we had to pack. . . .

June 25: I was in a camp up near a plantation where we captured several hunted Negroes and a good deal of plunder of one kind or another, some whiskey, bacon, flour and coffee, and burned up the place. Most of the Negroes that were on the place had decamped. I got some articles of dress and went to the same camp that night. It rained after dark and got very wet. Articles sent home by Balph —1 snuff colored coat, 1 blue coat, 1 muslin dress, 1 calico dress, 1 black cape, small pr. stockings, 1 stripe dress body of white shenendy, 1 head cap.

June 26: Got back to Tensas, crossed over and camped.

June 27: Got back to camp.

June 28: Went on today.

June 29: Went down to Kirks Ferry.

June 30: All quiet in camp up to this time. Building a pontoon bridge across Tensas, so report says. I haven't seen it. We wrote a letter to send home by B. (Balph) but he didn't get off.

July 1: All quiet in camp except headquarters was all drunk, was on guard of cistern and how! Some men under arrest for frivolous charges only for a short time.

July 2: Marched down the west side of Tensas. One man's horse got away and swam Tensas. Some men had to carry flats down Tensas. Camped on the bank at or below Tanner's place. (The Tanner place is presently part of the J. I. Roberts' Ranch two miles south of Tendel.)

July 3: Stayed all day about same camp. Rations low.

Sunday, July 4: Called up early and ordered to saddle up about sun-up. Got ready and began to cross Tensas and got across about ten or eleven o'clock. Took up our line of march and got on six or seven miles. It rained very hard on us. After the rain was over we halted for some time in the road and turned back a little way to some quarters to stay. In about an hour were ordered to mount and marched a mile or two and was ordered by the captain to dismount and fight on foot. We left our horses for the time and marched on foot three or four hundred yards and placed in ambush at Crop Bayou behind big cypress trees. It wasn't long before we heard firing which was the first shot. I believed we were going to have a fight. All our scouts soon made their appearance. Came in full drive for the bridge hotly pursued there. One came in sight, but was too far from me to shoot at with my shot-gun. So I didn't shoot and don't care if I ever do have to. They turned back quick when we fired on them. We didn't follow them and soon went back to our horses, mounted and marched back to Tensas. Were nearly all night crossing it.

July 5: This morning we were called up early to go five or six miles then came to get breakfast. After eating and resting awhile we started to Kirks Ferry and got there in the evening.

July 6: Stayed in camp all day. I had to stand guard while a man had to mark time an hour and carry a rail an hour for firing off his gun in camp, it was hot!

July 7: Heard that S. D. Isgett was dead. Wrote a long letter home today. My arm got worse today.

July 8: Stayed all day in camp and went to see the doctor and tried to get to go home.

July 9: Stayed all day in camp.

July 10: All day in camp, had dress parade and shooting off guns and talk of moving. Wrote home.

July 11: Started from camp about sun-down.

July 12: Got to Deer Creek. Rained and we got wet.

July 13: Got to Montgomery place on B. Creek. Went over to Mock's and got some meat and molasses.

July 14: Got to Oak Ridge.

July 15: All day in camp and had dress parade. Caleb (Dunham) came up at dark and brought us some things.

July 16: Caleb stayed all day with us. Wrote a short letter to Martha. (Martha Ann Armstrong Dunham, his wife.)

July 17: Caleb started home. Stayed all day in camp, lost my knife and fixed my saddle.

July 18: All day in camp, my arm healing smartly.

July 19: All day in camp, was escused from detail on account of my arm.

July 20: All day in camp. I watered and grazed the horses every day for some time.

July 21: Orders were to march at three o'clock with one day rations cooked to carry with us. The battery started in the morning and camped on Boeuf River.

July 22: Marched 10 or 12 miles above Floyd.

July 23: Our company ordered to advance to the A'shton bridge to picket. When we got there six others were sent on to Stalem 1½ miles up the river. Three steamers passed that day and three that night. Next morning I went up the river bank alone to look at it very early. It was all quite and I did feel some sensation of regret too, that it should be disturbed by the clash of this unholy and damnable war. About half an hour by sun the command came along. I saw General Harrison at the head of the column, this was my first sight of him. He told the picket that they might go back to camp if they wanted to. The artillery soon came along and went up to the levee. This was on the 24th day of July. The "Clara Belle" soon came along and was fired into. I believe there were two or three steamers along that day and were fired into. Went to camp late in the night. Camp was at Bayou Macon bridge.

July 25: Stayed all day in camp.

July 26: Was ordered out on the river bank again. I saw several gunboats pass today, one fired once and went on. Returned to camp.

July 27: Our company left in camp. There was some firing today.

July 28: I was sent on picket late at night and the command went toward Floyd. Stayed on picket until evening of the 29th and then started for the company. I made all night and came up to the command next morning back of Floyd.

July 30: The command was ordered to move while I was pulling guard and was left without knowing it. Mid - day I went down to prove it. Moved back into the woods at night when the command came in. It rained some. Next day went to graze our horses and intended to go to Oak Ridge late in the evening. Camp not far from —— river. I got hurt with my gun in the left side.

August 1: Marched early and got to Oak Ridge about 2 or 3 o'clock.

August 2: Asked for leave to go home, Captain gone for the day and Major Runvir wouldn't sign it.

August 3: Started to Beouf River.

August 4 & 5: Stayed there was put to guard some men; Alex Strong, Jim Smith and others. My arm very bad and my side, too. Feeling very bad all over.

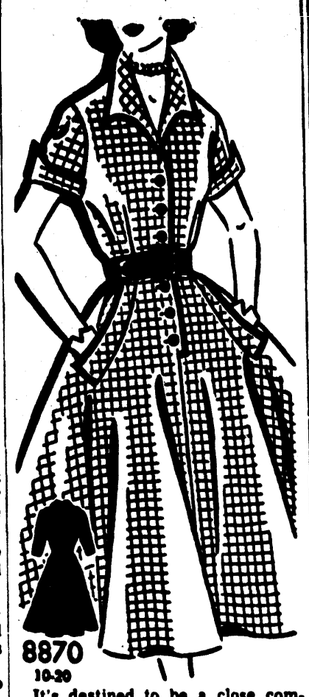

August 6: Was very sick all night.

August 7: Sick. Wrote a letter to Balph. Rained very hard in the evening. My side got worse.

August 8: Sick and arm very bad. (The sore arm was caused by a smallpox vaccination that became cancerous.)

This was last entry in diary. It is not known whether he continued diary in another book or just stopped keeping one. Mr. Dunham lived for several years after the war was over.

REDS 'PASS THE BUCK'

HONG KONG (AP)— The Peiping Peoples Daily reports a shortage of beef and mutton has caused unrest among Moslems in Red China's capital.

The official Communist party organ said an investigation placed the blame on the Chinese Nationalists plus a desire by farmers to keep livestock for breeding.

"Before the liberation and under the cruel exploitation of the Nationalists the farmers were forced to sell cattle in large numbers to eke out a living," so the newspaper said.

It's Your Deal

Study Foe, Win At Gin Rummy

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

Towards the end of a hand of gin rummy your best play may depend on the habits of your particular opponent. You may play one way against one person and quite a different way against somebody else.

For example, suppose you get more than halfway through the stock pile and draw the first king that you have seen in that hand. Suppose, moreover, that all the queens have been thrown, so that no king-queen-jack meld is possible. How dangerous a card is that king?

Against some opponents the king is dangerous, against others comparatively safe. The reason is that many of your opponents will not be holding a pair of kings at this late stage.

You're not eager to give your enemy a fourth king if he already has three of them, but that is not as bad as giving him a new meld of kings if he holds only a pair. Some of the people, you play against will hold a pair of picture cards for a few plays but will then unload. Only a few hardy types of opponent will hold so high a pair for a long, long ride.

Naturally you hold on to that king if you have a safe discard. If you don't have a safe discard, you must make up your mind whether or not to throw the king. Throw it against the average, conservative opponent; save it against the bird who never breaks a pair.

Let's carry this problem a little farther. Suppose you decide to hold the king, and then you draw another king at your next turn. Now you have a pair of kings, and you know that your opponent may have the other pair, but he cannot have a meld of kings.

What should you do? Throw a king against the average opponent; for that player probably will not have the other pair of kings at this late date. Save the kings against the reckless opponent; there's a very good chance that the hand will end as a draw, with both players holding a pair of kings.

Q—We played several hours with a pack of 51 cards. When we were ready to stop, we discovered that a card had been left in another room. What should we do?

A—You should be more careful the next time, but just forget about it this time. The score counts, exactly as though you had been playing with a normal deck. It is a general rule of card games that scores already made are not voided when an error of this kind is found.

SAM, IN KOREA, ASKING LETTERS

Cpl. Sam Cheatham, Jr., is flat on his back in an army hospital in Korea. His legs are all shot up, yet there's a smile on his face.

Sam's parents are Samuel and Florence Cheatham of Monroe. Sam, Sr., is employed as a waiter in the Lotus Club in the Ouachita National Bank building and Sam, Jr., also worked there at one time before he went off to fight the Communists in Korea. Sam, Jr. would like to be back here now and expects to return some day.

Sam, who's just old enough to vote, is wearing a smile because he considers himself a lucky guy, remembering the buddies he left behind on "Old Baldy," in war - torn Korea.

Some of Sam's pals back home heard the young soldier had gotten it on Old Baldy.

"I'm still kicking and griping," Sam said in a letter last week, written by his nurse. Sam would have written the letter himself but the Commies succeeded in busting up his back a bit too.

"It seems as if everyone has forgotten I even exist," Sam's letter said. "So I am asking if you will say to my friends, if I have any left, I miss you all very much and would like to hear from you."

The present address of Cheatham, a Monroe colored boy, is:

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO

By J. Paul Hewitt

Seems as if most of the 19th century musicians were also pretty tops when it came to expressing themselves in writing. Maybe it's true that a facility in one art usually carries over into the others . . . but these men seem to have more than their share of creativeness. Hector Berlioz stands out among them for his very fluent style . . . and, by his letters, we can almost see him scurrying around his study, running his hands through long hair, stamping his foot, standing still suddenly as the music came to him . . . and quickly grabbing the music pad to capture the inspiration . . . to write it down, his left arm beating the rhythm as he writes . . . Later:

"You can imagine, my dear Mr. Van Bulow, the waxing and waning of the conflicting emotions that have stirred my heart since I began this work. Once it is the passion, the tenderness worthy of a 20 year old artist. Another time it is disgust, cokiness, a revulsion toward my work which frightens me. I believe and I no longer believe."

On the writing flows, showing the artist's true, brilliant and eccentric nature . . . giving us a brief insight into an artist's workshop . . . Berlioz, as he composed the now famous [illegible], LES TROYENS.

You don't have to be a famous [illegible] or composer to enjoy [illegible]. Along the same line, you don't have to go out to [illegible], the best in music is usually available to everyone, at all seasons. Come in and [illegible] at our stock. [illegible], and Drummond.

Bible Words to Live by

I have no single favorite Bible verse. There are, of course, a great many which make a special appeal to me, but of these I cannot single out one and say that I place it above all the others.

A verse to which I find myself constantly turning is:

MARK 12:30—"And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment."

There is a place in religion for the exercise of the intelligence. God wants our heads as well as our hearts. To think, and to think hard, is a religious duty. Devoting one's mind to the service of God is every bit as necessary as private prayer or public worship. When God claims a man, He claims the whole man, his brains included. How one wishes that more people would give their brains to the service of religion and do it with something like the diligence and devotion that fill their days from Monday to Friday."

High Discard Is Usually Better

By Oswald Jacoby

Written for NEA Service

"What makes a discard encouraging?" asks an Oakland reader. "You often use this expression in your articles, and I have been wondering whether you mean that any high discard is encouraging, and that any low discard is discouraging.

No, the answer is not quite so simple. In general, a high discard is more encouraging than a low discard, but sometimes a player has to throw away a worthless card that happens to be fairly high. An astute partner will size the situation up correctly.

In the hand shown today, for example, East eventually made two high discards in hearts—but neither discard was encouraging. In fact, they distinctly warned West not to lead a heart.

West opened the five of spades and South held off until the third round. South then led a low diamond and hopefully finessed dummy's ten. East won with the jack of diamonds and returned a low club hoping that his partner had a high card in the suit.

As it happened, South won with the queen of clubs and promptly led the queen of diamonds to force out West's ace. West happily took his two remaining spades, and East discarded first the nine of hearts and then the jack of hearts.

These hearts were high cards. Had East intended them to be encouraging, he would have discarded them in the opposite order: first the jack and then the nine. The fact that he discarded them upward made it perfectly clear that he did not want the heart lead.

West easily read the signal and therefore returned a club when he had finished with his spades. This permitted East to take four club tricks, thus setting the contract four tricks. If West had foolishly led a heart after finishing with his spade, South would have made his contract.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Diamond	Pass	1 Heart	Pass
1 Spade	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades Q-8-6-3, Hearts A-Q-7-4-2, Diamonds K-6-2, Club 6. What do you do?

A—Bid three spades. This is forcing to game, showing four-card support for spades together with a hand that was roughly worth a minimum opening bid (in this case a trifle less).

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-J-6-3, Hearts A-Q-J-4-2, Diamonds K-6, Clubs 6-3. What do you do?

Answer Monday

EVANGELISTIC PARTY

Church Of God To Initiate Revival

The Church of God, 809 Montgomery st., West Monroe, will hold a revival series with the Peart evangelistic party. Rev. George A. Peart and family reside in Texas where he is a Pentecostal preacher.

We hope you have already made arrangements to attend one or both of the planning sessions to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday the 26th and Wednesday the 27th. At these meetings plans will be formulated for the Christian Education of our children and our people during the coming year.

Tuesday night will be devoted to consideration of the kindergarten students (up to 7 years of age). On Wednesday night, several suggestions for a co-ordinated curriculm for other ages will be presented for discussion and approval. If you are interested in the advancement of Christian principles through education, these meetings are for you. We urge you to come.

are YOU SAVED or LOST?

He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.

1 John 5:12

Who is the unsaved man?

God's Word uses several terms or ideas describing the unsaved man, such as "the transgressor of the law," "the unrighteous man," "unbelievers," "sinners," "rejectors of Jesus," "dead in trespasses and sins," and "lost." It plainly teaches that "all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3...23), that they are conceived in sin and born in iniquity, that none are righteous, that man goes astray from the womb, that the heart of man is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked, that men of themselves "are like unto whited sepulchres . . . full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness" (Matt. 23:27).

These Scriptures and many others indicate that the unsaved man's condition before God is unspeakably bad, and that he must have outside and powerful help if he is to be saved. They teach that neither morality, nor charity, nor sincerity of purpose, nor any form of self-righteousness will save a man. The plain teaching of the Bible is that every man is lost, undone in sin and without hope, helplessly involved in eternal ruin, and deserves and receives God's wrath unless he trusts himself by an act of heart faith in repenting submission to Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour.

The unsaved man, then, is he who has not personally accepted by faith Christ as Lord and Saviour.

What is the unsaved souls destiny?

Jesus Christ alone can save you. He can, He will if you let Him. He is an able Saviour. He is a ready Saviour. He is a willing Saviour. He can save you now. He died, He arose from the dead, He lives, He reigns to save you now. His love is boundless and free. His grace is full of mercy and flows in great floods out toward your soul. He calls to you through His work, His providence, His people, His divine Spirit to surrender your heart's faith and love to Him.

What must you do to be saved?

Jesus Christ alone can save you. He can, He will if you will let Him He Is an able Saviour. He can save you now. He died, He arose from the dead, He lives, He reigns to save you now. His love is boundless and free. His grace is full of mercy and flows in great floods out toward your soul. He calls to you through His work, His providence, His people, His divine Spirit to surrender your heart's faith and love to Him.

My friend, Christ will save you if you trust Him. He will save you now if you surrender absolutely to Him. "But if from thence thou shalt seek the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul" (Deut. 4:29). He will not consider a conditional surrender; it is an absolute and unconditional surrender that He demands. Any one who comes to Him in repentance and faith can be saved. Surrender to Him now. Surrender all. Give up your sins, your doubts, your difficulties, your all. Accept Jesus Christ, believe in Him, do it now, and heaven will come into your soul and will finally be your home.

CAR INSURANCE DATA PROVIDED

Auto Owner Must Be Able To Show Responsibility Up To $11,000

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 23.—(Special)—The department of public safety moved swiftly this week toward prompt enforcement of the state's new motor vehicle safety responsibility law, beginning October 1, with announcement of the following initial steps:

1. An official leaflet, explaining in five minutes reading time all the essential facts about the law that the average motorist will need to know, has been distributed to state police troop headquarters, drivers' license division offices, sheriff's office, local police offices and many gasoline service stations in the state and can be obtained for the asking.

2. Director of the Department of Public Safety, Chester B. Owen, will discuss the law in a statewide radio talk at 9:30 Tuesday evening, August 26.

3. Between now and October 1, the Department of Public Safety will take the unusual step of explaining vital features of the law in frequent announcements through the state's newspapers and radio stations.

Director Owen's address Tuesday evening will originate in Baton Rouge over Station WJBO and will also be broadcast over the following stations:

WIKE, Bogalusa; KVOL, Lafayette; KLOU, Lake Charles; KSYL, Alexandria; KSLO, Opelousas; WJBO, Baton Rouge; KSIG, Crowley; KRUS, Ruston; KANE, New Iberia; WWL, New Orleans; KTBS, Shreveport, Saturday, August 30, 10:15 p.m.; KNOE, Monroe, Wednesday, August 27, 10:15 p.m.

Copies of the leaflet may be obtained from state police troop headquarters, drivers' license divisions, sheriff's office, local police office and many gasoline service stations in the state.

"I suppose some people are wondering why we are taking the unusual step of explaining this law to the public before it becomes effective," Director Owen said. "There is a brief and simple answer. This is no ordinary law. It affects every person who owns or operates a motor vehicle. It will whisk owner and operator off the road within 60 days, regardless of fault, if they are involved in an accident resulting in death or injury or property damage exceeding $100 and are unable to furnish unqualified proof of their ability to meet damage claims up to $11,000, either through insurance or deposit of collateral with the department of public safety.

"The real purpose of this law is to afford all of the people the greatest possible protection against economic losses resulting from motor vehicle accidents. Let everyone be sure that we shall administer it to achieve that long - needed result. When properly advised in advance, I am sure most motorists will make themselves financially responsible. If they do, everybody will gain. The public will be afforded the fullest measure of protection. Motorists will be put to less inconvenience, and administrative expenses will be held to a minimum.

"I hope, therefore, that every motorist will make it a point to understand our motor vehicle safety responsibility law between now and October 1. Certainly we shall make it easy for them to do so. No sympathy will be wasted on those who do not, because as a rule they are the ones who get involved in accidents and fail to pay for the damage they have done. The quicker we get them off the road, the sooner the streets and highways will be safer for all of us, including the careful motorists who are in the majority."

ABRAMS DENIES ANY OIL CARTEL

Says Company Never Had Chance To See Government's Report

F. W. Abrams, chairman of the board of directors of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), issued the following statment in connection with the announcement by Senator Sparkman, chairman of the senate small business committee, that the federal trade commission oil report is to be released:

"Now that the decision has been made to release this report, at least we shall now have substance to deal with instead of the rumor and innuendo which apparently have deliberately been associated with the preparation and suppression of this so - called 'secret' report.

"This company has never had the opportunity to see the report or to comment in any way on its contents, either during its preparation or during its apparent widespread circulation in Washington circles. There is nothing in the advance stories by those who reputedly have seen it to suggest that the charges attributed to the report are any other than arbitrary interpretations aimed a distorting actions and circumstances which have in fact an entirely different and proper significance.

"I want to repeat categorically that Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) is not a party to any international oil cartel and in fact doubts that such a cartel exists, nor is it a party to any illegal arrangements of any kind anywhere in the world. Richland Girl Scout Activities Spread

Growing out of recent Girl Scout activities in Delhi, scouting interests have spread to smaller farm communities in Richland parish. Taking advantage of organizations offered to lone troops, Mrs. Oliver Copes invited mothers of intermediate Scout age to meet in her home in Warden community Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Many plans were in the making after Mrs. O. B. Copeland gave the gathered mothers a brief picture of what participation in the Girl Scout organization could offer their daughters, their community, and their country. Discussion included registration, uniforms, and the Girl Scout laws and promise. Because each mother present would serve in some capacity, emphasis was placed on duties of committee members.

Each mother present pledged her services and suggested others who could possibly further the movement. Transportation, always a problem in small communities made of scattered farm residences was solved by an agreement to a rotation system.

The meeting adjourned after preparations had been made to have the first meeting of the future Scouts the following afternoon.

Mrs. Copes served cake and iced tea to Mrs. S. N. Joyner, Mrs. R. A. Hunter, Mrs. G. R. Nolan, and Mrs. Copeland.

Lolling comfortably on the porch of his New Jersey home, he was listening to the midnight news report one Saturday night. His attention was idly caught by a light which came into view on the skies.

"That's funny," he thought. "No light blinking on that plane. And no sound of the motor . . . and what a peculiar glow!"

Suddenly he became alert, observant. He followed its straight path across the heavens until it was lost from view. He noted it seemed to have depth and was lighted as though from within. He judged it was visible for about a minute, maybe a minute and a half.

When he recounted his experience at the office on Monday morning, Saul took a lot of kidding. There were varied allusions as to the state of his hearing, vision and general sobriety.

"Why didn't you take a picture of it?" I asked him.

"Aside from the fact that I didn't have a camera loaded and ready to shoot," he replied. "I wouldn't know how to go about it."

That night in a report from Washington, the Air Force disclosed that National Airport radar operators had picked up unidentified aerial "objects" on their radar screens around midnight of the past Saturday. At the same time they were sighted visually by two airline pilots aloft.

There's no harm in giving some thought to saucer photography.

Obviously, a camera must be handy and ready for instantaneous shooting at all times. Getting it, setting the lens wide open, the lens at infinity and preparing to shoot should be a matter of seconds only.

After discussion with several news photographers, it was agreed that shooting this luminous object at night was similar to taking pictures of an eclipse. This meant a steady support for the camera, if it were not already on a tripod.

When the camera is aimed at the sky. It would be preferable to keep a landmark visible if possible—such as a tree top, a roof, a spire. Such a relationship is valuable, later on, in computing distance, altitude and possibly speed.

The shutter could be set on time, bulb, or a one-second exposure depending on which you could operate smoothly, continuously for a series of exposures on the same negative. To avoid jarring the camera, the camera could be set on Time. The lens opened. Then use the lens cap, film slide or a piece of cardboard to cover the lens at intervals. Actually, you would be plotting the course of a luminous object across the film.

Depending on the brilliance of the object, it might barely be possible to take a single snap of the object at a tenth or a fifth of a second. It would be something to try, if time permitted, but much longer time exposures would be more likely to record something on the film.

If you wish to practice for the night when you might sight a glowing "light," nature and man have provided convenient stand-ins in the shape of the moon and passing airplanes. With the moon you can have plenty of time for unhurried preparation and calculations. Passing airplanes provide the elements of suspense and luck and will prove whether you can shoot a moving target with hair-trigger accuracy.

Of course if "flying saucers," had any consideration at all for the peace of mind of amateur photographers, they would make their appearance in broad daylight in a cloudless sky just as Mr. Shutterbug is shooting Junior's picture with a sky background. It would be a real snap then.

Auto Owner Must Be Able To Show Responsibility Up To $11,000

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 23.—(Special)—The department of public safety moved swiftly this week toward prompt enforcement of the state's new motor vehicle safety responsibility law, beginning October 1, with announcement of the following initial steps:

1. An official leaflet, explaining in five minutes reading time all the essential facts about the law that the average motorist will need to know, has been distributed to state police troop headquarters, drivers' license division offices, sheriff's office, local police offices and many gasoline service stations in the state and can be obtained for the asking.

2. Director of the Department of Public Safety, Chester B. Owen, will discuss the law in a statewide radio talk at 9:30 Tuesday evening, August 26.

3. Between now and October 1, the Department of Public Safety will take the unusual step of explaining vital features of the law in frequent announcements through the state's newspapers and radio stations.

Director Owen's address Tuesday evening will originate in Baton Rouge over Station WJBO and will also be broadcast over the following stations:

WIKE, Bogalusa; KVOL, Lafayette; KLOU, Lake Charles; KSYL, Alexandria; KSLO, Opelousas; WJBO, Baton Rouge; KSIG, Crowley; KRUS, Ruston; KANE, New Iberia; WWL, New Orleans; KTBS, Shreveport, Saturday, August 30, 10:15 p.m.; KNOE, Monroe, Wednesday, August 27, 10:15 p.m.

Copies of the leaflet may be obtained from state police troop headquarters, drivers' license divisions, sheriff's office, local police office and many gasoline service stations in the state.

"I suppose some people are wondering why we are taking the unusual step of explaining this law to the public before it becomes effective," Director Owen said. "There is a brief and simple answer. This is no ordinary law. It affects every person who owns or operates a motor vehicle. It will whisk owner and operator off the road within 60 days, regardless of fault, if they are involved in an accident resulting in death or injury or property damage exceeding $100 and are unable to furnish unqualified proof of their ability to meet damage claims up to $11,000, either through insurance or deposit of collateral with the department of public safety.

"The real purpose of this law is to afford all of the people the greatest possible protection against economic losses resulting from motor vehicle accidents. Let everyone be sure that we shall administer it to achieve that long-needed result. When properly advised in advance, I am sure most motorists will make themselves financially responsible. If they do, everybody will gain. The public will be afforded the fullest measure of protection. Motorists will be put to less inconvenience, and administrative expenses will be held to a minimum.

"I hope, therefore, that every motorist will make it a point to understand our motor vehicle safety responsibility law between now and October 1. Certainly we shall make it easy for them to do so. No sympathy will be wasted on those who do not, because as a rule they are the ones who get involved in accidents and fail to pay for the damage they have done. The quicker we get them off the road, the sooner the streets and highways will be safer for all of us, including the careful motorists who are in the majority."

ABRAMS DENIES ANY OIL CARTEL

Says Company Never Had Chance To See Government's Report

F. W. Abrams, chairman of the board of directors of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), issued the following statment in connection with the announcement by Senator Sparkman, chairman of the senate small business committee, that the federal trade commission oil report is to be released:

"Now that the decision has been made to release this report, at least we shall now have substance to deal with instead of the rumor and innuendo which apparently have deliberately been associated with the preparation and suppression of this so-called 'secret' report.

"This company has never had the opportunity to see the report or to comment in any way on its contents, either during its preparation or during its apparent widespread circulation in Washington circles. There is nothing in the advance stories by those who reputedly have seen it to suggest that the charges attributed to the report are any other than arbitrary interpretations aimed a distorting actions and circumstances which have in fact an entirely different and proper significance.

"I want to repeat categorically that Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) is not a party to any international oil cartel and in fact doubts that such a cartel exists, nor is it a party to any illegal arrangements of any kind anywhere in the world. Activities associated with our foreign investments in the Middle East have been undertaken openly and with the knowledge and the encouragement of every administration including the present one, for the last three decades. These investments have not only been of great value to the defense and prestige of our country, but have been a major factor in economic advancement of nations whose friendship and support our country has actively sought."

YOU'VE BEEN A NAUGHTY GIRL AND YOU HAVE TO BE PUNISHED

NOW, YOU'RE GOING TO SIT RIGHT THERE IN THAT CORNER UNTIL YOUR FATHER COMES HOME

CAN YOU COME OUT AND PLAY, COOKIE?

CAN YOU HELP ME OUT THE WINDOW?

WE WANT TO TRY OUT THE NEW WAGON ELMO MADE

SOUNDS LIKE FUN

MY TURN NEXT

WHEE

THE WHEEL CAME OFF

OH, MY DARLING LITTLE COOKIE.. ARE YOU HURT, DEAR?

DONT CRY, DARLING, AND DADDY WILL TAKE YOU TO THE STORE AND BUY YOU THAT BEAUTIFUL DOLL YOU WANT REALLY?

OH, THANK YOU, DADDY

NOW COME, DEAR, WE HAVE TO GO HOME -- OUR SUPPER WILL BE READY

WHY DO YOU INSIST ON GOING THRU THE WINDOW?

OH, JUST FOR A CHANGE

YOU CAN TELL COOKIE SHE MAY COME OUT OF THE CORNER NOW -- SHE'S BEEN A NAUGHTY GIRL

HELLO, DADDY

Copr. 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BEFORE I GO TO THE OFFICE -- I WONDER IF THERE IS ANYTHING THAT MAGGIE WANTED ME TO DO?

OH-OH - A PACKAGE! I CAN'T THINK OF ANYTHING SHE TOLD ME TO DO WITH THAT - MAYBE SHE WANTS ME TO TAKE IT NEXT DOOR -

DID MRS. JIGGS WANT THIS PACKAGE DELIVERED TO YOU?

NO-MY WIFE ISN'T UP YET-BUT I KNOW SHE IS GOING OVER LATER TO BORROW SOMETHING!!

WAS MRS. JIGGS SUPPOSED TO RETURN A PACKAGE HERE?

MRS. JIGGS HASN'T BEEN IN THIS STORE SINCE THE LAST BARGAIN SALE TWO MONTHS AGO - AND BESIDES - WE NEVER TAKE RETURNS -

NO - MRS. JIGGS QUIT DEALIN' WITH ME - SHE WANTED TWO DOLLARS WORTH OF STEAK - BUT I CAN'T CUT IT THAT THIN!

THEN YOU'RE SURE SHE DIDN'T WANT ANYTHING RETURNED?

HUH! IT'S A CINCH MAGGIE WOULDN'T LET ME GO IN THERE!

I GIVE UP - I'LL HAVE TO TAKE IT HOME AND ASK MAGGIE - AND TAKE THE CONSEQUENCES!

FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE - WHAT ARE YOU CARRYING THAT AROUND FOR? I WRAPPED UP THAT GARBAGE THIS MORNING FOR YOU TO PUT IN THE GARBAGE PAIL!!

SEE - WHAT CAUSED THAT RED LIGHT TO START FLASHING, SPUD?

I DON'T KNOW, TIM... MAYBE WE TURNED OR MOVED SOMETHING ON THE CONTROL BOARD BY ACCIDENT!

HE'D BETTER FIND OUT WHAT IT WAS AND TURN IT BACK TO ITS FORMER POSITION...

BUT WE MIGHT TURN THE WRONG CONTROL AND CAUSE SOMETHING TERRIBLE TO HAPPEN, MR. LUNDY!

WE MUST MAKE AN EFFORT TO FIND IT, TIM!

HERE, I'LL MOVE THIS ONE... NOPE, THAT ISN'T IT! THE RED LIGHT IS STILL FLASHING!

W-WE CAN'T SEEM TO FIND THE RIGHT CONTROL, SPUD!

I'M ALL MIXED UP! I'VE LOST TRACK OF WHAT WE'VE TURNED AND WHAT WE HAVEN'T!

LADS! PREPARE YOURSELVES FOR A SHOCK! LOOK WHAT'S COMING THROUGH THAT DOOR!

IT'S A ROBOT, AND IT'S COMING DIRECTLY TOWARD US!...

G-GOSH - THESE CONTROLS WE'VE BEEN TURNING MUST'VE STARTED IT WORKING!

KEEP OUT OF ITS WAY, BOYS! IT MAY STOP WHEN IT REACHES THE WALL!

YOU CAN BET I'LL KEEP AWAY FROM IT!

IT ACTS LIKE IT DOESN'T EVEN KNOW WE ARE HERE! LOOK, IT'S GOING TO PASS RIGHT BY ME!...

LOOK OUT, TIM!
